REDS DENOUNCE RIDGWAY'S STAND

Connally Warns U.S. 'Cannot Stand Alone'

Urges Senate To Approve Aid For Anti-Red Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Declaring that the United States "cannot stand alone in a hostile world," Sen Connally (D-Tex) asked the Senate today to vote $7,535,750,000 for the aid of the nations arrayed against communism.

The chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee said the huge program was designed to carry out a fundamental policy already approved by Congress.

"The policy to which I refer is that of strengthening the United States through strengthening our allies," he said. "It is the policy that recognizes that the United States cannot stand alone in a hostile world."

McFarland Urges Early Vote

"It is the policy that seeks to promote world peace through helping the free nations of the world make themselves so strong that no aggressor will dare to attack them."

Majority Leader McFarland (D-Ariz) called for a vote on the bill before the end of the week.

Sen. Moody (D-Mich), in another statement on the bill, described it as "to small and too slow."

"Every day we delay is a gamble with atomic catastrophe," he said.

A group of Democrats including Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), and Fulbright (Ark) intend to fight on the floor for restoration of $964,250,000 cut out of the program by the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Republicans To Seek Cut

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb), Senate minority leader, said Republicans would support the foreign aid program and help get it adopted this week. "But I'm going to try and cut some of those figures," he added. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), the GOP policy leader in the Senate, reported that Republicans would oppose any increase in foreign aid funds.

President Truman asked originally for $8,500,000,000. On Aug. 17 the House approved a $7,498,750,000 program, $37,000,000 less than the bill now before the Senate.

The Senate's version would authorize $6,013,000,000 for military assistance to friendly nations and $1,522,750,000 for economic aid. Most of the money would go toward building up the defenses of Western Europe.

Two Diplomats Located, London Paper Reports

Pair Disappeared Three Months Ago

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Daily Herald reported today the British Foreign Office has learned the whereabouts of two missing British diplomats, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess.

The paper, organ of the ruling Labor Party, said British secret service agents have located the two men after a three-month search of Western Europe.

American-born Mrs. Melinda MacLean, wife of one, has been vacationing on the French Riviera with her three children and has received a message from her husband, the Herald said.

The report appeared only in the Herald.

The paper, which has close government connections, said the Foreign Office probably would make no announcement until next week.

No one at the Foreign Office early today would comment on the Herald story.

MacLean, 38, was last seen in London when he left his job on May 25, a Friday evening. Due for a long weekend, he had three days to cover his tracks before his disappearance was discovered.

MacLean's non-appearance at his office at the start of the new week at first was attributed to the fact that his wife was expecting her third baby. It was not until she telephoned Monday night to inquire about him that an investigation was started.

Burgess, 40, was on leave at the time, his future in doubt because of his recall from his job with the British Embassy in Washington.

Then it was found that the two men had landed at St. Malo, France, without luggage and had hired a car that took them to Rennes, France.

Three telegrams were dispatched to their families from Paris and Rome, but the originals were not in MacLean's or Burgess' hand-writing.

23 Convicts Recaptured

U. S. Grand Jury Indicts Alleged Reds In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 29 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicated Hawaii Labor Leader Jack W. Hall and six other accused Communists on a charge of plotting to advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The indictment linked the seven with Communist Party headquarters in New York.

The grand jury unanimously requested Federal Judge Delbert E. Metzger, because of the "seriousness of the charges," to increase the $5,000 bail he set for each of the seven.

Acting U. S. Attorney Howard K. Hoddick promptly filed an affidavit requesting disqualification of Metzger "at the request of the U. S. attorney general."

Metzger, after the jury's request, raised bonds for each of the accused from $5,000 to $7,500.

He gave no explanation beyond saying the accused "now are under indictment."

Metzger yesterday slashed the bond for each from $75,000 fixed by the U. S. commissioner.

The grand jury's indictment cited by name William Z. Foster, Eugene Dennis and 11 other top American Communists as co-conspirators, but not co-defendants.

The seven alleged Communists were arrested by FBI agents yesterday in a dramatic dawn roundup.

Daniels Says Truman Will Run In 1952, Win Reelection

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — A prediction that President Truman will run for office again next year, and that he will be reelected by an even bigger majority than in 1948, came today from one of his close friends, a well known newspaper editor.

It was contained in an article in the American magazine, written by Jonathan Daniels.

Daniels is editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer. He is a member of the Democratic National Committee, and the author of a biography of Mr. Truman.

In the article, Daniels asserted that the President believes his policies are right. To put them into effect, therefore, Mr. Truman necessarily must be the Democratic candidate in 1952.

The editor based his prediction of reelection, in part, on "the terrific vote-getting quality of the man, particularly among the town and country people, the unorganized people, the people the politicians and the pollsters apparently did not know existed. Those people are still there. Truman knows they will elect him again."

He also wrote that efforts to discredit the present administration, on grounds of corruption in government, will not succeed. As for another revolt in the South, Daniels asserted "actually, there seems less and less chance of a recurrence in 1952 of the Dixiecrat revolt."

Curbs On Rubber May End Jan. 1, Companies Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The government today notified the nation's tire and rubber companies their demands for rubber may be met in full starting Jan. 1.

The National Production Authority said stepped-up production in the government's synthetic plants should permit rubber allocation "on the basis of need" in the first quarter of 1952.

Until then, rubber allotments for passenger car tires and most other civilian products will be based as now on 90 per cent of pre-Korea usage. For highly essential products, the limit is 100 per cent.

NPA also relaxed its rubber controls in six respects. These included elimination of the 30-day limit on tire and tube stocks in the hands of dealers, and removal of all controls on liquid natural rubber latex.

NPA officials told members of the Rubber Industry Advisory Committee, in a meeting today, that it anticipates the consumption of about 747,000 long tons of new rubber in the first half of 1952. This would be a record. It compares with 609,000 tons in the first half of this year and 1,258,557 in the previous peak year, 1950.

The improved supply may permit a sweeping change in control procedure. However, present restraints would be kept on natural rubber.

20 Sabrejets Tangle With 40 Red MIGs

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Forty Russian-built MIG jets fought a brief battle with 20 U. S. Sabrejets over North Korea Wednesday while Red groundtroops concentrated on the central front despite air and artillery attacks.

No damage was inflicted on either side in the air battle, but Allied planes killed or wounded an estimated 400 enemy troops in heavy strafing attacks.

Union Chiefs Refuse To End Copper Strike

WSB Tosses Issue Back To President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Union chiefs today refused to call of the nationwide copper strike and the Wage Stabilization Board late tonight tossed the critical dispute back to the White House.

Apparently the board, in emergency hearings today, found little hope of breaking the three-day-old strike which has halted most of the nation's production of copper, a critically-short defense material.

A spokesman said the board will transmit a report on its hearings to President Truman early tomorrow. Mr. Truman yesterday asked the board to try to solve the walkout.

The President may appoint a board of inquiry to report to him on the facts in the case, but such a board of inquiry would have no authority to actually propose a peace settlement. The strike could continue while the board investigated.

Truman Could Seize

Attorney General McGrath would have to wait until the board had investigated before he could seek a court injunction to end the walkout.

Another course open to the President, if he feels there is little hope of settlement and the walkout is creating a national emergency, would be outright government seizure of the mines and smelters.

Rejecting the government's back-to-work request, union leaders told the Wage Stabilization Board the strike will continue unless:

1. A negotiated contract settlement is reached.
2. The government seizes the vast mines, mills and smelters involved in the dispute.
3. Or a court injunction is issued against the work stoppage.

100,000 Workers Idle

The three-day-old strike, which President Truman said already "substantially threatens the progress of national defense," has idled 100,000 workers and crippled operations of scores of copper producers including the "big four"—Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, and the American Smelting and Refinery Co.

President John R. Clark and Vice President Orville Larson of the workers union set forth their demands as the federal wage board opened hearings at President Truman's request.

Six Cadets Have Been Reinstated, Bar Group Told

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—A lawyer told a bar association hearing today that at least six of approximately 90 accused cadets in the West Point cribbing scandal have been "restored to duty."

"I cannot figure out the restoration of these men except as a forerunner for the restoration of all these men," said Attorney Robert Daru.

He spoke at an open hearing conducted by the Committee on Justice of the New York Civil and Criminal Courts Bar Association.

The committee is investigating on its own initiative whether the ousted cadets were treated fairly in accordance with law—regardless of their guilt or innocence.

Cleared For Lack Of Evidence

At West Point, a Military Academy spokesman said that among the original 90 accused and an unspecified number of others whose names cropped up during screening board hearings "several" have been cleared for lack of evidence.

The spokesman said he was unable to supply an exact breakdown, but declared that none of the 82 cadets who have left the academy has been brought back and reinstated.

He said academy authorities took the position from the first announcement of the scandal that some of the accused cadets might be exonerated.

Investigation Not Completed

But he declared the investigation of the cribbing in classroom examinations had not been completed. Academy authorities, he said, could not give a breakdown until the screening boards completed their work.

He said that, of the 82 cadets who have left the academy, 73 have received administraive discharges. These are neither honorable nor dishonorable.

Oatis Case "Closed," Envoy Says

An interpreter (center) stands by with pained expression as Ambassador Vladimir Prochazka (right) makes fast replies to reporters' questions outside the State Department. Coming from a conference with Secretary of State Acheson yesterday, Prochazka said Czechoslovakia "will not yield to any propaganda or economic pressure" to free Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis from prison, and that the "case is closed."

New Czech Envoy Declares Oatis Case Is "Closed"

Says Prague Won't Yield To Pressure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, defiantly declared today his government "will not yield" to American economic political or "propaganda" pressure to free William N. Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press correspondent.

"The case is closed," he cried out to a group of milling reporters who surrounded and bombarded him with questions at the State Department.

Later the Czech Embassy telephoned the Associated Press to say that what Prochazka said was "from a juridical point of view the case is closed." A number of reporters said they did not hear the qualifying phrase, but added there was much confusion during the questioning.

Acheson Refuses Handshake

The newly-accredited Czech envoy had just listened to a demand by Secretary Acheson that Oatis and other Americans be freed from prison.

Refusing to shake hands, Acheson told him "tension will continue to mount" between the United tSates and Czechoslovakia until this problem is settled. The State Department has described Oatis' trial on espionage charges as a fraud.

Leaving Acheson's office, the bespectacled Prochazka and an aide ran into a stormy reception from about 50 reporters, Photographers and newsreel men gathered in the department's fifth floor reception room.

Obviously flustered by the barrage of questions, he nevertheless strongly defended his Communist government's action in jailing Oatis.

"We Will Not Yield"

"Mr. Oatis was tried by our court of justice and sentenced not because of his activities as a reporter," he said, "but for activities which transgressed those of a reporter."

Prochazka snapped "no comment" when asked if his remarks meant there is no chance of getting Oatis released from his Czech prison.

"In no instance either in the case of trade or propaganda pressures will we be influenced," he said. "We will not yield."

Later, in repeating his remarks, his aide, Jan Vinar of the Czech embassy, added "political" to the pressures Prochazka had in mind.

Sen. McCarran Fears "Big War" Is Closer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), leaving for the Japanese peace treaty conference, told the Senate today he fears "war—the big war—is getting closer rather than more remote."

He predicted the conference at San Francisco "will be just one more dirty round in a fight with Russia," and said "we have not invited Nationalist China for a frightening reason."

"The reason is that had Nationalist China been invited, Russia could have and would have wrecked the treaty," McCarran continued.

Inflation Reaches Brassiere Industry

NEW YORK, Au. 30 (INS)—Inflation set in on the lingerie level today, with the introduction of a new balloon-type brassiere.

The inflatable bra is a fool-proof "falsie" made of vinylite plastic.

A flat-chested femme need only don the bra, insert a small plastic tube into a valve at the top of each cup, and orally inflate each side to the contour she desires.

When the tube is removed, the valve automatically seals and the tube is set aside for future expansions. When the bra is removed, it can be deflated by re-inserting the tube and pressing the air-filled pockets together.

Tax Blow Aimed At Mutual Banks, Finance Firms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted today to impose regular corporation taxes on mutual savings banks and building and loan associations, and to tighten the tax treatment of co-operatives.

The estimated revenue gain was nearly $150,000,000.

The committee also voted to make the previously approved $2,280,000,000 increase in corporate tax rates effctive Jan. 1, 1951. The House set the same effective date for the $3,040,000,000 increase it voted on corporations.

There had been some pressure to pick a later date, more in line with the boosts in personal income levies which are not expected to take effect before Oct. 1.

Some 600 mutual savings banks, 5,980 building and loan associations and "thousands" of cooperative organizations are affected by today's decisions, staff experts said. Among cooperatives, the staff members said, the levies apply mainly to the larger organizations and leaves smaller farmer groups exempt.

Indian Soldier Denied Iowa Burial To Rest In Arlington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) —An American Indian killed in Korea, whose body was barred from burial in a Sioux City, Iowa, cemetery will rest among the nation's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery.

Through direct intervention of President Truman today, the Indian veteran of two American wars will be given a hero's burial.

Mr. Truman made the offer after reading of the Sioux City incident. The widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rice, Winnebago, Neb., promptly said she would be "very pleased" to accept the President's offer.

Her husband, U. S. Army Sgt. John R. Rice, 37, a Winnebago Indian, was killed in action in Korea.

Cemetery Issues Apology To Widow

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 29 (AP)—Memorial Park Cemetery late today issued an apology and an offer of a free lot to the widow of a Winnebago Indian killed in action in Korea whose interment was halted here yesterday.

Clem A. Evans, member of the city council, said he delivered a verbal apology to Mrs. John R. Rice at Winnebago, Neb., this afternoon at the request of J. M. Gunnell, secretary-treasurer of the private cemetery.

New Rules Make Thousands More Subject To Draft

Married Non-Fathers Will Become Eligible

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Thousands of draft-deferred men—including married non-fathers—will be liable for military service under new draft regulations now awaiting President Truman's signature.

Selective Service said today that the regulations, carrying out provisions of the new Military Training and Service Act, have been completed and sent to the White House and government agencies involved.

The act reduces the minimum draft age from 19 to 18½ years. The maximum draft age remains at 26.

Selective Service said that as soon as President Truman approves the new regulations, they will be printed and distributed to local draft boards to take effect as soon as possible.

500,000 In Class 3-A

The major change is in the nondeferment of childless married men.

On July 31, Selective Service had 500,000 childless husbands deferred in class 3-A. Although no longer deferred under the new law, about one-third of the 500,000 probably will fail to pass their physical examinations since the rejection rate has been around 36 per cent.

A number of others will gain deferment because their wives have become pregnant or because they are in essential service. Selective Service estimates that the number of married non-fathers who actually will become eligible for induction will be between 150,000 and 200,000.

Minimum Score Lowered

The new regulations also lower the minimum score for passing the armed forces induction mental tests from 70 to 65. An estimated 150,000 4-Fs thus may lose their deferment under the lower standards.

The new law also calls for classification of many thousands of displaced persons who have become permanent residents of this country while not yet holding U. S. citizenship.

About 9,000 conscientious objectors, heretofore deferred, will be required to do essential work — possibly at overseas posts—under the new law.

Peiping Radio Insists Allied Leader 'Lying'

Says Daylight Bomb Probe Not Refused

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Red China today angrily accused Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway of telling "plain lies" and of backing away from proof that a U. S. plane allegedly bombed the Korean truce city of Kaesong.

Twice this morning—at 9 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. (6 and 8:30 p. m. EST Wednesday)—the Peiping radio broadcast bitter tirades against the supreme Allied commander. It acknowledged the receipt of Ridgway's latest reply of Wednesday. But both broadcasts kept silent on Ridgway's offer to resume the Kaesong talks.

Instead the broadcasts centered their wrath on Ridgway's refusal for any further investigation of the bombing charges. At great length, the broadcasts sought to try the Red case over the air ways.

The Reds broke off the Kaesong talks Aug. 23, charging that a U. S. plane bombed the site the night before in a plot to "murder" the Red delegation.

Reds Deny Barring Probe

The crux of the case is just what was said shortly after midnight Aug. 22 when Red liaison officers hastily summoned Allied officers to Kaesong and first voiced the charge.

The Allies say the Reds presented flimsy evidence, then refused a request that a more thorough investigation be made the next day.

Today's Peiping broadcast denied this. They insisted the Reds were willing for an immediate dayside check. They insisted the Reds were willing to quote verbatim the conversation which transpired between the liaison officers that night.

It quoted Col. Chang Chun-Shan, Communist liaison officer, as saying in his latest statement:

"In spite of our repeated expressions of desire to carry out the investigation that day, the U. N. liaison officer said I refused the daylight investigation. That is a shameless lie.

"I not only did not refuse the investigation but also said that if reinvestigation is necessary, I welcomed his coming for the investigation and told him clearly he is welcome anytime."

First Probe Thorough

Ridgway, in his first official reply to the Red commanders, said there had been a thorough investigation which made it clear no Allied planes had bombed Kaesong.

Later when the Reds renewed demands for another investigation, Allied sources pointed out that sufficient time had elapsed for the Reds to have worked over their "evidence."

Wednesday Ridgway, in refusing to renew the investigation, said "it could serve no purpose other than to continue this unjustifiable delay in the armistice negotiations."

There was little expectation that the snarled cease-fire negotiations would be resumed on the basis of the Allied commander's latest note.

The general impression here was that the Reds would let the Kaesong conference simply drag along until the Soviet delegation has had its say at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco next week.

Man Captured After Killing Two

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29 (AP) — A young man shot two persons to death late today but was captured before he could carry out his announced intention of killing three others and committing suicide.

Police said the first victim was Alfredo Ortiz-Vargas, 54, assistant professor of foreign languages and literature at the University of Kansas City. He was killed in his eighth floor suite at the fashionable Twin Oaks Apartments at Fiftieth and Oak.

A 15-year-old girl, baby-sitting in an adjoining bedroom, gave police the name of the slayer, and his address.

Police went to the address, where they found the young man and the second victim, Mrs. William Lay, negro, who had been shot to death in her apartment at the same address.

Police said the young man was Donald Richardson, 29-year-old laundry operator.

Detective Marvin Crowley said Richardson calmly admitted the two slayings and told officers he intended to kill his mother-in-law, an aunt, and a son of Mrs. Lay before committing suicide.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas City, Richardson said Professor Vargas was a former business partner. He gave no reason immediately for the professor's slaying, Crowley said.

Daniels Says Truman Will Run In 1952, Win Reelection

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — A prediction that President Truman will run for office again next year, and that he will be reelected by an even bigger majority than in 1948, came today from one of his close friends, a well known newspaper editor.

It was contained in an article in the American magazine, written by Jonathan Daniels.

Daniels is editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer. He is a member of the Democratic National Committee, and the author of a biography of Mr. Truman.

In the article, Daniels asserted that the President believes his policies are right. To put them into effect, therefore, Mr. Truman necessarily must be the Democratic candidate in 1952.

The editor based his prediction of reelection, in part, on "the terrific vote-getting quality of the man, particularly among the town and country people, the unorganized people, the people the politicians and the pollsters apparently did not know existed. Those people are still there. Truman knows they will elect him again."

He also wrote that efforts to discredit the present administration, on grounds of corruption in government, will not succeed. As for another revolt in the South, Daniels asserted "actually, there seems less and less chance of a recurrence in 1952 of the Dixiecrat revolt."

Curbs On Rubber May End Jan. 1, Companies Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The government today notified the nation's tire and rubber companies their demands for rubber may be met in full starting Jan. 1.

The National Production Authority said stepped-up production in the government's synthetic plants should permit rubber allocation "on the basis of need" in the first quarter of 1952.

Until then, rubber allotments for passenger car tires and most other civilian products will be based as now on 90 per cent of pre-Korea usage. For highly essential products, the limit is 100 per cent.

NPA also relaxed its rubber controls in six respects. These included elimination of the 30-day limit on tire and tube stocks in the hands of dealers, and removal of all controls on liquid natural rubber latex.

NPA officials told members of the Rubber Industry Advisory Committee, in a meeting today, that it anticipates the consumption of about 747,000 long tons of new rubber in the first half of 1952. This would be a record. It compares with 609,000 tons in the first half of this year and 1,258,557 in the previous peak year, 1950.

The improved supply may permit a sweeping change in control procedure. However, present restraints would be kept on natural rubber.

20 Sabrejets Tangle With 40 Red MIGs

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Forty Russian-built MIG jets fought a brief battle with 20 U. S. Sabrejets over North Korea Wednesday while Red groundtroops concentrated on the central front despite air and artillery attacks.

No damage was inflicted on either side in the air battle, but Allied planes killed or wounded an estimated 400 enemy troops in heavy strafing attacks.

Union Chiefs Refuse To End Copper Strike

WSB Tosses Issue Back To President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Union chiefs today refused to call of the nationwide copper strike and the Wage Stabilization Board late tonight tossed the critical dispute back to the White House.

Apparently the board, in emergency hearings today, found little hope of breaking the three-day-old strike which has halted most of the nation's production of copper, a critically-short defense material.

A spokesman said the board will transmit a report on its hearings to President Truman early tomorrow. Mr. Truman yesterday asked the board to try to solve the walkout.

The President may appoint a board of inquiry to report to him on the facts in the case, but such a board of inquiry would have no authority to actually propose a peace settlement. The strike could continue while the board investigated.

Truman Could Seize

Attorney General McGrath would have to wait until the board had investigated before he could seek a court injunction to end the walkout.

Another course open to the President, if he feels there is little hope of settlement and the walkout is creating a national emergency, would be outright government seizure of the mines and smelters.

Rejecting the government's back-to-work request, union leaders told the Wage Stabilization Board the strike will continue unless:

1. A negotiated contract settlement is reached.
2. The government seizes the vast mines, mills and smelters involved in the dispute.
3. Or a court injunction is issued against the work stoppage.

100,000 Workers Idle

The three-day-old strike, which President Truman said already "substantially threatens the progress of national defense," has idled 100,000 workers and crippled operations of scores of copper producers including the "big four"—Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, and the American Smelting and Refinery Co.

President John R. Clark and Vice President Orville Larson of the workers union set forth their demands as the federal wage board opened hearings at President Truman's request.

Six Cadets Have Been Reinstated, Bar Group Told

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—A lawyer told a bar association hearing today that at least six of approximately 90 accused cadets in the West Point cribbing scandal have been "restored to duty."

"I cannot figure out the restoration of these men except as a forerunner for the restoration of all these men," said Attorney Robert Daru.

He spoke at an open hearing conducted by the Committee on Justice of the New York Civil and Criminal Courts Bar Association.

The committee is investigating on its own initiative whether the ousted cadets were treated fairly in accordance with law—regardless of their guilt or innocence.

Cleared For Lack Of Evidence

At West Point, a Military Academy spokesman said that among the original 90 accused and an unspecified number of others whose names cropped up during screening board hearings "several" have been cleared for lack of evidence.

The spokesman said he was unable to supply an exact breakdown, but declared that none of the 82 cadets who have left the academy has been brought back and reinstated.

He said academy authorities took the position from the first announcement of the scandal that some of the accused cadets might be exonerated.

Investigation Not Completed

But he declared the investigation of the cribbing in classroom examinations had not been completed. Academy authorities, he said, could not give a breakdown until the screening boards completed their work.

He said that, of the 82 cadets who have left the academy, 73 have received administraive discharges. These are neither honorable nor dishonorable.

Oatis Case "Closed," Envoy Says

An interpreter (center) stands by with pained expression as Ambassador Vladimir Prochazka (right) makes fast replies to reporters' questions outside the State Department. Coming from a conference with Secretary of State Acheson yesterday, Prochazka said Czechoslovakia "will not yield to any propaganda or economic pressure" to free Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis from prison, and that the "case is closed."

New Czech Envoy Declares Oatis Case Is "Closed"

Says Prague Won't Yield To Pressure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, defiantly declared today his government "will not yield" to American economic political or "propaganda" pressure to free William N. Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press correspondent.

"The case is closed," he cried out to a group of milling reporters who surrounded and bombarded him with questions at the State Department.

Later the Czech Embassy telephoned the Associated Press to say that what Prochazka said was "from a juridical point of view the case is closed." A number of reporters said they did not hear the qualifying phrase, but added there was much confusion during the questioning.

Acheson Refuses Handshake

The newly-accredited Czech envoy had just listened to a demand by Secretary Acheson that Oatis and other Americans be freed from prison.

Refusing to shake hands, Acheson told him "tension will continue to mount" between the United tSates and Czechoslovakia until this problem is settled. The State Department has described Oatis' trial on espionage charges as a fraud.

Leaving Acheson's office, the bespectacled Prochazka and an aide ran into a stormy reception from about 50 reporters, Photographers and newsreel men gathered in the department's fifth floor reception room.

Obviously flustered by the barrage of questions, he nevertheless strongly defended his Communist government's action in jailing Oatis.

"We Will Not Yield"

"Mr. Oatis was tried by our court of justice and sentenced not because of his activities as a reporter," he said, "but for activities which transgressed those of a reporter."

Prochazka snapped "no comment" when asked if his remarks meant there is no chance of getting Oatis released from his Czech prison.

"In no instance either in the case of trade or propaganda pressures will we be influenced," he said. "We will not yield."

Later, in repeating his remarks, his aide, Jan Vinar of the Czech embassy, added "political" to the pressures Prochazka had in mind.

Sen. McCarran Fears "Big War" Is Closer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), leaving for the Japanese peace treaty conference, told the Senate today he fears "war—the big war—is getting closer rather than more remote."

He predicted the conference at San Francisco "will be just one more dirty round in a fight with Russia," and said "we have not invited Nationalist China for a frightening reason."

"The reason is that had Nationalist China been invited, Russia could have and would have wrecked the treaty," McCarran continued.

Inflation Reaches Brassiere Industry

NEW YORK, Au. 30 (INS)—Inflation set in on the lingerie level today, with the introduction of a new balloon-type brassiere.

The inflatable bra is a fool-proof "falsie" made of vinylite plastic.

A flat-chested femme need only don the bra, insert a small plastic tube into a valve at the top of each cup, and orally inflate each side to the contour she desires.

When the tube is removed, the valve automatically seals and the tube is set aside for future expansions. When the bra is removed, it can be deflated by re-inserting the tube and pressing the air-filled pockets together.

Tax Blow Aimed At Mutual Banks, Finance Firms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted today to impose regular corporation taxes on mutual savings banks and building and loan associations, and to tighten the tax treatment of cooperatives.

The estimated revenue gain was nearly $150,000,000.

The committee also voted to make the previously approved $2,280,000,000 increase in corporate tax rates effctive Jan. 1, 1951. The House set the same effective date for the $3,040,000,000 increase it voted on corporations.

There had been some pressure to pick a later date, more in line with the boosts in personal income levies which are not expected to take effect before Oct. 1.

Some 600 mutual savings banks, 5,980 building and loan associations and "thousands" of cooperative organizations are affected by today's decisions, staff experts said. Among cooperatives, the staff members said, the levies apply mainly to the larger organizations and leaves smaller farmer groups exempt.

Indian Soldier Denied Iowa Burial To Rest In Arlington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) —An American Indian killed in Korea, whose body was barred from burial in a Sioux City, Iowa, cemetery will rest among the nation's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery.

Through direct intervention of President Truman today, the Indian veteran of two American wars will be given a hero's burial.

Mr. Truman made the offer after reading of the Sioux City incident. The widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rice, Winnebago, Neb., promptly said she would be "very pleased" to accept the President's offer.

Her husband, U. S. Army Sgt. John R. Rice, 37, a Winnebago Indian, was killed in action in Korea.

Cemetery Issues Apology To Widow

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 29 (AP)—Memorial Park Cemetery late today issued an apology and an offer of a free lot to the widow of a Winnebago Indian killed in action in Korea whose interment was halted here yesterday.

Clem A. Evans, member of the city council, said he delivered a verbal apology to Mrs. John R. Rice at Winnebago, Neb., this afternoon at the request of J. M. Gunnell, secretary-treasurer of the private cemetery.

New Rules Make Thousands More Subject To Draft

Married Non-Fathers Will Become Eligible

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Thousands of draft-deferred men—including married non-fathers—will be liable for military service under new draft regulations now awaiting President Truman's signature.

Selective Service said today that the regulations, carrying out provisions of the new Military Training and Service Act, have been completed and sent to the White House and government agencies involved.

The act reduces the minimum draft age from 19 to 18½ years. The maximum draft age remains at 26.

Selective Service said that as soon as President Truman approves the new regulations, they will be printed and distributed to local draft boards to take effect as soon as possible.

500,000 In Class 3-A

The major change is in the nondeferment of childless married men.

On July 31, Selective Service had 500,000 childless husbands deferred in class 3-A. Although no longer deferred under the new law, about one-third of the 500,000 probably will fail to pass their physical examinations since the rejection rate has been around 36 per cent.

A number of others will gain deferment because their wives have become pregnant or because they are in essential service. Selective Service estimates that the number of married non-fathers who actually will become eligible for induction will be between 150,000 and 200,000.

Minimum Score Lowered

The new regulations also lower the minimum score for passing the armed forces induction mental tests from 70 to 65. An estimated 150,000 4-Fs thus may lose their deferment under the lower standards.

The new law also calls for classification of many thousands of displaced persons who have become permanent residents of this country while not yet holding U. S. citizenship.

About 9,000 conscientious objectors, heretofore deferred, will be required to do essential work — possibly at overseas posts—under the new law.

Peiping Radio Insists Allied Leader 'Lying'

Says Daylight Bomb Probe Not Refused

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Red China today angrily accused Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway of telling "plain lies" and of backing away from proof that a U. S. plane allegedly bombed the Korean truce city of Kaesong.

Twice this morning—at 9 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. (6 and 8:30 p. m. EST Wednesday)—the Peiping radio broadcast bitter tirades against the supreme Allied commander. It acknowledged the receipt of Ridgway's latest reply of Wednesday. But both broadcasts kept silent on Ridgway's offer to resume the Kaesong talks.

Instead the broadcasts centered their wrath on Ridgway's refusal for any further investigation of the bombing charges. At great length, the broadcasts sought to try the Red case over the air ways.

The Reds broke off the Kaesong talks Aug. 23, charging that a U. S. plane bombed the site the night before in a plot to "murder" the Red delegation.

Reds Deny Barring Probe

The crux of the case is just what was said shortly after midnight Aug. 22 when Red liaison officers hastily summoned Allied officers to Kaesong and first voiced the charge.

The Allies say the Reds presented flimsy evidence, then refused a request that a more thorough investigation be made the next day.

Today's Peiping broadcast denied this. They insisted the Reds were willing for an immediate dayside check. They insisted the Reds were willing to quote verbatim the conversation which transpired between the liaison officers that night.

It quoted Col. Chang Chun-Shan, Communist liaison officer, as saying in his latest statement:

"In spite of our repeated expressions of desire to carry out the investigation that day, the U. N. liaison officer said I refused the daylight investigation. That is a shameless lie.

"I not only did not refuse the investigation but also said that if reinvestigation is necessary, I welcomed his coming for the investigation and told him clearly he is welcome anytime."

First Probe Thorough

Ridgway, in his first official reply to the Red commanders, said there had been a thorough investigation which made it clear no Allied planes had bombed Kaesong.

Later when the Reds renewed demands for another investigation, Allied sources pointed out that sufficient time had elapsed for the Reds to have worked over their "evidence."

Wednesday Ridgway, in refusing to renew the investigation, said "it could serve no purpose other than to continue this unjustifiable delay in the armistice negotiations."

There was little expectation that the snarled cease-fire negotiations would be resumed on the basis of the Allied commander's latest note.

The general impression here was that the Reds would let the Kaesong conference simply drag along until the Soviet delegation has had its say at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco next week.

Man Captured After Killing Two

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29 (AP) — A young man shot two persons to death late today but was captured before he could carry out his announced intention of killing three others and committing suicide.

Police said the first victim was Alfredo Ortiz-Vargas, 54, assistant professor of foreign languages and literature at the University of Kansas City. He was killed in his eighth floor suite at the fashionable Twin Oaks Apartments at Fiftieth and Oak.

A 15-year-old girl, baby-sitting in an adjoining bedroom, gave police the name of the slayer, and his address.

Police went to the address, where they found the young man and the second victim, Mrs. William Lay, negro, who had been shot to death in her apartment at the same address.

Police said the young man was Donald Richardson, 29-year-old laundry operator.

Detective Marvin Crowley said Richardson calmly admitted the two slayings and told officers he intended to kill his mother-in-law, an aunt, and a son of Mrs. Lay before committing suicide.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas City, Richardson said Professor Vargas was a former business partner. He gave no reason immediately for the professor's slaying, Crowley said.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

Aliens, many of them Communists and criminals, are entering this country illegally. Senator Pat McCarran, (D) of Nevada, chairman of the Senate Committee on Internal Security, in a report on August 20, said that aliens are constantly pouring into the United States illegally and it is possible that there are now 5 million within our borders. McCarran said that "militant Communists, Sicilian bandits and other criminals are among the 5 million" creating a situation "potentially more dangerous than an armed invasion." The Senator stated, "Unless we can round up this rabble and dam this contaminated stream, any nation with war-like intentions toward the United States could find a ready-made fifth column in its vanguard." Senator McCarran said that the Immigration Service of the Justice Department has made little effort to locate these foreigners and deport them.

Italy, a participant in the Marshall Plan, is still shipping war-potential goods to Russia. Official figures released in Rome on August 20 show that Italy sent shipments of more than $5 million in machinery and electrical equipment in the first four months of 1951.

The United Nations, as a whole, has sent to the Republic of Korea $366 million in the form of relief suplies, equipment and service since the beginning of the war. Of this sum, $350 million came from the taxpayers of the United States and $16 million from the taxpayers of all the other members of the United Nations.

In a Munitions Board report showing distribution of sub-contracts of 23 billion 19 million 995 thousand dollars of military work already contracted for, the State of Maryland has been allocated 478 million 165 thousand dollars.

A billion and a half dollars has been cut by both Houses from the 8½ billion dollars foreign aid program with most of the cut coming out of the economic aid. The House approved a separate agency plan to handle the funds outside the State Department by establishing a Mutual Security Agency as administrating authority. The Senate refused to adopt this idea and adopted a system which would give the Defense Department control of the military aid with ECA directing the economic aid until next July 1, when the ECA is scheduled to go out of existence. Point Four, assisting the world's undeveloped areas, would be left to the State Department. Both plans remove the State Department from full control of the program as a whole.

Although the new controls law has been in existence a little more than a month, the President is urging Congress to change it in a 2,500 word message sent from the White House.

Three Republican Senators, Ferguson of Michigan, Nixon of California and Welker of Idaho introduced legislation to give the President what he wants. Senator Ferguson charged there were political reasons behind the President's message and stated, "I think there is grave doubt the President really wants to hold down inflation.

UNDER THE DOME

Because the government has taken so much critical material for defense projects, I have been swamped by private agencies, such as churches, Y.M.C.A.s, etc., asking that priorities be given their applications for material. The handling and processing of these applications has taken a great deal of my time during the past week, together with the numerous letters received from wives and relatives of servicemen desiring discharges, and the personal problems of constituents to be taken up with the various government agencies.

Residents of Hinkle Road in Allegany County have contacted me relative to a rural mail route, and I have gotten in touch with the Post Office Department in their behalf.

On Thursday, August 23, I was the guest of the Montgomery County Agricultural Association at their annual county fair at Gaithersburg.

I delivered the address at the riding tournament at Marshall Hall, Charles County, on Wednesday, August 22.

Senators And The Treaty

The junket to San Francisco of many members of Congress—including nine senators and eight representatives among the 56-member official American delegation to the Japanese Treaty Conference—comes at a time when the Senate should be running at full steam to finish its schedule of "must" legislation by October 1.

The House is in recess until mid-September to allow the Senate to catch up. But to adjourn at the end of that month, the Senate should complete action on three major bills before the House returns. That would leave for the last half of September the military public works bill and other measures on the agenda, according to the schedule laid down by Senate Majority Leader McFarland (D., Ariz.).

The McFarland program calls for passage this week of the foreign aid bill (HR 5113). The next 10 days would then be devoted to the military budget (HR 5054) and the new tax bill (HR 4473).

The San Francisco conference was projected originally for five days. But with the announcement that Russia would send a delegation, doubt of so quick a termination began to arise. The State Department has stated flatly that Russia will not be allowed to hold up signature of the treaty. Nevertheless the senators at the conference may find themselves forced to stay on much longer than at first planned.

Senator Robertson (D., Va.) has pointed out that the San Francisco meeting is to be a conference on the signing, not the drafting, of the treaty. "Members of the Senate . . . cannot ratify a treaty in San Francisco. . . . They could not change anything in the treaty. All they could do would be to find out what is in the treaty, which, of course, they can find out just as well after the treaty has been signed." As far as seeing the treaty signed, Robertson suggested, they could stay in Washington and watch television.

Two members of the Senate—Connally (D., Tex.) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.)—had been members of the United States delegation to the 1945 United Nations Conference at San Francisco. So had two members of the House; Bloom (D., N.Y.) and Eaton (R., N.J.). Thus the way was eased for the completed charter when President Truman sent it to the Senate.

After four days of hearings, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee reported the resolution of ratification on July 16 and recommended approval of the charter without amendments or reservations. After only six days of debate, the Senate on July 28 voted ratification, 89 to 2.

The first two members of Congress to be appointed to negotiate a treaty—Sen. Bayard in 1813 and Speaker Clay as a member of the Treaty of Ghent Commission in 1814—resigned their places in Congress. The offices of treaty negotiator and national legislator, they stated, were not compatible.

On three occasions resolutions have been introduced in the Senate to prohibit members from serving as treaty negotiators. But in 1919 some senators deeply resented President Wilson's failure to include any member of that body on the American delegation to the Peace Conference at Versailles.

New Scientific Theory

B is for boy; B is for bald. G is for girl; G is for gout. And more than a coincidence is involved here, apparently.

This is not to say that boys are bald and girls have gout. Both afflictions, as a matter of fact, are rare in children of either sex and affect men more than women. But a scientist, Dr. Marianne E. Berstein of the Instituto de Statistiche in Rome, claims to have found a relation between them and the brand of children their victims father.

Bald men have more boys, men with gout have more girls, according to the "statistiche" compiled by the "instituto." Bald men, Dr. Bernstein explains, have a higher proportion than others of male hormones and a lower proportion of female—which seems reasonable enough, since more men than women go bald. For men with gout, just the opposite is true, she says.

Where does that leave the men who claim they aren't really bald but just have receding hairlines? Apparently they're out of luck. They don't qualify as more masculine, yet they aren't as pretty as a good head of hair would make them. They'll just have to take what consolation they can from the fact that they don't have gout, and let somebody else take the girls.

It's going to take more than statistics to make some skeptics believe all this, though. Dr. Bernstein also says that artists, actors, writers, teachers, and men in other introvert, retiring occupations—that these fellows aren't very masculine and cannot father as many boys as girls.

That seems to fit Eddie Cantor—but how about Bing Crosby? And what happens in the case of a bald writer, for instance? Did he miss his profession, or has he lost his hair by scratching his head?

Perhaps the whole thing is a cryptic attempt to undermine free enterprise. If people believed all this, how could toupee manufacturers stay in business?

Rest And Be Safe

Those whose vacation is still ahead of them, and others planning a long motor trip, are offered worthwhile advice by L. S. Harris, executive secretary of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, who has been making a study of automobile accidents that may be the fault of overtired drivers.

The advice is simple. Harris thinks a great many mishaps that occur on the roads are the result of fatigue. So he counsels rest. Regular rest periods are the best preventive, he says. A stop every so often for a cup of coffee will relax the tension as well as restore tired muscles—and drivers suffer more from nervous fatigue, he points out, than from physical exhaustion.

A great many motorists undoubtedly follow this prescription now. Truck drivers, who need to know what they're doing to get their cargoes to their destinations, are largely responsible for the eating places that have sprung up everywhere along the highways. People who are accompanied on trips often arrange to change places at the wheel every hour, or every 100 miles, so no one will get too tired. Long drivers may lay out some plan to break up the monotony of a long journey.

This is ordinary common sense. But more drivers ought to put it into effect. Perhaps one reason why they do not is that many deaths attributed to speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road, and failing to yield the right of way ought to be charged to overtiredness. That is apparently what Harris has in mind.

A vacation is supposed to be a rest. The vacationer who starts resting on his way to his destination is an intelligent man. He has a good chance to get there—and home again.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Discomfort From Food Allergy

Food allergy probably is the best example of the adage, "One man's meat is another man's poison." Any part of the meal, from soup to nuts, may cause trouble. For example, Judy can eat crabmeat by the pound, whereas her brother, Jackie, who is sensitive to this food, becomes ill after one mouthful of a salad containing this ingredient. Hives produced by strawberries, headache from chocolate, and wheezing after eating wheat are old stories.

This type of allergy may be so definite that no physician is needed to make the diagnosis. The opposite also is true; some medical men are so hipped on the subject they blame all symptoms on this cause. The puzzling factor about hives or eczema caused by food allergy is that these symptoms may not come on until several hours after eating, or the reaction may last for several days. The resistance of the individual varies so widely that on some days the offending item may be eaten with impunity. Furthermore, persons who are sensitive to raw milk often can take it boiled; others who cannot eat fresh strawberries or peaches may use the canned variety without discomfort.

The physician who specializes in allergy also must be a good cook, food processer, and botanist. Dr. Samuel Feinberg says that it does little good to know that sensitivity to eggs exists unless we realize that eggs are found in a variety of nutriments such as marshmallow, ice cream, and cake. The same can be said of onions, which are used in catsup, chili sauce, French dressing, and sauces. What is a constituent not only of white bread but also of rye, cakes, cookies, certain cereals, candy, pudding, and sausages. The lesson to be learned is that the sensitizing substances come in many disguises.

Botany enters the picture because allergy to one food may indicate that there is a sensitivity also to those related biologically. Thus allergy to orange juice usually means that grapefruit juice, lemonade, and lime juice will cause trouble. Potatoes, tomatoes, and green peppers are close kin but white and sweet potatoes are unrelated. Individuals who are unable to eat nuts often tolerate almonds, which belong to the family of plums, cherries, and peaches. A peanut is not a nut; it is a relative of the legumes such as peas. Wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn, and rice are members of the grass family, whereas buckwheat is first cousin to rhubarb. Cucumber, squash, cantaloupe, watermelon, and pumpkin are brothers under the skin and so are carrots, celery, dill, parsley, and caraway seeds.

Allergic symptoms vary considerably. Some sufferers encounter the old stand bys: Hives, eczema, abdominal pain, headache, sneezing, or wheezing. Occasionally enormous swellings disfigure the lips, face, and other parts of the body. Canker sores, indigestion, and anal irritation have been traced to wheat, chocolate, nuts, milk, and oysters. Digestive disturbances include heartburn, nausea, bloating, and a gnawing sensation in the stomach region. Allergic irritation of the intestine also may bring on diarrhea, constipation, abdominal cramping, or bowel tenderness. Another puzzling factor about food allergy is that symptoms can arise without eating, a few afflicted persons are disturbed even by the cooking odors of the offender.

TOMORROW: Sleep problems of young children.

SPASTIC COLON

J. W. writes: Does a spastic bowel cause constipation or diarrhea?

REPLY

Either, both, or neither. Most patients with this condition become constipated and the next largest group have alternating constipation and diarrhea. Many individuals with spastic bowel have one or more movements a day but the stool is of the constipated variety.

TAR IN SKIN

H. C. writes: Is it dangerous to wash tar off the skin with kerosene over a long period of time?

REPLY

To my knowledge, there is no harm in this practice although it might be a good idea to vary the type of solvent used in removing the tar.

ANKLE ULCER

V. B. writes: I have a varicose ulcer on the ankle and a rash that extends to the knee on that leg. I wear a bandage at all times but the sore does not heal. What else can I do?

REPLY

The Unna paste boot sometimes helps and the same can be said of medicated elastic bandages. The best plan is to take off a few weeks and remain in bed, as rest relieves congestion and improves the healing power of the tissues. Keeping the skin clean and the use of one of the antibiotics are additional measures.

SWEET GARGLE

W. N. writes: I was told to use warm water and sugar for gargling when I have a sore throat. Can you explain how this could be helpful?

REPLY

It isn't. The only benefit I can think of from this mixture is that it washes away the mucus that is clinging to the back of the throat. Salt is better for gargling—¼ teaspoonful to ½ glass of water.

SPINAL CURVATURE

G. L. writes: What is lordosis?

REPLY

A spinal curvature in which the bowing is toward the front. The abdomen protrudes and the gait is waddling. It usually is associated with some defect of the spine or legs. The name does not stem from the cocky appearance of the lords of bygone days but from a Greek word meaning "to bend back."

GORDON DEAN on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some Americans Misunderstand Motives Of Atomic Energy Program; Any Kind Of War Is Bad; Atomic Energy Promises A Better World

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Gordon Dean, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.)

WASHINGTON—The other day I received this letter from a lady who lives in a town where I spent a good share of my teen-age years:

"My Dear Mr. Dean:

"I see by the inclosed clipping that the United States is planning new a-bomb tests, and that the purpose is to see whether they have been made more deadly. I take it that, as in the past, the big aim is to scare the daylights out of Russia. She will, of course, go at it with a will, and try to outdo us in this devilish weapons-of-mass-destruction armaments race. Nice business!

"I should think that the terrible and disgraceful result of our little experiment with the a-bomb in Hiroshima and Nagasaki would make men, who call themselves Christian, confine their experiments with atomic energy to the wonderful things that can be done with it to improve life and industry—not destroy them.

"I remember your father here as a courageous and fine sermonizer, Mr. Dean. I think it is too bad for his son to concentrate on the murderous aspects of atomic energy."

This was a disturbing letter to receive, not because the lady is right—because she isn't—but rather because it shows that there are apparently honest, patriotic, thinking Americans who fear we are not justified in trying to maintain and increase our world leadership in the field of atomic energy.

I don't know how many people in the United States share the views of this lady. I hope there are not many, for they are just exactly the views the men in the Kremlin are asking the world to believe about us, and which they would dearly like to have us begin to believe about ourselves.

To hold the belief, even for a moment, that the Soviet leaders are in the atomic bomb business just because we are, is one of the worst possible mistakes we could make. These men do not do things because we have done something first to stimulate them. They do things because they believe their own interests are best served by doing them. And they do them as part of their master plan to ahcieve domination of the world. We did nothing to force them to blockade Berlin. We did nothing to force them to take over Czechoslovakia. We did nothing to force them to send the North Koreans to invade South Korea. And we have done nothing to force them to block almost every single effort in the United Nations to bring peace to the world—including the American-supported UN plan to place atomic energy under effective international control.

Even if we did not have a single atomic bomb, I am convinced that the Soviet leaders would be just as hard at work building atomic bombs of their own, and—if they knew we had none—there would be a much better chance than now exists that they would use such weapons against us. Our ever-growing stockpile of atomic weapons, far from being a stimulant to war, is actually the most important single safeguard against World War III.

Our bombs are for defense—of ourselves and our allies. They are not for the purpose of making aggressive war agaisnt anyone. We used the atomic bomb against the Japanese not to destroy lives, but to save lives—the lives of the hundreds of thousands of Americans and Japanese that inevitably would have been lost if World War II had continued.

I believe our national atomic energy policy is the only policy that this nation—upon whose position in the world the lives of millions upon millions of people depend—could follow and still be consistent with the Christian ideals and principles we try to live by. The American government could, of course, go to the men in the Kremlin and say:

"You have threatened us, so here are our atomic weapons: we are renouncing them and we are asking no guarantees in return. You are now free to deprive 150,000,000 Americans of the freedoms for which their forefathers fought so dearly. You are free to destroy their places of worship; to hurl them into slave labor camps and prisons, and to kill as many of them as you wish. Moreover, you are now free to take away the liberty of all the peoples of the world, not only in this generation, but forover."

To me, such a thing would be unthinkable, and most un-Christian-like.

It is war that is bad—not just atomic war. And it is the way atomic bombs are used that is bad—not the bombs themselves. Our bombs are to protect liberty and to prevent war until that day, which I sincerely hope will arrive, when the Soviet leaders provide some real evidence that they honestly want peace. And if war does come through Communist aggression they are the best means we have of saving the lives and liberties of those who would otherwise become communism's innocent victims.

We test atomic weapons because we must test them in our development program. We do not test them to scare anyone. They are actually evidences of the progress we are making, not only in weapons, but also in the manufacture of materials for peaceful use. We must remember that these materials we are now putting into weapons can, if never used as weapons, be easily converted for use in the production of power and the manufacture of radioactive substances for the benefit of man's health and welfare.

Atomic energy holds tremendous promise for a better life for all of us in the future, and we are advancing steadily toward greater realization of this promise. It is peculiarly fortunate, in my view, that atomic energy is also simultaneously providing the means by which we can preserve our lives, our freedom and our way of life until this promise is fulfilled.

My father, incidentally, was not only a great "sermonizer"; he was also a veteran of the Spanish American War and World War I, and is buried in Arlington Cemetery. He knew that aggressors are not deterred by weakness, and—as he did—I sincerely hope that, through strength, we may have fewer new graves there in the future.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Anyone who reads carefully the report just released by the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which held hearings in Paris recently can hardly foresee the return of General Eisenhower to civilian life for a long, long time to come.

So indispensable to the success of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the development of Allied unity as against possible Soviet attack is the Allied supreme commander that the mention of politics and the implications of controversy over domestic questions in connection with his name seem remote.

The very qualities, on the other hand, which are so conspicuously effective in untangling complex situations abroad and his inspirational capacity for leadership are the ones that make him seem so attractive as a future President of the United States.

Eisenhower Responsible

There isn't any doubt about it—the personality and tact of the general is the basic reason for whatever progress is being made toward European unity on the military side. It appears doubtful, indeed, whether a year from now the situation will have changed so materially as to permit General Eisenhower to leave his post to accept the presidential nomination of either party.

One argument advanced is that he need not engage in the campaign at all but can stay at his present job. This would not be in keeping with tradition, and yet unprecedented things have happened in recent years where the presidency is concerned. During World War II the third term precedent was broken and FDR was elected even to a fourth term.

If the crisis in Europe appears to be in 1952 what it is now—and if, indeed, it is aggravated by Russia's hostile behavior—the chances are that General Eisenhower would feel inclined to say not only that he could not accept the nomination but that he would not serve if elected. If he wishes to put all political crowns aside, that's the only type of statement which would end the use of his name.

On this side of the Atlantic, there are two groups interested in the future of Eisenhower as a candidate. The Taft group doesn't want the general to run and would be pleased if the turn of fate kept him at his present post. The pro-Eisenhower group is not dismayed by the arguments about the importance of the general's present duties. They say that from the White House he could be even more helpful in developing Allied solidarity and that this same versatile personality would be at work on the home front removing friction and furnishing the leadership for domestic unity.

Despair Much Worse

Certainly the Eisenhower achievements abroad to date have been credited to his drive and his enthusiasm. The senators who went to see him raised that very point. One of them—Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat—minced no words as he pointed out to the general that too much was dependent on one man's personality and that the situation ought to be such that the leadership of one man wouldn't make such a difference.

General Eisenhower's comment was interesting—he didn't see what else could be done at the moment but to try to bring harmony and maintain a solid front toward communism. His favorite reply to all the doubts expressed as to the efficacy of the cooperation being given us by other nations is that the alternative—despair—is much worse.

On the whole, the frequent use of General Eisenhower's name for political discussion is one of the strangest phenomena of our times. He is obviously presidential calibre—he is popular and he is able and he has a rare faculty for being able to reconcile differences of opinion among those with whom he has to deal. But it may be so important for him to stay in Europe that his return to engage in a political campaign would in itself be hurtful to his possible candidacy. It's a strange paradox.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Clangorous Abyss

WASHINGTON

Anxiety about the future in Korea is bringing on a bad attack of nerves in the government. As recently reported in this space, the American policy makers have little hope of a Korean cease-fire until after the San Francisco conference on the Japanese peace treaty. But the question now being asked is whether, even after San Francisco, a cease-fire can be arranged.

We shall not buy a Korean truce by abandoning the project for a Japanese treaty. We shall not yield to the new Soviet blackmail. Will the masters of the Kremlin then order the cease-fire talks to be renewed in earnest, or will they order a renewal of the war?

The most careful inquiries reveal a wide but depressing range of official and expert opinion on this crucial point. To begin at the dark end of the spectrum, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has lately sent the opinion from Tokyo that the whole cease-fire project was probably a blind from the start, and that we must now be prepared for an eventual full scale renewal of the Korean fighting. A middle group here merely states that the odds against a final cease-fire are heavy, and are increasing. And the comparative optimists call it "still an even bet."

Since this is the present range of official and expert opinion, it is certainly time to think about what will happen if the tragi-comedy of Kaesong suddenly merges into a new Communist offensive—which may, indeed, happen tomorrow.

Enemy Benefitted

On the one hand, the long lull of the cease-fire talks has benefitted the enemy far more than most people realize. Quantities of new heavy equipment, including considerable artillery and about 600 tanks, have been brought into the war zone. The depleted Chinese and North Korean units have been filled up, so that the enemy is now estimated to have about 500,000 men in Korea, with 400,000 in striking positions between the 39th Parallel and the front. The buildup of air strength, which had reached 1,000 planes in Manchuria two months ago, has continued slowly.

Above all, every kind of supply dump has been piled up. Therefore, instead of being able to sustain an attack for only a few days, the Chinese and North Koreans are now considered able to continue on the offensive for a much longer period. It is even calculated that every added day of lull, in which the enemy's supply dumps are not depleted by heavy fighting, adds another day to the period during which an offensive effort can be maintained in the future.

Thus the enemy in Korea is much stronger now than he was. On the other hand, so are we. Our forces dug in at Chorwon and Kumwha occupy incomparably the best defensive position they have ever held in Korea. They have had time to strengthen their hold on the Iron Triangle by every device of the military art, so that they can be sure of taking a fearful toll of the attacking enemy. For the first time they have their full complement of weapons and equipment of all kinds. And for the first time, the divisions and regiments are more than up to strength, with substantial reserves of manpower.

Balancing the enemy's gains of strength against our gains, the authorities here now share the same sober confidence in our forces' power to hurl back a Communist offensive that has already been expressed by Gen. Ridgway and Gen. Van Fleet. There is only one point of immediate concern. Since the UN armies in Korea have had no real seasoning experience with hostile air, severe temporary setbacks may ensue if the enemy brings his full air strength into the battle.

All-Out War Possible

This singe point of immediate concern in turn symbolizes the very deep and anxious concern that is universally felt about the long range results of a serious renewal of the Korean fighting. For if the enemy air enters the battle, the question of retaliatory air attacks on the enemy bases in Manchuria will be inescapably raised at once. And even if the fighting follows the old pattern, the letdown and deception of the false cease-fire negotiations will still give rise to the strongest pressure to widen the war. In short if it begins again all-out, the Korean War can hardly go on forever as a limited war. It must someday burst its precarious bounds, and become a much larger and more terrible conflagration.

These grim truths are of course the best arguments for optimism about an eventual cease-fire agreement. If the enemy both understands these truths and does not want a wider war, he too must desire a final cease-fire in Korea. But these same truths also indicate the peril of the present moment. We are travelling a narrow ledge, skirting a clangorous abyss and we had better realize that this is our situation, in order to avoid mis-steps.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

God's Footstool

In 1947, Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of faculty of the Union Theological Seminary, could write in his book, "World Christianity":

"This 'rediscovery of the church' is a by-product of the Second World War. It is important to recognize that there has been no direct causal connection. Obviously, the churches did not cause the war; they had little direct effect upon its outcome. In the main, the war has wrought little noteworthy change in the life or strength of the Christian churches . . ."

In 1951, this is no longer true in many parts of the world. In this same book, Dr. Van Dusen writes of missionary work in such countries as China where during the past two years Christianity has been stomped beneath the hooves of anti-Christian mobs.

We need, I am sure, to think of the battle against the religions of God in all the countries that are controlled from the Kremlin not in terms of Jews or Roman Catholics or Protestants, but as people of the book, sons of God in an identical civilization. While maintaining our differences, we need to recognize that we are faced by the same enemy who hates us all. Perhaps that hatred will give us the wisdom to unite, not in dogma and ritual, but in the spirit of God.

This is becoming increasingly important as the enemy fights with every weapon, particularly by using the power of the state to corrupt young children. He rears them in schools where they are separated from all the treasures of human history and thought. They grow believing only what they are permitted to hear and see and they are blind to all the great forces that rescued man from slavery and brought him within the scope of social justice.

The real danger is not the present adult generation, for they have memories of church and synagogue, the joy of prayer, the sense of mercy, the richness of true humility in the presence of God. They recall the beauty of Easter, the cleansing sense of Passover, the joy of Christmas, the piety of Yom Kippur.

It is the young in the Marxist countries who will never even have heard of the relationship of man to God, who will never have been in a house of worship, who will never have known of a religion of love.

They carry ikons of Stalin and Mao and such creatures. They march behind these ikons. These are their gods.

We saw the photographs of the youth festival in East Germany. There were the ikons, huge photographs of the masters of men, uninspired, monstrous photographs! These ikons are like the idols one sees in the temples of profane religions, vulgar, ugly idols.

In this century the young minds of boys and girls can be corrupted into receiving these blown-up photographs as the symbols of, shall we say, power, or is it, fear!

These young people will present to the next generations sick minds because their physical nature will never have been softened by the leavening, pacifying influence of religion, of God's love. They will know only that struggle begets struggle, that power comes to him who takes it, that man is but a creature like all else in nature, an all-purpose mammal that can talk.

For those who believe in God this is a responsibility that all must face in this age. Here in our country we quarrel among ourselves over small matters while the enemy destroys our world.

For this is true: our civilization is deeply rooted in the Old and New Testaments, in the Bible of both the Jews and the Christians. Without this foundation, all that we believe to be true must wither and die. Already, in countries of which Dr. Van Dusen wrote in his book only four years ago, we witness the resurgence of brutality, the torture of decent people for their ideas their beliefs, their faith.

Already we are being faced by the corruption of our own children under our very eyes by so-called scientific methods which teach them that every concept that built their world of liberty is superstition. Even our political system blossoms on the stem of the Declaration of Independence, which in its preamble makes clear that those inalienable rights which our young people are taught to cherish as the Bill of Rights emanate from nature's God and nature's law.

This is our foundation and we must protect it or our world becomes like the sand of the desert, blinding the spirit, fruitless and unproductive.

Senators And The Treaty

The junket to San Francisco of many members of Congress—including nine senators and eight representatives among the 56-member official American delegation to the Japanese Treaty Conference—comes at a time when the Senate should be running at full steam to finish its schedule of "must" legislation by October 1.

The House is in recess until mid-September to allow the Senate to catch up. But to adjourn at the end of that month, the Senate should complete action on three major bills before the House returns. That would leave for the last half of September the military public works bill and other measures on the agenda, according to the schedule laid down by Senate Majority Leader McFarland (D., Ariz.).

The McFarland program calls for passage this week of the foreign aid bill (HR 5113). The next 10 days would then be devoted to the military budget (HR 5054) and the new tax bill (HR 4473).

The San Francisco conference was projected originally for five days. But with the announcement that Russia would send a delegation, doubt of so quick a termination began to arise. The State Department has stated flatly that Russia will not be allowed to hold up signature of the treaty. Nevertheless the senators at the conference may find themselves forced to stay on much longer than at first planned.

Senator Robertson (D., Va.) has pointed out that the San Francisco meeting is to be a conference on the signing, not the drafting, of the treaty. "Members of the Senate . . . cannot ratify a treaty in San Francisco. . . . They could not change anything in the treaty. All they could do would be to find out what is in the treaty, which, of course, they can find out just as well after the treaty has been signed." As far as seeing the treaty signed, Robertson suggested, they could stay in Washington and watch television.

Two members of the Senate—Connally (D., Tex.) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.)—had been members of the United States delegation to the 1945 United Nations Conference at San Francisco. So had two members of the House; Bloom (D., N.Y.) and Eaton (R., N.J.). Thus the way was eased for the completed charter when President Truman sent it to the Senate.

After four days of hearings, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee reported the resolution of ratification on July 16 and recommended approval of the charter without amendments or reservations. After only six days of debate, the Senate on July 28 voted ratification, 89 to 2.

The first two members of Congress to be appointed to negotiate a treaty—Sen. Bayard in 1813 and Speaker Clay as a member of the Treaty of Ghent Commission in 1814—resigned their places in Congress. The offices of treaty negotiator and national legislator, they stated, were not compatible.

On three occasions resolutions have been introduced in the Senate to prohibit members from serving as treaty negotiators. But in 1919 some senators deeply resented President Wilson's failure to include any member of that body on the American delegation to the Peace Conference at Versailles.

New Scientific Theory

B is for boy; B is for bald. G is for girl; G is for gout. And more than a coincidence is involved here, apparently.

This is not to say that boys are bald and girls have gout. Both afflictions, as a matter of fact, are rare in children of either sex and affect men more than women. But a scientist, Dr. Marianne E. Berstein of the Instituto de Statistiche in Rome, claims to have found a relation between them and the brand of children their victims father.

Bald men have more boys, men with gout have more girls, according to the "statistiche" compiled by the "instituto." Bald men, Dr. Bernstein explains, have a higher proportion than others of male hormones and a lower proportion of female—which seems reasonable enough, since more men than women go bald. For men with gout, just the opposite is true, she says.

Where does that leave the men who claim they aren't really bald but just have receding hairlines? Apparently they're out of luck. They don't qualify as more masculine, yet they aren't as pretty as a good head of hair would make them. They'll just have to take what consolation they can from the fact that they don't have gout, and let somebody else take the girls.

It's going to take more than statistics to make some skeptics believe all this, though. Dr. Bernstein also says that artists, actors, writers, teachers, and men in other introvert, retiring occupations—that these fellows aren't very masculine and cannot father as many boys as girls.

That seems to fit Eddie Cantor—but how about Bing Crosby? And what happens in the case of a bald writer, for instance? Did he miss his profession, or has he lost his hair by scratching his head?

Perhaps the whole thing is a cryptic attempt to undermine free enterprise. If people believed all this, how could toupee manufacturers stay in business?

Rest And Be Safe

Those whose vacation is still ahead of them, and others planning a long motor trip, are offered worthwhile advice by L. S. Harris, executive secretary of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, who has been making a study of automobile accidents that may be the fault of overtired drivers.

The advice is simple. Harris thinks a great many mishaps that occur on the roads are the result of fatigue. So he counsels rest. Regular rest periods are the best preventive, he says. A stop every so often for a cup of coffee will relax the tension as well as restore tired muscles—and drivers suffer more from nervous fatigue, he points out, than from physical exhaustion.

A great many motorists undoubtedly follow this prescription now. Truck drivers, who need to know what they're doing to get their cargoes to their destinations, are largely responsible for the eating places that have sprung up everywhere along the highways. People who are accompanied on trips often arrange to change places at the wheel every hour, or every 100 miles, so no one will get too tired. Long drivers may lay out some plan to break up the monotony of a long journey.

This is ordinary common sense. But more drivers ought to put it into effect. Perhaps one reason why they do not is that many deaths attributed to speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road, and failing to yield the right of way ought to be charged to overtiredness. That is apparently what Harris has in mind.

A vacation is supposed to be a rest. The vacationer who starts resting on his way to his destination is an intelligent man. He has a good chance to get there—and home again.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Discomfort From Food Allergy

Food allergy probably is the best example of the adage, "One man's meat is another man's poison." Any part of the meal, from soup to nuts, may cause trouble. For example, Judy can eat crabmeat by the pound, whereas her brother, Jackie, who is sensitive to this food, becomes ill after one mouthful of a salad containing this ingredient. Hives produced by strawberries, headache from chocolate, and wheezing after eating wheat are old stories.

This type of allergy may be so definite that no physician is needed to make the diagnosis. The opposite also is true; some medical men are so hipped on the subject they blame all symptoms on this cause. The puzzling factor about hives or eczema caused by food allergy is that these symptoms may not come on until several hours after eating, or the reaction may last for several days. The resistance of the individual varies so widely that on some days the offending item may be eaten with impunity. Furthermore, persons who are sensitive to raw milk often can take it boiled; others who cannot eat fresh strawberries or peaches may use the canned variety without discomfort.

The physician who specializes in allergy also must be a good cook, food processer, and botanist. Dr. Samuel Feinberg says that it does little good to know that sensitivity to eggs exists unless we realize that eggs are found in a variety of nutriments such as marshmallow, ice cream, and cake. The same can be said of onions, which are used in catsup, chili sauce, French dressing, and sauces. What is a constituent not only of white bread but also of rye, cakes, cookies, certain cereals, candy, pudding, and sausages. The lesson to be learned is that the sensitizing substances come in many disguises.

Botany enters the picture because allergy to one food may indicate that there is a sensitivity also to those related biologically. Thus allergy to orange juice usually means that grapefruit juice, lemonade, and lime juice will cause trouble. Potatoes, tomatoes, and green peppers are close kin but white and sweet potatoes are unrelated. Individuals who are unable to eat nuts often tolerate almonds, which belong to the family of plums, cherries, and peaches. A peanut is not a nut; it is a relative of the legumes such as peas. Wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn, and rice are members of the grass family, whereas buckwheat is first cousin to rhubarb. Cucumber, squash, cantaloupe, watermelon, and pumpkin are brothers under the skin and so are carrots, celery, dill, parsley, and caraway seeds.

Allergic symptoms vary considerably. Some sufferers encounter the old stand bys: Hives, eczema, abdominal pain, headache, sneezing, or wheezing. Occasionally enormous swellings disfigure the lips, face, and other parts of the body. Canker sores, indigestion, and anal irritation have been traced to wheat, chocolate, nuts, milk, and oysters. Digestive disturbances include heartburn, nausea, bloating, and a gnawing sensation in the stomach region. Allergic irritation of the intestine also may bring on diarrhea, constipation, abdominal cramping, or bowel tenderness. Another puzzling factor about food allergy is that symptoms can arise without eating, a few afflicted persons are disturbed even by the cooking odors of the offender.

TOMORROW: Sleep problems of young children.

SPASTIC COLON

J. W. writes: Does a spastic bowel cause constipation or diarrhea?

REPLY

Either, both, or neither. Most patients with this condition become constipated and the next largest group have alternating constipation and diarrhea. Many individuals with spastic bowel have one or more movements a day but the stool is of the constipated variety.

TAR IN SKIN

H. C. writes: Is it dangerous to wash tar off the skin with kerosene over a long period of time?

REPLY

To my knowledge, there is no harm in this practice although it might be a good idea to vary the type of solvent used in removing the tar.

ANKLE ULCER

V. B. writes: I have a varicose ulcer on the ankle and a rash that extends to the knee on that leg. I wear a bandage at all times but the sore does not heal. What else can I do?

REPLY

The Unna paste boot sometimes helps and the same can be said of medicated elastic bandages. The best plan is to take off a few weeks and remain in bed, as rest relieves congestion and improves the healing power of the tissues. Keeping the skin clean and the use of one of the antibiotics are additional measures.

SWEET GARGLE

W. N. writes: I was told to use warm water and sugar for gargling when I have a sore throat. Can you explain how this could be helpful?

REPLY

It isn't. The only benefit I can think of from this mixture is that it washes away the mucus that is clinging to the back of the throat. Salt is better for gargling—¼ teaspoonful to ½ glass of water.

SPINAL CURVATURE

G. L. writes: What is lordosis?

REPLY

A spinal curvature in which the bowing is toward the front. The abdomen protrudes and the gait is waddling. It usually is associated with some defect of the spine or legs. The name does not stem from the cocky appearance of the lords of bygone days but from a Greek word meaning "to bend back."

GORDON DEAN on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some Americans Misunderstand Motives Of Atomic Energy Program; Any Kind Of War Is Bad; Atomic Energy Promises A Better World

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Gordon Dean, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.)

WASHINGTON—The other day I received this letter from a lady who lives in a town where I spent a good share of my teen-age years:

"My Dear Mr. Dean:

"I see by the inclosed clipping that the United States is planning new a-bomb tests, and that the purpose is to see whether they have been made more deadly. I take it that, as in the past, the big aim is to scare the daylights out of Russia. She will, of course, go at it with a will, and try to outdo us in this devilish weapons-of-mass-destruction armaments race. Nice business!

"I should think that the terrible and disgraceful result of our little experiment with the a-bomb in Hiroshima and Nagasaki would make men, who call themselves Christian, confine their experiments with atomic energy to the wonderful things that can be done with it to improve life and industry—not destroy them.

"I remember your father here as a courageous and fine sermonizer, Mr. Dean. I think it is too bad for his son to concentrate on the murderous aspects of atomic energy."

This was a disturbing letter to receive, not because the lady is right—because she isn't—but rather because it shows that there are apparently honest, patriotic, thinking Americans who fear we are not justified in trying to maintain and increase our world leadership in the field of atomic energy.

I don't know how many people in the United States share the views of this lady. I hope there are not many, for they are just exactly the views the men in the Kremlin are asking the world to believe about us, and which they would dearly like to have us begin to believe about ourselves.

To hold the belief, even for a moment, that the Soviet leaders are in the atomic bomb business just because we are, is one of the worst possible mistakes we could make. These men do not do things because we have done something first to stimulate them. They do things because they believe their own interests are best served by doing them. And they do them as part of their master plan to ahcieve domination of the world. We did nothing to force them to blockade Berlin. We did nothing to force them to take over Czechoslovakia. We did nothing to force them to send the North Koreans to invade South Korea. And we have done nothing to force them to block almost every single effort in the United Nations to bring peace to the world—including the American-supported UN plan to place atomic energy under effective international control.

Even if we did not have a single atomic bomb, I am convinced that the Soviet leaders would be just as hard at work building atomic bombs of their own, and—if they knew we had none—there would be a much better chance than now exists that they would use such weapons against us. Our ever-growing stockpile of atomic weapons, far from being a stimulant to war, is actually the most important single safeguard against World War III.

Our bombs are for defense—of ourselves and our allies. They are not for the purpose of making aggressive war agaisnt anyone. We used the atomic bomb against the Japanese not to destroy lives, but to save lives—the lives of the hundreds of thousands of Americans and Japanese that inevitably would have been lost if World War II had continued.

I believe our national atomic energy policy is the only policy that this nation—upon whose position in the world the lives of millions upon millions of people depend—could follow and still be consistent with the Christian ideals and principles we try to live by. The American government could, of course, go to the men in the Kremlin and say:

"You have threatened us, so here are our atomic weapons; we are renouncing them and we are asking no guarantees in return. You are now free to deprive 150,000,000 Americans of the freedoms for which their forefathers fought so dearly. You are free to destroy their places of worship; to hurl them into slave labor camps and prisons, and to kill as many of them as you wish. Moreover, you are now free to take away the liberty of all the peoples of the world, not only in this generation, but forover."

To me, such a thing would be unthinkable, and most un-Christian-like.

It is war that is bad—not just atomic war. And it is the way atomic bombs are used that is bad—not the bombs themselves. Our bombs are to protect liberty and to prevent war until that day, which I sincerely hope will arrive, when the Soviet leaders provide some real evidence that they honestly want peace. And if war does come through Communist aggression they are the best means we have of saving the lives and liberties of those who would otherwise become communism's innocent victims.

We test atomic weapons because we must test them in our development program. We do not test them to scare anyone. They are actually evidences of the progress we are making, not only in weapons, but also in the manufacture of materials for peaceful use. We must remember that these materials we are now putting into weapons can, if never used as weapons, be easily converted for use in the production of power and the manufacture of radioactive substances for the benefit of man's health and welfare.

Atomic energy holds tremendous promise for a better life for all of us in the future, and we are advancing steadily toward greater realization of this promise. It is peculiarly fortunate, in my view, that atomic energy is also simultaneously providing the means by which we can preserve our lives, our freedom and our way of life until this promise is fulfilled.

My father, incidentally, was not only a great "sermonizer"; he was also a veteran of the Spanish American War and World War I, and is buried in Arlington Cemetery. He knew that aggressors are not deterred by weakness, and—as he did—I sincerely hope that, through strength, we may have fewer new graves there in the future.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Anyone who reads carefully the report just released by the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which held hearings in Paris recently can hardly foresee the return of General Eisenhower to civilian life for a long, long time to come.

So indispensable to the success of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the development of Allied unity as against possible Soviet attack is the Allied supreme commander that the mention of politics and the implications of controversy over domestic questions in connection with his name seem remote.

The very qualities, on the other hand, which are so conspicuously effective in untangling complex situations abroad and his inspirational capacity for leadership are the ones that make him seem so attractive as a future President of the United States.

Eisenhower Responsible

There isn't any doubt about it—the personality and tact of the general is the basic reason for whatever progress is being made toward European unity on the military side. It appears doubtful, indeed, whether a year from now the situation will have changed so materially as to permit General Eisenhower to leave his post to accept the presidential nomination of either party.

One argument advanced is that he need not engage in the campaign at all but can stay at his present job. This would not be in keeping with tradition, and yet unprecedented things have happened in recent years where the presidency is concerned. During World War II the third term precedent was broken and FDR was elected even to a fourth term.

If the crisis in Europe appears to be in 1952 what it is now—and if, indeed, it is aggravated by Russia's hostile behavior—the chances are that General Eisenhower would feel inclined to say not only that he could not accept the nomination but that he would not serve if elected. If he wishes to put all political crowns aside, that's the only type of statement which would end the use of his name.

On this side of the Atlantic, there are two groups interested in the future of Eisenhower as a candidate. The Taft group doesn't want the general to run and would be pleased if the turn of fate kept him at his present post. The pro-Eisenhower group is not dismayed by the arguments about the importance of the general's present duties. They say that from the White House he could be even more helpful in developing Allied solidarity and that this same versatile personality would be at work on the home front removing friction and furnishing the leadership for domestic unity.

Despair Much Worse

Certainly the Eisenhower achievements abroad to date have been credited to his drive and his enthusiasm. The senators who went to see him raised that very point. One of them—Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat—minced no words as he pointed out to the general that too much was dependent on one man's personality and that the situation ought to be such that the leadership of one man wouldn't make such a difference.

General Eisenhower's comment was interesting—he didn't see what else could be done at the moment but to try to bring harmony and maintain a solid front toward communism. His favorite reply to all the doubts expressed as to the efficacy of the cooperation being given us by other nations is that the alternative—despair—is much worse.

On the whole, the frequent use of General Eisenhower's name for political discussion is one of the strangest phenomena of our times. He is obviously presidential calibre—he is popular and he is able and he has a rare faculty for being able to reconcile differences of opinion among those with whom he has to deal. But it may be so important for him to stay in Europe that his return to engage in a political campaign would in itself be hurtful to his possible candidacy. It's a strange paradox.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSO

The Clangorous Abyss

WASHINGTON

Anxiety about the future in Korea is bringing on a bad attack of nerves in the government. As recently reported in this space, the American policy makers have little hope of a Korean cease-fire until after the San Francisco conference on the Japanese peace treaty. But the question now being asked is whether, even after San Francisco, a cease-fire can be arranged.

We shall not buy a Korean truce by abandoning the project for a Japanese treaty. We shall not yield to the new Soviet blackmail. Will the masters of the Kremlin then order the cease-fire talks to be renewed in earnest, or will they order a renewal of the war?

The most careful inquiries reveal a wide but depressing range of official and expert opinion on this crucial point. To begin at the dark end of the spectrum, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has lately sent the opinion from Tokyo that the whole cease-fire project was probably a blind from the start, and that we must now be prepared for an eventual full scale renewal of the Korean fighting. A middle group here merely states that the odds against a final cease-fire are heavy, and are increasing. And the comparative optimists call it "still an even bet."

Since this is the present range of official and expert opinion, it is certainly time to think about what will happen if the tragi-comedy of Kaesong suddenly merges into a new Communist offensive—which may, indeed, happen tomorrow.

Enemy Benefitted

On the one hand, the long lull of the cease-fire talks has benefitted the enemy far more than most people realize. Quantities of new heavy equipment, including considerable artillery and about 600 tanks, have been brought into the war zone. The depleted Chinese and North Korean units have been filled up, so that the enemy is now estimated to have about 500,000 men in Korea, with 400,000 in striking positions between the 39th Parallel and the front. The buildup of air strength, which had reached 1,000 planes in Manchuria two months ago, has continued slowly.

Above all, every kind of supply dump has been piled up. Therefore, instead of being able to sustain an attack for only a few days, the Chinese and North Koreans are now considered able to continue on the offensive for a much longer period. It is even calculated that every added day of lull, in which the enemy's supply dumps are not depleted by heavy fighting, adds another day to the period durin which an offensive effort can b maintained in the future.

Thus the enemy in Korea is muc stronger now than he was. On th other hand, so are we. Our force dug in at Chorwon and Kumwha occupy incomparably the best defensive position they have ever hel in Korea. They have had tim t strengthen their hold on the Iro Triangle by every device of th military art, so that they can b sure of taking a fearful toll of th attacking enemy. For the first tim they have their full complement o weapons and equipment of a kinds. And for the first time, th divisions and regiments are mor than up to strength, with substantial reserves of manpower.

Balancing the enemy's gains c strength against our gains, the authorities here now share the sam sober confidence in our forces' power to hurl back a Communist offensive that has already been expressed by Gen. Ridgway and Ge Van Fleet. There is only one poin of immediate concern. Since th UN armies in Korea have had n real seasoning experience with hostile air, severe temporary setback may ensue if the enemy brings hi full air strength into the battle.

All-Out War Possible

This singe point of immediat concern in turn symbolizes the ver deep and anxious concern that i universally felt about the long rang results of a serious renewal of th Korean fighting. For if the enem air enters the battle, the questio of retaliatory air attacks on th enemy bases in Manchuria will b inescapably raised at once. An even if the fighting follows the ol pattern, the letdown and deceptio of the false cease-fire negotiatio will still give rise to the stronges pressure to widen the war. In shor if it begins again all-out, the Korean War can hardly go on foreve as a limited war. It must someda burst its precarious bounds, an become a much larger and more terrible conflagration.

These grim truths are of cours the best arguments for optimis about an eventual cease-fire agreement. If the enemy both understands these truths and does no want a wider war, he too mus desire a final cease-fire in Korea But these same truths also indicate the peril of the present moment. We are travelling a narro ledge, skirting a clangorous abyss and we had better realize that thi is our situation, in order to avoi mis-steps.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

God's Footstool

In 1947, Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of faculty of the Union Theological Seminary, could write in his book, "World Christianity":

"This 'rediscovery of the church' is a by-product of the Second World War. It is important to recognize that there has been no direct causal connection. Obviously, the churches did not cause the war: they had little direct effect upon its outcome. In the main, the war has wrought little noteworthy change in the life or strength of the Christian churches . . ."

In 1951, this is no longer true in many parts of the world. In this same book, Dr. Van Dusen writes of missionary work in such countries as China where during the past two years Christianity has been stomped beneath the hooves of anti-Christian mobs.

We need, I am sure, to think of the battle against the religions of God in all the countries that are controlled from the Kremlin not in terms of Jews or Roman Catholics or Protestants, but as people of the book, sons of God in an identical civilization. While maintaining our differences, we need to recognize that we are faced by the same enemy who hates us all. Perhaps that hatred will give us the wisdom to unite, not in dogma and ritual, but in the spirit of God.

This is becoming increasingly important as the enemy fights with every weapon, particularly by using the power of the state to corrupt young children. He rears them in schools where they are separated from all the treasures of human history and thought. They grow believing only what they are permitted to hear and see and they are blind to all the great forces that rescued man from slavery and brought him within the scope of social justice.

The real danger is not the present adult generation, for they have memories of church and synagogue, the jo of prayer, the sense o mercy, the richness of true humilit in the presence of God. They recall the beauty of Easter, th cleansing sense of Passover, the jo of Christmas, the piety of Yo Kippur.

It is the young in the Marxis countries who will never even hav heard of the relationship of ma to God, who will never have bee in a house of worship, who wil never have known of a religion o love.

They carry ikons of Stalin an Mao and such creatures. The march behind these ikons. Thes are their gods.

We saw the photographs of the youth festival in East Germany. There were the ikons, huge photographs of the masters of men, uninspired, monstrous photographs! These ikons are like the idols one sees in the temples of profane religions, vulgar, ugly idols.

In this century the young mind of boys and girls can be corrupte into receiving these blown-up photographs as the symbols of, shall w say, power, or is it, fear!

These young people will presen to the next generations sick mind because their physical nature wil never have been softened by th leavening, pacifying influence of religion, of God's love. They wil know only that struggle beget struggle, that power comes to hi who takes it, that man is but creature like all else in nature, a all-purpose mammal that can talk

For those who believe in God this is a responsibility that all mus face in this age. Here in ou country we quarrel among ourselve over small matters while the enemy destroys our world.

For this is true: our civilizatio is deeply rooted in the Old and New Testaments, in the Bible of both the Jews and the Christians. Without this foundation, all that we believe to be true must wither and die. Already, in countries of which Dr. Van Dusen wrote in his book only four years ago, we witness the resurgence of brutality, the torture of decent people for their ideas their beliefs, their faith.

Already we are being faced by the corruption of our own children under our very eyes by so-called scientific methods which teach them that every concept that built their world of liberty is superstition. Even our political system blossoms on the stem of the Declaration of Independence, which in its preamble makes clear that those inalienable rights which our young people are taught to cherish as the Bill of Rights emanate from nature's God and nature's law.

This is our foundation and we must protect it or our world becomes like the sand of the desert, blinding the spirit, fruitless and unproductive.

Photograph Raises Parents' Hopes Soldier-Son Is Alive

HASTINGS, Neb., (INS) — A photograph of returning Korean war-veterans today revived the hopes of a Hastings couple that their son is still alive.

Harold J. (Jim) Galloway was reported killed in action in fighting southwest of Taegu last Sept. 3.

However, his mother, Mrs. Walter Galloway, never gave up hope that by "once chance in a million" a mistake had been made and her son was still alive. For the long months afterward, she searched every newspaper photograph of Korean soldiers with a magnifying glass. Finally, in a picture of servicemen returning to the U. S. she found one resembling Jim.

Her husband wired the commanding officer at the port of embarkation, but learned no "Harold J. Galloway" was listed as aboard and the soldiers already had been released on furlough. The Galloways requested a copy of the negative so it could be enlarged at Hastings for further study.

They then called in eight of Jim's friends, one at time, and let them study the enlargement. Each swore it was Jim.

In an attempt to further substantiate their hopes, the Galloways had 300 enlargements made and sent one to each of the serviceman who had been aboard the transport. Of the replies received so far, those who could identify the soldier in the enlargement said it was Jim Galloway.

The Galloways have not heard from their son since he was reported killed in Korea, but, the father said: It's one chance in a million. And we've got to find out—either way—for our own peace of mind."

The mother believes her son may be an amnesia victim.

Santa Gets Stuck In King-Size Tub

CANTON, O. —(AP)— The village Santa at nearby Minerva, jovial 485-pound Raymond Fry, longed for years to get into a bathtub and, as he put it, "soak and soak and soak." Too big for an ordinary tub, he was getting mighty tired of sponge baths.

So in building a new house, he installed a Santa-sized tub, six feet long and three feet wide.

Then he crawled into his new tub, ran water into what space was left, poured in bubble bath crystals and bathed for 45 luxurious minutes.

Then he found he was stuck.

It took 45 more minutes, plus a lot of tugging from his wife, before Santa popped loose and crawled from the tub.

Retarder System Wins Recognition

Cumberland is mentioned in the current issue of the Baltimore and Ohio Magazine as maintaining one of the most modern car retarder yards in the nation.

John Reed, this city, a car retarder operator, was pictured in the feature as well as a section of the Queen City yards.

Streamlined towers equipped with teletypes and microphones connected with P. A. systems, provide instant communication between yardmaster and crews.

The Cumberland retarder, the article noted, classifies eastbound cars, makes work faster and more efficient. Records show some 1,700 cars are humped daily in the Cumberland yards.

Streamlined towers equipped with teletypes and microphones connected with P. A. systems, provide instant communication between yardmaster and crews.

The Cumberland retarder, the article noted, classifies eastbound cars, makes work faster and more efficient. Records show some 1,700 cars are humped daily in the Cumberland yards.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

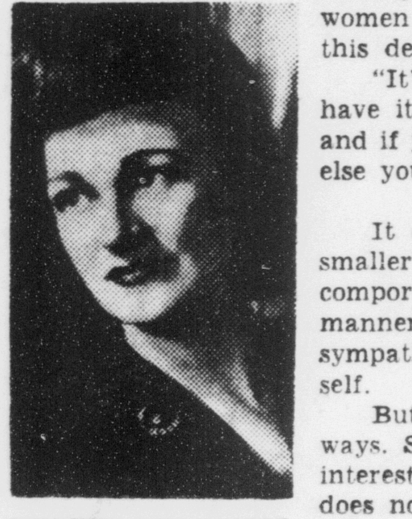
The ugly woman is becoming extinct . . . Today's women not born with naturally curly hair, wasp waists, gazelle grace, and queenly poise, can do something about it . . . And Helene Williams shows them how! . . . Literally hundreds of girls in Washington—a cross section of government workers, debutantes, bobbysoxers, ambassadors' daughters and young housewives have learned how at Mrs. Williams' "charm school" for beauty, modeling and over-all self-improvement, a course sponsored by Southeastern University . . . A dozen or so grandmothers and even a great-grandmother have joined in the rush to improve themselves . . . And given a guiding hand by Helene Williams, ugly ducklings have turned into swans, frumps have become femmes fatales . . . I asked her to write about charm because for well over a decade, she has been a columnist, magazine writer, charm expert and has originated, scripted, and commentated the Capital's most successful fashion shows.

In private life she's the charming hostess and wife of Gladstone Williams, long-time correspondent for the Atlanta Constitution, and, I hear, the National Press Club's best poker player.

AUSTINE

By HELENE WILLIAMS

Charm is an intangible quality not easily defined. It is something easy to recognize but often difficult to describe. I suppose the reason I was assigned this subject is that I happen to be associated with a charm school. Even so, it is a difficult subject.



HELENE WILLIAMS

There are certain elements of feminine charm which can be catalogued without too much difficulty by women themselves. Sir Philip Barrie gives it this definition:

"It's a sort of bloom on a woman. If you have it, you don't need to have anything else, and if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have."

It can be broken down into a number of smaller parts. Charm is a combination of tact, comportment, poise, kindness, wit, and good manners compounded with an air of gaiety and sympathy which stimulates interest in one's self.

But a woman may be charming in other ways. She can make herself attractive by her interest in others or by a quiet dignity which does not intrude with too much self assertiveness.

I would say that the test of a woman's charm is her ability to hold the attention of others in her immediate presence, regardless of the ordinary distractions that are encountered. This is really a more realistic way of doing what the poets have described as "making others conscious of your being."

Most of the charming people I have known have been extroverts rather than introverts. This is another way of saying that one of the essentials of charm is to overcome shyness, since shyness may shield a person's latent qualities. How can one's charm be judged unless it is practiced and brought into play? Charm is a light that should not be hidden under a basket.

But perhaps the best way to define charm is to give illustrations rather than engage in too much academic theorizing. Charm applies to all ages—little girls, teen agers, young women, matrons and dowagers.

It comes into full development with maturity, however.

It can be found in every walk of life—in movie actresses, debutantes, salesgirls, secretaries and housewives.

One of the most charming women I have ever known is Lady Elizabeth Macready, the French-born wife of Sir Gordon Macready, head of the British Economic Mission at Bonne, and formerly attached to the British Embassy in Washington. She has a sympathetic interest in people, a warm friendliness that endears her to everyone.

There are no more charming people anywhere than the President's wife and daughter. Mrs. Truman's and Margaret's charm consist of their naturalness and wholesomeness.

So many of Washington's top-flight models are charming. An outstanding example is Mrs. Donald Patterson, featured nationally, last year, by a toothpaste concern as a "Model Mother." The beautiful, busy mother of two energetic young boys. Virginia always finds time to do gracious little things for others. Naturally, I am quite proud of her because she is a graduate of the charm school I direct at Southeastern University as part of its Modeling and Self-Improvement course.

Mrs. Harold Walker has long been considered one of the most charming women in Washington. Democrats and Republicans alike go eagerly to her parties and many people consider her Washington's leading hostess. Her keen wit and good humor are the chief components of her charm.

The wife of the senior senator from Michigan, Mrs. Homer Ferguson has a charm that rests on her sweet, unaffected disposition. Ambassadress-turned-career girl is Madame Dendramis, who will be remembered as the chic wife of the former Greek ambassador to the United States. Completely adaptable, she is the most American-minded foreign woman I have ever met.

Georgia-born Dr. Elizabeth Parker, who maintains a medical practice in Washington, is one of the kindest women I have ever known. She has an understanding heart. It is a charm that lends success to her professional activities.

Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Polly to her friends, has a charm that is built around sweetness and simplicity. She is noted for never having been heard to say anything about anyone. The compensation to that is that no one ever says anything unkind about her.

Among the small fry, 10-year-old Antoinette Chautemps, daughter of the former Premier of France and Madame Camille Chautemps, must go on my list. She combines poise and natural spontaneity, qualities which she inherits, no doubt, from her parents, who are themselves two of the most attractive people in Washington.

Finally, no list, even a partial one, would be complete without some reference to the gal who has been expounding on the charms of others for so long. She is bursting with it in so many ways that it would be hard to narrow it down to any one point. I refer, of course, to Austine, who customarily occupies this space. Even her unpredictableness has a certain charm about it, though distracting at times!

The tone of your voice works for you or against you. Here are four ways to make sure that it is an asset.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

How important is the tone of your voice?

Well, a husband leaves in the morning in a mood that affects everything he does all day—because of a wrong impression he got from the tone of voice his wife unintentionally used. A child has a feeling of insecurity that lasts for hours—the result of the thoughtless tone of voice used by his mother when she answered or commanded him. A client is lost by a firm—just because the tone of voice of the girl who answered the phone falsely affronted him once too often.

Add Color To Your Tone

You should take your voice seriously; others do. It cannot mirror your best personality when you let it slip into a harsh, dull, or flat tone. If you will practice the following in private, you will acquire the habit of making your voice expressive and colorful every time you say as much as "Hello!"

1. You wouldn't sing a lullaby with as much volume as a marching song, would you? It's the same with speaking. Vary your volume to express the subtle shadings in your meanings. This is also important in preventing the monotony that loses you listeners.

2. To emphasize your meaning, work for greater flexibility of pitch. Try saying, "Oh, it's you," first to imply happiness, then distaste, and lastly anger. Notice how your pitch changes. The greater range you achieve in everyday conversation, the more compelling your speech will be.

For Greater Expression

3. Change the rate of speed at which you talk. Neither a rat-a-tat-tat nor a slow drawl is "listenable" for long. Important words and ideas need stressing.

4. Concentrate on and believe in what you are saying. When you ask, "How are you?" put the question mark into it. As wise Socrates said, hundreds of years ago, "Never use a word without seeing in nature that for which it stands." It will put an appeal into your voice that will attract your public in a most pleasing way.

City To Use Gas Tax Fund In Resurfacing 9 Streets

The Street Department proposes to resurface nine streets with money received from gasoline taxes under the state Sherbow Law.

Sealed bids have been asked from paving contractors on the "proposal" not later than 10 a. m. (EDT) Monday, September 10. Each bidder must specify a price per ton for blacktop in place and a price per gallon on tack coat.

Streets proposed for resurfacing are:

Market Street from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Offutt Street (12 foot wide center strip) from Virginia Avenue to Olive Avenue.

South George Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

South Liberty Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

Broadway from Maryland Avenue to Cromwell Terrace.

Harrison Street, from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Saratoga Street from Cumberland Street to School Street.

Fairview Avenue from Franklin Street to Pulaski Street.

Prospect Square on both sides of Washington Street.

It was pointed out that the streets are only proposed and no cost would be levied against property owners. Money received from gasoline taxes under the Sherbow plan must be used for street maintenance and resurfacing.

The proposal was advertised because the city has entered a new fiscal year and is eligible to start on the resurfacing program now rather than wait until next spring, a department spokesman said.

The proposed work will take most of the $21,000 available during the fiscal year for street maintenance.

Some 500 million colds are contracted in the United States every year.

4 Area Girls Enter Convent In Baltimore

Four Cumberland area girls have entered training for the School Sisters of Notre Dame at the Mother House in Baltimore.

Three of them were honored at a service Tuesday in the chapel of St. Patrick's Convent. They were Miss Martha Murray, daughter of Mrs. Mary R. Murray, 218 Cumberland Street; Miss Shirley Loraditch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Loraditch, 1307 Bedford Street, and Miss Marguerite Robison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robison, Mt. Savage.

The candidates received blessings during the service from Rev Thomas A. Hardesty, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church; Rev James Kilgannon, pastor of St Anthony's Church, Ridgeley; Rev Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St Mary's Church, Lonaconing, and Rev. Edward Ward, who is assisting this summer at St. Patrick's Church.

After the service, the group left for Baltimore accompanied by Sister Marie, principal of Girls Central Catholic High School.

Already at the Mother House for training for the order is Miss Kathleen Mullaney, daughter of James Mullaney of Mt. Savage. She was graduated from St. Patrick's Parochial School in Mt. Savage and received her high school diploma this June from Holy Angels Academy, Fort Lee, N. J.

The other three candidates are graduates of the 1951 Senior Class at Girls Central Catholic High School.

Accidents Bring Four Suits Totaling $31,500

Four damage suits totaling $31,500 were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday.

In one case Edward J. Ryan filed a declaration for the State of Maryland for the use of May Baker and her daughter, Alice Baker. Grant Baker, RFD 3, Meyersdale, Pa., the husband and father, was electrocuted in a mishap at the Big Savage Refractories near Frostburg. Damages of $20,000 are asked.

Defendant in the action is the Potomac Edison Company. The declaration states that the Potomac Edison placed a transformer on a platform to connect with lines into the refractory plant.

On August 28, 1950, the refractory firm notified the PE to remove certain lines, according to the declaration, but the PE failed to remove them from poles close to the transformer and high-powered lines.

On August 30, Baker, an employe of the refractory, was told to remove the lines in question. Without any knowledge of the proximity with the high-powered lines and of the danger present, Baker started to work. Baker came in contact with the high-powered lines and was electrocuted, according to the declaration.

Another suit was docketed in which Lucinda Thompson, wife of John Thompson, Route 5, McMullen Highway, asks $10,000 damages from Donald McGill, contractor.

Ryan filed a declaration in which it is stated that McGill had been contracted to move and improve the Thompson property one-half mile south of Cresaptown. During the progress of the work it is alleged a pair of steps was built from the house to the ground. On September 7 last year Mrs. Thompson was using the steps and when she stepped on one of them it gave way and her right ankle was fractured in three places, according to the declaration.

It is claimed the step which gave way was not secured and due to the negligence of the contractor the injury to Mrs. Thompson's ankle resulted. She claims she was a patient in a Cumberland hospital for 59 days and underwent heavy hospital and medical expense.

John R. Weaver filed two suits in which he asks a total of $1,500 damages from the defendants. In one suit Weaver declares Albert I. May, this city, was operating a car which crashed into his truck which was parked on Henderson Avenue. The mishap occurred December 23, 1950 and Weaver asks $1,000 damages from May.

In the second of the two suits, Raymond Owen Reed, 313 Cecelia Street, is the defendant. Reed is also charged with driving into the rear of Weaver's truck about 30 minutes after the first crash. Damages asked of Reed total $500. Weaver alleges he lost the use of his truck for a long period and charges both defendants with negligence.

William H. Geppert is attorney for Weaver in both cases.

Of Ontario's 412,582 square miles area, 49,300 are water.

City To Use Gas Tax Fund In Resurfacing 9 Streets

The Street Department proposes to resurface nine streets with money received from gasoline taxes under the state Sherbow Law.

Sealed bids have been asked from paving contractors on the "proposal" not later than 10 a. m. (EDT) Monday, September 10. Each bidder must specify a price per ton for blacktop in place and a price per gallon on tack coat.

Streets proposed for resurfacing are:

Market Street from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Offutt Street (12 foot wide center strip) from Virginia Avenue to Olive Avenue.

South George Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

South Liberty Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

Broadway from Maryland Avenue to Cromwell Terrace.

Harrison Street, from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Saratoga Street from Cumberland Street to School Street.

Fairview Avenue from Franklin Street to Pulaski Street.

Prospect Square on both sides of Washington Street.

It was pointed out that the streets are only proposed and no cost would be levied against property owners. Money received from gasoline taxes under the Sherbow plan must be used for street maintenance and resurfacing.

The proposal was advertised because the city has entered a new fiscal year and is eligible to start on the resurfacing program now rather than wait until next spring, a department spokesman said.

The proposed work will take most of the $21,000 available during the fiscal year for street maintenance.

Some 500 million colds are contracted in the United States every year.

The candidates received blessings during the service from Rev Thomas A. Gambling "Lid" Proves Puzzle

HENDERSON, Ky., Aug. 29 (AP)—Citizens still were puzzled tonight by a mysterious order which suddenly stopped gambling which had flourished wide-open in their county for years.

Overnight, slot machines, roulette wheels and dice tables were removed from scores of casinos, dives and grocery stores in Henderson County, a Western Kentucky community of 30,000 population.

One disgruntled operator said an order to close indefinitely came from "up north."

A Kentucky political figure said the gamblers voluntarily closed shop to take Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby "out of an embarrassing situation politically."

The Governor was not available for comment.

Henderson County Sheriff W. W. Brackett said today the cleanup "was as much a puzzle to me as everyone else." Brackett explained he was out of town yesterday and knew nothing about the incident until his return.

Asked if he would clamp down if gambling reappeared, Sheriff Brackett replied: "I can't say. As far as I know, there never has been any wide open gambling here."

State police and federal authorities also said they didn't know what had happened. Truck drivers who hauled the equipment away "wouldn't talk."

Ex-Croatian Cabinet Member Held By U. S. For Yugoslav Slayings

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP) — Andrija Artukovich, 50, former Croatian cabinet member, was arrested today on a federal warrant charging him with the murder on Jan. 26, 1942, of Peter Zimonic, archbishop of Sarajevo.

Artukovich had been at liberty for weeks awaiting a deportation hearing.

The complaint, issued at the request of Rajo Ivancevic, counsel-general here for Yugoslavia, accuses Artukovich of the slayings of other persons in Yugoslavia ranging in age from newborn to 88.

The arrest was made by a U. S. marshal under an extradition treaty signed by the United States and the kingdom of Serbia in 1902.

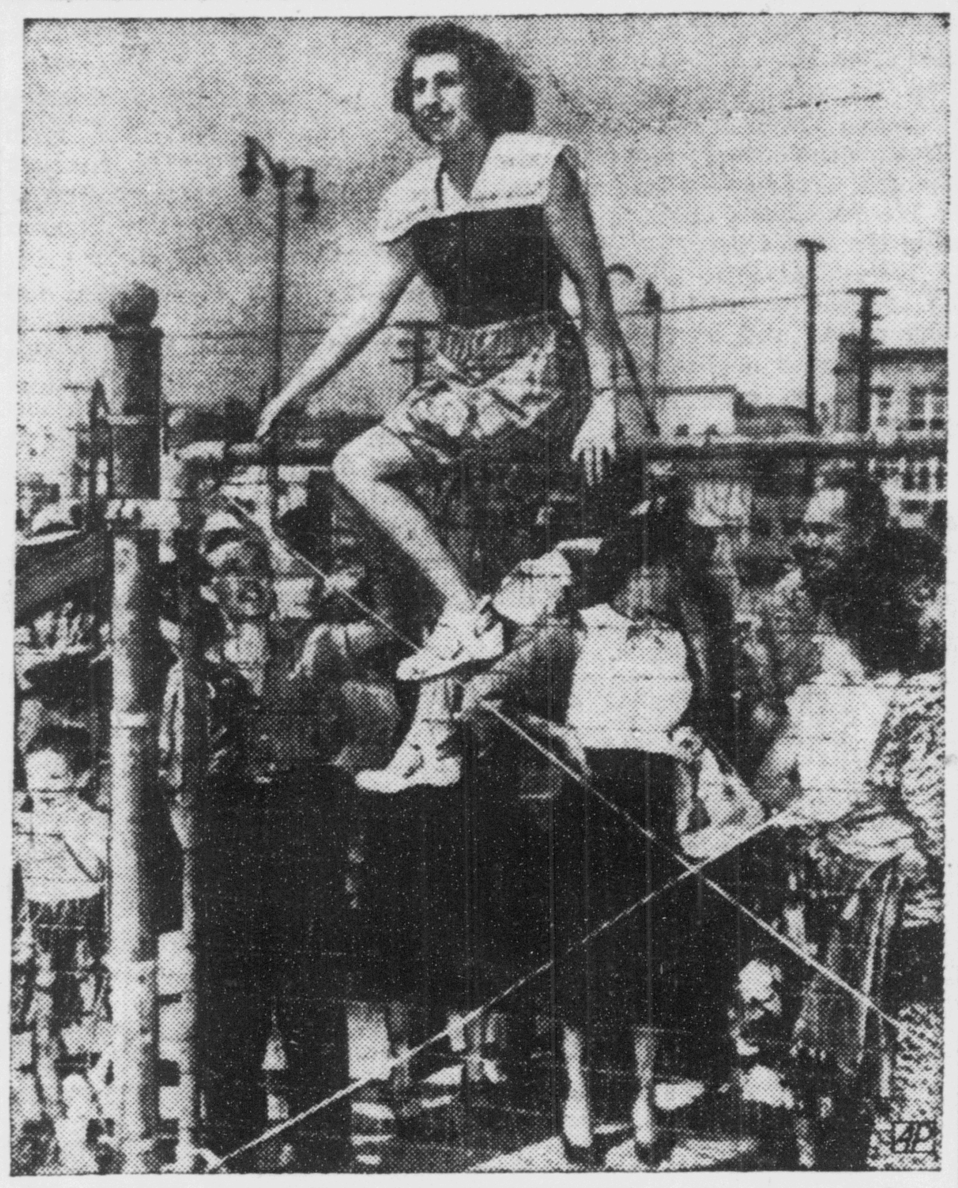
Commissioner Harold V. Calverly, who issued the warrant, said after a hearing he will make his report directly to the secretary of state in Washington. Meantime, Artukovich is held without bond.

Playground Leaders Plan Picnic Today

The annual picnic for leaders in the summer playground program will be held today at Capon Park.

Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, said recreation leaders will meet at City Hall today at 9 a. m. to go to the park.

The only business slated for the outing is a discussion on the playground program which ended last Friday.



SHE CAN'T WAIT FOR LOCKSMITH—When the Navy tanker USS Kaskaskia arrived in San Pedro, Calif., someone forgot to unlock the gate so relatives could greet the men. Here Mrs. Laura Leight, Hollydale, Calif., scales the fence to greet her husband, Edward Leight, storekeeper. The Navy finally cut the lock when a key could not be found.

Tobin Tees Off On McCarthy

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Labor Secretary Maurice J. Tobin teed off on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today, suggesting McCarthy's high-voltage Senate speeches can be "part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government."

Tobin's sharp attack made the Veterans of Foreign Wars 52nd annual convention a front-line outpost in the administration's war of words with McCarthy. Tobin spoke from the convention rostrum.

The cabinet member berated "slanderers" who he said make unproven charges against fellow-Americans, then hide behind the "privileged sanctuary" of the U. S. Senate.

McCarthy often attacks what he terms Communists in government from the Senate floor, where he is protected against libel suits.

The VFW immediately invited McCarthy to reply. The outspoken Wisconsin Republican snapped up the bid and was flying here from Idaho to address the convention tomorrow.

Pickets And Press Given Slip By Gromyko

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko slipped out of town tonight in a special railroad car with its shades tightly drawn.

He rode a baggage elevator to elude pickets and press as he left Grand Central terminal for next week's Japanese treaty conference in San Francisco.

"Free American Labor" Peace Key, Green Says

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 29 (AP) — The president of the American Federation of Labor today urged the country to put its trust in "orderly reform through trade union action" to help quiet the world turmoil.

"Free American labor," William Green told the Frederick Rotary Club, "is the only agency that can persuade the oppressed and underprivileged masses of the world that it is not necessary to tear down their entire social and economic structure in order to better their circumstancesx x x".

Because no group is free of the "common danger of communism," the veteran labor leader said that "our very survival depends upon our ability to form a united popular front for freedom and democracy, and to subordinate our partisan aims and ambitions."

Area Soldiers, Marines Return To States

Seven Allegany County soldiers and marines arrived on the West Coast yesterday and Tuesday from Korea.

They were Staff Sgt. Harold T. Burgess, 52 Elder Street; Cpl. James C. Nave, Cresaptown, and Cpl. Paul W. Kennedy, 21 Offutt Street, all Marines who arrived at San Diego yesterday aboard the USNS General W. H. Black, with the largest shipload of Korean veterans to return.

Arriving Tuesday were Pfc. John L. Fahey, 9 Hampton Place; Harold E. Meyers, 118 Blaul Avenue; and Cpl. Harry R. Grove and Pfc. Frank Ravenscroft, Jr., both of Westernport. They arrived aboard the Transport Aiken Victory

Many in each group were being returned for separation, while others came home on rotation from the combat zone.

Indian Soldier

He had also fought in World War II.

Along with President Truman's action, protests rolled up following the disclosure that the sergeant's body had been denied burial in a Sioux City cemetery because of his Indian ancestry. The Association of American Indian Affairs demanded a public apology from the cemetery.

Mr. Truman acted after reading a news story that authorities at the Sioux City Memorial Park Cemetery halted the burial of Sgt. Rice yesterday just as the body was about to be lowered into the grave.

In Sioux City, the widow said she did not know that Indians could not be buried in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Rice, a white woman, said she bought a lot in the cemetery and signed the contract without noticing a clause which barred her husband from burial.

Rain Soon May

area near Flintstone was aided by a heavy rain several weeks ago which did not reach the rest of the county.

The county agent also reported that Japanese beetles from an overall standpoint are no heavier this year than they were last summer. Some sections report more but others fewer beetles, he explained. He added that during this current dry spell he has heard no reports of unusual pests striking this area.

At any rate, rain in the next few days will be a big help to the county farmers.

Second Suit Filed In Case

A second suit—this one for $2,500—was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a two-automobile crash which occurred almost five years ago east of Cumberland.

The suit names Norman R. Collins, this city, individually and for use of State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company, as the plaintiff and the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, Ill., as defendant. Attorney W. Earle Cobey filed the suit for Collins.

In his declaration, Collins sets forth that prior to November 28, 1946, the defendant issued an automobile liability insurance policy to Branson Heavner, an Allegany County resident. On or about November 28, 1946, Heavner's automobile, while being driven negligently by Riley M. Heavner, his son, collided with the automobile owned and operated by Collins, the declaration says. Riley M. Heavner was killed in the crash.

The plaintiff filed his first suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Edgar M. Lewis, who had qualified as administrator of Riley M. Heavner's estate. During the January, 1949 term of court Collins obtained judgment against Lewis as administrator for $1,825 for personal injuries and property damage. However, Lewis was unable to locate any assets owned by Heavner so that the judgment has never been paid the declaration states.

Finally, the declaration contends that the defendant insurance company has agreed to pay $1,825 judgment under terms of the policy but has failed to do so. That is the reason for this second suit, Collins concludes.

MPA To Air Elkton Council Press Ban

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Maryland Press Association plans to look into the ban on reporters at meetings of the Elkton town council, its president said today.

The editors of the town's two weekly newspapers say they have been barred from all but routine proceedings for the past month. They blame it on their publishing certain business before the council after Mayor Henry Mitchell had asked them not to publish it.

"The Maryland Press Association is naturally concerned about this situation, but has not yet studied the incident," said MPA President Elmer Jackson, general manager of the Capital Gazette at Annapolis.

He said the association would take it up at its meeting September 8 at Ocean City.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Eck, Wilmington, Del., announce the birth of a son Monday in Wilmington General Hospital. The mother is the former Miss Ruth Johnson, R. N., graduate of the Allegany Hospital School of Nursing and daughter of Mrs. James Brotemarkle, Valley Road.

Three area men were sworn into the U. S. Navy at Baltimore this week,

They are Richard Arlin McBride, 17, 623 Laing Avenue; James William McDonald, 21, RFD No. 4 Box 73, this city, and Joseph Robert Schaidt, 21, Oldtown.

Bob Walker Finds In Death Peace Denied Him In Life

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (AP) — Robert Walker, 32-year-old movie star, found in death today the peace that was denied him during a lonely and mixed-up life.

Walker, who hit stardom during World War Two as "Private Hargrove," died at his Brentwood home last night while under treatment for an emotional disturbance.

Two psychiatrists and a police rescue squad were in attendance at the time. The doctors, one of whom had been treating Walker's mental troubles for the last 18 months, gave him a barbituate — a treatment which had snapped the actor out of similar spells dozens of times before.

However, Walker failed to rally and died soon afterwards. The medical men certified the death as natural due to a respiratory failure (stoppage of breathing.)

The young actor, famed for his "shy guy" roles, hit the mental skids soon after Actress Jennifer Jones divorced him in 1945. They had wed in 1939 and practically starved together before both hit fame—and unhappiness—at about the same time.

Ten days after she was signed to play the title role in "Song Of Bernadette" Walker was cast as one of the leads in "Bataan."

Two weeks after Miss Jones won the Academy Award, for her performance as the French girl saint, she divorced Walker and eventually married David O. Selznick, the producer who had made her a star.

Gambling "Lid" Proves Puzzle

HENDERSON, Ky., Aug. 29 (AP)—Citizens still were puzzled tonight by a mysterious order which suddenly stopped gambling which had flourished wide-open in their county for years.

Overnight, slot machines, roulette wheels and dice tables were removed from scores of casinos, dives and grocery stores in Henderson County, a Western Kentucky community of 30,000 population.

One disgruntled operator said an order to close indefinitely came from "up north."

A Kentucky political figure said the gamblers voluntarily closed shop to take Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby "out of an embarrassing situation politically."

The Governor was not available for comment.

Henderson County Sheriff W. W. Brackett said today the cleanup "was as much a puzzle to me as everyone else." Brackett explained he was out of town yesterday and knew nothing about the incident until his return.

Asked if he would clamp down if gambling reappeared, Sheriff Brackett replied: "I can't say. As far as I knew, there never has been any wide open gambling here."

State police and federal authorities also said they didn't know what had happened. Truck drivers who hauled the equipment away "wouldn't talk."

Ex-Croatian Cabinet Member Held By U. S. For Yugoslav Slayings

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP) — Andrija Artukovich, 50, former Croatian cabinet member, was arrested today on a federal warrant charging him with the murder on Jan. 26, 1942, of Peter Zimonic, archbishop of Sarajevo.

Artukovich had been at liberty for weeks awaiting a deportation hearing.

The complaint, issued at the request of Rajo Ivancevic, counsel-general here for Yugoslavia, accuses Artukovich of the slayings of other persons in Yugoslavia ranging in age from newborn to 88.

The arrest was made by a U. S. marshal under an extradition treaty signed by the United States and the kingdom of Serbia in 1902.

Commissioner Harold V. Calverly, who issued the warrant, said after a hearing he will make his report directly to the secretary of state in Washington. Meantime, Artukovich is held without bond.

Playground Leaders Plan Picnic Today

The annual picnic for leaders in the summer playground program will be held today at Capon Park.

Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, said recreation leaders will meet at City Hall today at 9 a. m. to go to the park.

The only business slated for the outing is a discussion on the playground program which ended last Friday.

SHE CAN'T WAIT FOR LOCKSMITH—When the Navy tanker USS Kaskaskia arrived in San Pedro, Calif., someone forgot to unlock the gate so relatives could greet the men. Here Mrs. Laura Leight, Hollydale, Calif., scales the fence to greet her husband, Edward Leight, storekeeper. The Navy finally cut the lock when a key could not be found.

Tobin Tees Off On McCarthy

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Labor Secretary Maurice J. Tobin teed off on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today, suggesting McCarthy's high-voltage Senate speeches can be "part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government."

Tobin's sharp attack made the Veterans of Foreign Wars 52nd annual convention a front-line outpost in the administration's war of words with McCarthy. Tobin spoke from the convention rostrum.

The cabinet member berated "slanderers" who he said make unproven charges against fellow-Americans, then hide behind the "privileged sanctuary" of the U. S. Senate.

McCarthy often attacks what he terms Communists in government from the Senate floor, where he is protected against libel suits.

The VFW immediately invited McCarthy to reply. The outspoken Wisconsin Republican snapped up the bid and was flying here from Idaho to address the convention tomorrow.

Pickets And Press Given Slip By Gromyko

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko slipped out of town tonight in a special railroad car with its shades tightly drawn.

He rode a baggage elevator to elude pickets and press as he left Grand Central terminal for next week's Japanese treaty conference in San Francisco.

"Free American Labor" Peace Key, Green Says

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 29 (AP) — The president of the American Federation of Labor today urged the country to put its trust in "orderly reform through trade union action" to help quiet the world turmoil.

"Free American labor," William Green told the Frederick Rotary Club, "is the only agency that can persuade the oppressed and underprivileged masses of the world that it is not necessary to tear down their entire social and economic structure in order to better their circumstancesx x x".

Because no group is free of the "common danger of communism," the veteran labor leader said that "our very survival depends upon our ability to form a united popular front for freedom and democracy, and to subordinate our partisan aims and ambitions."

Area Soldiers, Marines Return To States

Seven Allegany County soldiers and marines arrived on the West Coast yesterday and Tuesday from Korea.

They were Staff Sgt. Harold T. Burgess, 52 Elder Street; Cpl. James C. Nave, Cresaptown, and Cpl. Paul W. Kennedy, 21 Offutt Street, all Marines who arrived at San Diego yesterday aboard the USNS General W. H. Black, with the largest shipload of Korean veterans to return.

Arriving Tuesday were Pfc. John L. Fahey, 9 Hampton Place; Harold E. Meyers, 118 Blaul Avenue; and Cpl. Harry R. Grove and Pfc. Frank Ravenscroft, Jr., both of Westernport. They arrived aboard the Transport Aiken Victory

Many in each group were being returned for separation, while others came home on rotation from the combat zone.

Indian Soldier

He had also fought in World War II.

Along with President Truman's action, protests rolled up following the disclosure that the sergeant's body had been denied burial in a Sioux City cemetery because of his Indian ancestry. The Association of American Indian Affairs demanded a public apology from the cemetery.

Mr. Truman acted after reading a news story that authorities at the Sioux City Memorial Park Cemetery halted the burial of Sgt. Rice yesterday just as the body was about to be lowered into the grave.

In Sioux City, the widow said she did not know that Indians could not be buried in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Rice, a white woman, said she bought a lot in the cemetery and signed the contract without noticing a clause which barred her husband from burial.

area near Flintstone was aided by a heavy rain several weeks ago which did not reach the rest of the county.

The county agent also reported that Japanese beetles from an overall standpoint are no heavier this year than they were last summer. Some sections report more but others fewer beetles, he explained. He added that during this current dry spell he has heard no reports of unusual pests striking this area.

At any rate, rain in the next few days will be a big help to the county farmers.

Second Suit Filed In Case

A second suit—this one for $2,500—was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a two-automobile crash which occurred almost five years ago east of Cumberland.

The suit names Norman R. Collins, this city, individually and for use of State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company, as the plaintiff and the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, Ill., as defendant. Attorney W. Earle Cobey filed the suit for Collins.

In his declaration, Collins sets forth that prior to November 28, 1946, the defendant issued an automobile liability insurance policy to Branson Heavner, an Allegany County resident. On or about November 28, 1946, Heavner's automobile, while being driven negligently by Riley M. Heavner, his son, collided with the automobile owned and operated by Collins, the declaration says. Riley M. Heavner was killed in the crash.

The plaintiff filed his first suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Edgar M. Lewis, who had qualified as administrator of Riley M. Heavner's estate. During the January, 1949 term of court Collins obtained judgment against Lewis as administrator for $1,825 for personal injuries and property damage. However, Lewis was unable to locate any assets owned by Heavner so that the judgment has never been paid the declaration states.

Finally, the declaration contends that the defendant insurance company has agreed to pay $1,825 judgment under terms of the policy but has failed to do so. That is the reason for this second suit, Collins concludes.

MPA To Air Elkton Council Press Ban

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Maryland Press Association plans to look into the ban on reporters at meetings of the Elkton town council, its president said today.

The editors of the town's two weekly newspapers say they have been barred from all but routine proceedings for the past month. They blame it on their publishing certain business before the council after Mayor Henry Mitchell had asked them not to publish it.

"The Maryland Press Association is naturally concerned about this situation, but has not yet studied the incident," said MPA President Elmer Jackson, general manager of the Capital Gazette at Annapolis.

He said the association would take it up at its meeting September 8 at Ocean City.

Bob Walker Finds In Death Peace Denied Him In Life

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (AP) — Robert Walker, 32-year-old movie star, found in death today the peace that was denied him during a lonely and mixed-up life.

Walker, who hit stardom during World War Two as "Private Hargrove," died at his Brentwood home last night while under treatment for an emotional disturbance.

Two psychiatrists and a police rescue squad were in attendance at the time. The doctors, one of whom had been treating Walker's mental troubles for the last 18 months, gave him a barbituate — a treatment which had snapped the actor out of similar spells dozens of times before.

However, Walker failed to rally and died soon afterwards. The medical men certified the death as natural due to a respiratory failure (stoppage of breathing.)

The young actor, famed for his "shy guy" roles, hit the mental skids soon after Actress Jennifer Jones divorced him in 1945. They had wed in 1939 and practically starved together before both hit fame—and unhappiness—at about the same time.

Ten days after she was signed to play the title role in "Song Of Bernadette" Walker was cast as one of the leads in "Bataan."

Two weeks after Miss Jones won the Academy Award, for her performance as the French girl saint, she divorced Walker and eventually married David O. Selznick, the producer who had made her a star.

Then Walker become a tragic Hollywood figure, often arrested for drunken driving or fighting with police. He married Barbara Ford, young daughter of Director John Ford, in 1948. They separated in one month and were divorced six months later.

Peskin's Will Open New Fashion Center Tonight

Cumberland's newest fashion center for women will be opened to the public for the first time tonight at Peskin's ,145 Baltimore Street, between the hours of 7 to 9.

The center is located on the second floor of Peskin's and has been designated as the "Fashion Floor." The floor has been undergoing extensive renovation and modernization in recent weeks.

The huge room has been redecorated in gray oak and laid out in a three semi-circle design. Color schemes of coral, chartreuse and turquoise add to the beauty and fashionable appearance of the center.

All modern fixtures have been installed. Display racks, easily accessible and well-lighted line the walls. Where merchandise is required to be enclosed, sliding glass panels are employed to make articles readily accessible to clerks or for inspection of customers. Small stages are also provided for model displays.

The room is carpeted wall to wall in gray. Spot and streamlined lights mark displays and spacious "daylight" fitting rooms are provided, and the entire floor has been soundproofed.

Women can fill all their dress needs at the new center with the exception of hats, store officials said. Foremost designers have assisted in bringing to all women of the Cumberland area fashionable and better merchandise.

Women can find coats, suits, street, party and formal dresses, blouses, sweaters and skirts (combination, mix match and mates) in addition to lingerie.

Peskin's officials said more personnel will be added with the opening of the fashion center.

Registration Gear Arrives

Part of the permanent vote registration equipment arrived at City Hall yesterday.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery who will be in charge of registration said all of the equipment would be on hand by September 15.

Ullery said he will announce later when the city is ready to begin registering eligible voters.

Included in the shipment was part of the visible index file for master cards which will keep records at City Hall. Tables for these files were also included. Canvas carrying cases for binders—which house records going to the polls—came in the shipment.

Visible index cards will contain information concerning a voter's eligibility—his name, age, address, term of residence in precinct, city, county and state.

Ullery said the public would be fully informed when the registration will begin including instructions on who must register.

The permanent vote registration plan was authorized for the city during the last session of the General Assembly.

Crabtree Gets Jail Sentence

A one-year sentence to the House of Correction was handed Eugene Crabtree of eastern Allegany County when he pleaded guilty to a theft charge yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Crabtree admited taking two used tires valued at $25 from Carl Crabtree. A charge of receiving stolen goods had been lodged against the defendant's brother, James Randolph Crabtree, but the charge was dismissed.

James Crabtree is listed on the docket as having been convicted in the past week on two counts of larceny of auto parts. He was given a six month suspended term in the House of Correction providing he make restitution and obtain employment and support his family.

Earlier this month, he was given a suspended $100 fine for operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked.

In other Trial Magistrates Court action Magistrate William J. Gunter found Joseph P. Waddell, of Willowbrook Road, not guilty on a charge of hunting squirrels out of season. The charge was preferred by District Game Warden Joseph A. Minke.

China Reds Bare Loan Swindle

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Communists have unearthed a big farm loan swindle in their South China province of Kwangtung.

The Canton newspaper, mouthpiece of the party, the Nan Fang Jih Pao, estimated 40 billion Chinese Red dollars, about $2,000,000 U. S., went down the drain.

The newspaper, in a remarkable confession of Communist failure, accused some Red administrators of taking a cut from the loans. It said the farmers then frittered the money away.

The farmers were supposed to use the money for such things as seed, irrigation and flood control. When the harvests showed no increase the Communist authorities began an investigation.

What they uncovered in the way of "misappropriation, corruption, arbitrary allocation and embezzlement" sent off a dialectical howl that would be heard in Peiping.

The investigators found the loan money was "used as capital to smuggle salt," to pay grain taxes, to build new homes, and even pay wedding expenses.

Some farmers "squandered loans in gambling," Nan Fang Jih Pao complained. One borrower "opened a wineshop" and forgot all about seeding, fertilizing and irrigating his farm.

Calliope is the Greek word for "musical voice."

There are more worker bees than any other kind.

Women can fill all their dress needs at the new center with the exception of hats, store officials said. Foremost designers have assisted in bringing to all women of the Cumberland area fashionable and better merchandise.

Women can find coats, suits, street, party and formal dresses, blouses, sweaters and skirts (combination, mix match and mates) in addition to lingerie.

Peskin's officials said more personnel will be added with the opening of the fashion center.

Registration Gear Arrives

Part of the permanent vote registration equipment arrived at City Hall yesterday.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery who will be in charge of registration said all of the equipment would be on hand by September 15.

Ullery said he will announce later when the city is ready to begin registering eligible voters.

Included in the shipment was part of the visible index file for master cards which will keep records at City Hall. Tables for these files were also included. Canvas carrying cases for binders—which house records going to the polls—came in the shipment.

Visible index cards will contain information concerning a voter's eligibility—his name, age, address, term of residence in precinct, city, county and state.

Ullery said the public would be fully informed when the registration will begin including instructions on who must register.

The permanent vote registration plan was authorized for the city during the last session of the General Assembly.

Crabtree Gets Jail Sentence

A one-year sentence to the House of Correction was handed Eugene Crabtree of eastern Allegany County when he pleaded guilty to a theft charge yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Crabtree admited taking two used tires valued at $25 from Carl Crabtree. A charge of receiving stolen goods had been lodged against the defendant's brother, James Randolph Crabtree, but the charge was dismissed.

James Crabtree is listed on the docket as having been convicted in the past week on two counts of larceny of auto parts. He was given a six month suspended term in the House of Correction providing he make restitution and obtain employment and support his family.

Earlier this month, he was given a suspended $100 fine for operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked.

In other Trial Magistrates Court action Magistrate William J. Gunter found Joseph P. Waddell, of Willowbrook Road, not guilty on a charge of hunting squirrels out of season. The charge was preferred by District Game Warden Joseph A. Minke.

China Reds Bare Loan Swindle

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Communists have unearthed a big farm loan swindle in their South China province of Kwangtung.

The Canton newspaper, mouthpiece of the party, the Nan Fang Jih Pao, estimated 40 billion Chinese Red dollars, about $2,000,000 U. S., went down the drain.

The newspaper, in a remarkable confession of Communist failure, accused some Red administrators of taking a cut from the loans. It said the, farmers then frittered the money away.

The farmers were supposed to use the money for such things as seed, irrigation and flood control. When the harvests showed no increase the Communist authorities began an investigation.

What they uncovered in the way of "misappropriation, corruption, arbitrary allocation and embezzlement" sent off a dialectical howl that would be heard in Peiping.

The investigators found the loan money was "used as capital to smuggle salt," to pay grain taxes, to build new homes, and even pay wedding expenses.

Some farmers "squandered loans in gambling," Nan Fang Jih Pao complained. One borrower "opened a wineshop" and forgot all about seeding, fertilizing and irrigating his farm.

Calliope is the Greek word for "musical voice."

There are more worker bees than any other kind.

Slaying Of Hagerstown Waitress Five Years Ago Remains Mystery

By HARRY WARNER, Jr.

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — (AP) — Western Maryland's most baffling murder mystery in many years appears no closer to solution. The latest clue has fizzled.

Betty Jane Kennedy, an attractive 24-year-old brunette, was found dead on an April morning in 1946. More than five years later, law enforcement officers of Maryland and Pennsylvania still are trying to establish the identity of the killer, the motive, and the scene of the crime.

The latest clue wasn't very definite. The eagerness with which the public and the law seized it was proof of the interest the case still arouses. Workmen who are making alterations at a local hotel reported seeing a red dress stuffed behind a water tank while they were demolishing the building. Betty Jane wore a red dress the last time she was seen alive.

Prisoners at the Washington County Jail were set to work sifting every ounce of rubbish from the building. The red dress, if it existed, wasn't found.

One of the many conflicting theories — or legends — about the murder is that Betty Jane was strangled in a Hagerstown hotel and her body lowered from a rear window on a rope.

But a woman at Beartown, Pa., gave authorities a vivid description of seeing the girl choked at her home. Police discounted the story. The woman since has died.

Still another legend is that a Hagerstown man with a criminal record admitted the slaying on his deathbed.

If the authorities still are working on any of these theories, they aren't saying anything about it.

The established facts in the case are:

Betty Jane was widely known in Hagerstown and its vicinity. She worked as a waitress at many of the most popular eating places around here. She had a scar above one eye from a childhood accident. Anyone who saw her remembered the scar.

On the morning of April 5, 1946, Martin Benchoff, a farmer, found her body lying beside the road as he was driving along the Buchanan Trail, a road east of Rouzerville, Pa., near the Maryland state line. She had been strangled. The body was clothed only in a slip. Her coat hung on a nearby sapling. Marks on the ground indicated she had been alive when thrown from a passing car.

Police questioned the men with whom she had been friendly. Attention turned for a time to Camp Ritchie, only a couple of miles away. Hundreds of soldiers were stationed there at the time, the Army using the camp as a training center for its counter-intelligence agents.

Investigators have lost track of the thousands of hours they have spent on the case. But they haven't given up.

Army Tries Out 'Flying Saucers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here come the flying saucers again.

The Army announced today that it's trying out a new, junior sized model—about two feet across and weighing five pounds.

There's nothing scary about them, though, unless one hits you. They're intended to be filled with water, gasoline or other liquids and dropped from aircraft to supply troops in the field.

The Quartermaster Corps described this new what-is-it as "a disc-shaped container made of synthetic rubber." When filled, the announcement said, the five-gallon container "looks like an inflated pancake," with a flat rim running around its outside edge.

These overstuffed pancakes are dropped without benefit of parachute. So far, from altitudes of 400 to 2,000 feet, they have delivered their contents without bursting or spilling.

When they hit the ground, the army said, they stretch to almost double their normal size, bound back into the air and then settle down near the point of contact.

Tests have shown that the container may be dropped many times without damage. The Quartermaster Corps developed it in cooperation with the General Tire and Rubber Co.

$42,500 Involved In Property Sales

Five property transactions involving a total of about $42,500 were recorded in deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Ewing J. Dicken and Inez E. Dicken sold property at 712 Glenmore Street to Lucy A. Clancey and Gertrude C. Clancey for about $12,000, according to one of the deeds. David R. Hamilton and Evelyn K. Hamilton sold 33.8 acres between the B & O right-of-way and Potomac River, three miles northeast of McCoole, to the Harman Whetsell Company for about $10,000.

The Maryland Coal and Realty Company transferred ownership of property on the southside of Wood Street in Frostburg to Lloyd M. Marshall and Jane R. Marshall for about $9,000. Annie L. Reith sold property on the north side of Emily Street, near Maryland Avenue, to Ellis H. Llewellyn and Evelyn V. Llewellyn for about $6,500.

Willard L. Bradour and Ellen June Bradour sold property in Oldtown to John L. Nixon and Vera B. Nixon for about $5,000.

Grid And Cage Rules Clinic To Open Here Tomorrow

Sessions Set For Fort Hill At 10 O'Clock

Chicago Director To Head Meeting Ending Saturday

The first basketball and football rules interpretation clinic to be conducted by H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, Chicago, in Maryland will get underway tomorrow at 10 a. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Arthur G. Ramey, physical director of Allegany County Board of Education, will preside at the two-day session which will conclude Saturday morning. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, will give the address of welcome and relate Allegany County public schools' policies on athletics.

Porter To Interpret Rules

Porter will discuss changes in the 1951 football rules and will give an interpretation of the rules and changes, Ramey said yesterday. The Chicago director is one of the best informed and most versed men in the country on football and basketball rules and regulations and their meanings, Ramey added.

Accompanying Porter from Chicago will be A. A. Schabinger, director of Official Sports Film Service of Chicago, who will present two technicolor films at the clinic. The first is Modern Football and the second Basketball Today. The football film will be shown at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow with an open forum on rules conducted by Porter following the showing of the picture. The cage film will be presented at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening with discussions following, Ramey related.

Area coaches of football and basketball have been named to advisory panels for the discussion periods, Ramey continued. William P. Hahn, Fort Hill High School; Robert E. Pence, Allegany High School; and Joseph Hoopengardner, Beall High School, Frostburg, are on the grid panel. Walter L. Bowers, Allegany; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; and John G. Thomas, Barton High School are the cage consultants.

Films Widely Used

The new motion pictures in the clinic have been widely used in rules training programs, Ramey explained, and "in addition to providing a good grounding in rules the pictures carry enough of a story to hold interest and create a better appreciation of a well administered football and basketball game."

Invitations have been forwarded to coaches and officials of high schools in all Maryland counties as well as nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia schools, Ramey went on, and indications are the clinic will be well attended.

The clinic will also be open to Sunday School League, independent and other managers, coaches and players in the area as well as the general public, Ramey indicated.

CCC Golfers Easily Defeat Uniontown Team

Locals Even Series With 23½-3½ Verdict

The Cumberland Country Club's men's golf team evened their series with Uniontown, Pa., golf team and also their season's record yesterday by turning back the Pennsylvanians 23½ to 3½ in a match on the Cumberland golf course.

The Cumberland team has now won four team matches and lost the same number and a rubber decision between Uniontown and Cumberland is tentatively set for Somerset Country Club golf course later this year.

The locals captured eight of nine foursomes with only Paul Fletcher and C. H. Griggs losing to the opponents. Pro Carroll Boggs posted the low score for the day with a 66 while visitor Tom Wagner had a 72.

Special prizes were awarded Dr. J. K. Rozum of Cumberland team and J. Rigg of Uniontown on the first hole and Dick Zembower of the home team and J. W. Winning of Uniontown on the 10th hole. The awards were made for drives nearest the pin on these two holes. The scores:

Sheetz Hurls 6th Straight Shutout Win

Eagles Defeat Outdoor Club 6-0

Allan Sheetz, bellwether of the Eagles Rocking Chair Softball League team mound staff, continued his amazing clutch pitching in the playoffs yesterday by tossing a one-hitter and defeating the Outdoor Club 6-0 for his sixth straight shutout victory.

The verdict moved the Eagles into the finals of the RCL playoffs where they will meet the winner of the Elks-Moose series.

Sheetz blanked the Outdoor Club 7-0 in Monday's opener of the best-of-three series with five hits. He closed the regular season with four consecutive blanking efforts and has compiled a total of 46 straight scoreless innings pitched.

The stellar performance is a continuation of his hurling which highlighted last year's playoffs which the Eagles won with four straight victories over the Outdoor Club and Elks. Sheetz tossed four shutouts in that playoff.

Chub Aman's scratch single through the box in the 4th was the only bingle allowed by Sheetz yesterday at Stitcher Field as the righthander faced only 23 men in seven innings. He walked one and and outfield error put another man on base but a double play erased one base runner.

Lou Riehl's three-bagger and single and two runs batted in paced the winners at the plate. Pete Elliott singled in three runs and Doyle George collected a double in the seven-hit attack. The score:

Kid Gavilan Wins Nod Over Billy Graham

Welterweight Champ Gets Split Verdict

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(INS)—Kid Gavilan weathered a terrific finish by Irish Billy Graham tonight to successfully defend his world welterweight championship with an unpopular 15-round split decision.

It was so close that—for the third time in as many meetings between the two gamesters—the decision wavered in doubt, until Referee Mark Conn's card gave it to the sleek Cuban on points.

The crowd of 8,137 protested the verdict for a vociferous five minutes after Gavilan's hand was raised.

The keed, looking extraordinarily sharp, waded through the first five rounds without turning a hair on his slicked down head.

Graham, the 13 to 5 underdog who was expected to wilt in the long 15-round haul, came back with a spirited and beautiful boxing exhibition that came within a shade of unfrocking Gavilan in his first defense.

Judge Frank Forbes thought Graham had won it. He scored the rounds all square, seven for each fighter and one even, but he gave the 28-year-old challenger from New York's East Side 11 points to 10 for Gavilan.

The other judge, Arthur Schwartz, returned a solid 9-to-6 verdict for Gavilan.

Conn, like Forbes, saw the rounds a toss-up. But he gave Gavilan 10 points to Graham's seven.

Talbert Easily Is Defeated By Gardner Mulloy

Cochell Quits In National Net Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—Billy Talbert couldn't hit a tennis ball through a hangar door and Earl Cochell couldn't keep his temper, and between the two they made a mess of the fifth day of the National Tennis championships.

Talbert, the 32-year-old New York City star, failed completely to give Frank Sedgman of Australia a battle in what had been anticipated as a fine fourth round match, going down by one-sided scores of 6-1, 6-1, 7-5 to the vast disappointment of 6,000 fans in the West Side Stadium.

Cochell, the Los Angeles redhead who had gained some overnight fame by upsetting British champion Tony Mottram, became so occupied with a vendetta against the crown that he forgot about playing tennis and went down to Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

The easy victories played Sedgman and Mulloy in the quarter-finals.

Three other stars won third round matches on outside courts to catch up with the field. Defending Champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 6-2, 6-3, 6-4, Ken McGregor of Australia eliminated Pablo Eisenberg of Maplewood, N. J., 6-3, 8-6, 6-1, and Mervyn Rose of Australia ousted Dick Sorlien of Wynnewood, Pa., 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Dorris Hart, of Miami, overwhelming favorite to win the women's title, turned back Mrs. Marjorie Buck, veteran from Manchester-By-The Sea, Mass., 6-2, 6-1.

Playing in the same lower bracket, little Maureen Connolly of San Diego eliminated Althea Gibson, the tall negro girl, 6-2, 6-4.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, playing in the day's closing match in the stadium, joined Mulloy and Sedgman in the quarter-finals by defeating little Henri Rochon of Canada, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1, 6-1. Trabert and Sedgman will clash in the next round on Friday.

Foley Hurls No-Hit Game

Lock Lynn Defeats Bittinger, 1 To 0

Big John Foley hurled a no-hit, no-run game Sunday as Loch Lynn edged Bittinger 1-0 in a neat pitching duel with Ken Buckel in the Mountain Top Baseball League. The winning run was scored in the ninth.

Foley faced 28 batsmen with only one man reaching first on a bad throw by the third baseman. He struck out 13 and failed to issue a single base on balls.

Boots Wolfe singled to open the winning frame for Lock Lynn and June Paul was hit by a pitched ball. Both advanced on an infield out. Wolfe was thrown out at the plate on Walt Davy's attempted squeeze bunt with Paul taking third from where he scored on Odell Warnick's infield single. The score:

Babb's Win Forfeit

Babb's Motors won a forfeit victory over Bennett's Transfer in their second Rec League playoff game when the umpires awarded the victory to the former because of bench jockeying by Bennett's. Bennett's led 8-7 in the final inning at the time and the team had been warned repeatedly by the arbiters to halt their tactics, before they finally cleared the bench and awarded the forfeit verdict.

Grid And Cage Rules Clinic To Open Here Tomorrow

Chicago Director To Head Meeting Ending Saturday

The first basketball and football rules interpretation clinic to be conducted by H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, Chicago, in Maryland will get underway tomorrow at 10 a. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Arthur G. Ramey, physical director of Allegany County Board of Education, will preside at the two-day session which will conclude Saturday morning. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, will give the address of welcome and relate Allegany County public schools' policies on athletics.

Porter To Interpret Rules

Porter will discuss changes in the 1951 football rules and will give an interpretation of the rules and changes, Ramey said yesterday. The Chicago director is one of the best informed and most versed men in the country on football and basketball rules and regulations and their meanings, Ramey added.

Accompanying Porter from Chicago will be A. A. Schabinger, director of Official Sports Film Service of Chicago, who will present two technicolor films at the clinic. The first is Modern Football and the second Basketball Today. The football film will be shown at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow with an open forum on rules conducted by Porter following the showing of the picture. The cage film will be presented at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening with discussions following, Ramey related.

Area coaches of football and basketball have been named to advisory panels for the discussion periods, Ramey continued. William P. Hahn, Fort Hill High School; Robert E. Pence, Allegany High School; and Joseph Hoopengardner, Beall High School, Frostburg, are on the grid panel. Walter L. Bowers, Allegany; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; and John G. Thomas, Barton High School are the cage consultants.

Films Widely Used

The new motion pictures in the clinic have been widely used in rules training programs, Ramey explained, and "in addition to providing a good grounding in rules the pictures carry enough of a story to hold interest and create a better appreciation of a well administered football and basketball game."

Invitations have been forwarded to coaches and officials of high schools in all Maryland counties as well as nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia schools, Ramey went on, and indications are the clinic will be well attended.

The clinic will also be open to Sunday School League, independent and other managers, coaches and players in the area as well as the general public, Ramey indicated.

Sheetz Hurls 6th Straight Shutout Win

Eagles Defeat Outdoor Club 6-0

Allan Sheetz, bellwether of the Eagles Rocking Chair Softball League team mound staff, continued his amazing clutch pitching in the playoffs yesterday by tossing a one-hitter and defeating the Outdoor Club 6-0 for his sixth straight shutout victory.

The verdict moved the Eagles into the finals of the RCL playoffs where they will meet the winner of the Elks-Moose series.

Sheetz blanked the Outdoor Club 7-0 in Monday's opener of the best-of-three series with five hits. He closed the regular season with four consecutive blanking efforts and has compiled a total of 46 straight scoreless innings pitched.

The stellar performance is a continuation of his hurling which highlighted last year's playoffs which the Eagles won with four straight victories over the Outdoor Club and Elks. Sheetz tossed four shutouts in that playoff.

Chub Aman's scratch single through the box in the 4th was the only bingle allowed by Sheetz yesterday at Stitcher Field as the righthander faced only 23 men in seven innings. He walked one and and outfield error put another man on base but a double play erased one base runner.

Lou Riehl's three-bagger and single and two runs batted in paced the winners at the plate. Pete Elliott singled in three runs and Doyle George collected a double in the seven-hit attack. The score:

Kid Gavilan Wins Nod Over Billy Graham

Welterweight Champ Gets Split Verdict

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(INS)—Kid Gavilan weathered a terrific finish by Irish Billy Graham tonight to successfully defend his world welterweight championship with an unpopular 15-round split decision.

It was so close that—for the third time in as many meetings between the two gamesters—the decision wavered in doubt, until Referee Mark Conn's card gave it to the sleek Cuban on points.

The crowd of 8,137 protested the verdict for a vociferous five minutes after Gavilan's hand was raised.

The keed, looking extraordinarily sharp, waded through the first five rounds without turning a hair on his slicked down head.

Graham, the 13 to 5 underdog who was expected to wilt in the long 15-round haul, came back with a spirited and beautiful boxing exhibition that came within a shade of unfrocking Gavilan in his first defense.

Judge Frank Forbes thought Graham had won it. He scored the rounds all square, seven for each fighter and one even, but he gave the 28-year-old challenger from New York's East Side 11 points to 10 for Gavilan.

The other judge, Arthur Schwartz, returned a solid 9-to-6 verdict for Gavilan.

Conn, like Forbes, saw the rounds a toss-up. But he gave Gavilan 10 points to Graham's seven.

Talbert Easily Is Defeated By Gardner Mulloy

Cochell Quits In National Net Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—Billy Talbert couldn't hit a tennis ball through a hangar door and Earl Cochell couldn't keep his temper, and between the two they made a mess of the fifth day of the National Tennis championships.

Talbert, the 32-year-old New York City star, failed completely to give Frank Sedgman of Australia a battle in what had been anticipated as a fine fourth round match, going down by one-sided scores of 6-1, 6-1, 7-5 to the vast disappointment of 6,000 fans in the West Side Stadium.

Cochell, the Los Angeles redhead who had gained some overnight fame by upsetting British champion Tony Mottram, became so occupied with a vendetta against the crown that he forgot about playing tennis and went down to Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

The easy victories played Sedgman and Mulloy in the quarter-finals.

Three other stars won third round matches on outside courts to catch up with the field. Defending Champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 6-2, 6-3, 6.4, Ken McGregor of Australia eliminated Pablo Eisenberg of Maplewood, N. J., 6-3, 8-6, 6-1, and Mervyn Rose of Australia ousted Dick Sorlien of Wynnewood, Pa., 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Dorris Hart, of Miami, overwhelming favorite to win the women's title, turned back Mrs. Marjorie Buck, veteran from Manchester-By-The Sea, Mass., 6-2, 6-1.

Playing in the same lower bracket, little Maureen Connolly of San Diego eliminated Althea Gibson, the tall negro girl, 6-2, 6.4.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, playing in the day's closing match in the stadium, joined Mulloy and Sedgman in the quarter-finals by defeating little Henri Rochon of Canada, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1, 6-1. Trabert and Sedgman will clash in the next round on Friday.

Foley Hurls No-Hit Game

Lock Lynn Defeats Bittinger, 1 To 0

Big John Foley hurled a no-hit, no-run game Sunday as Loch Lynn edged Bittinger 1-0 in a neat pitching duel with Ken Buckel in the Mountain Top Baseball League. The winning run was scored in the ninth.

Foley faced 28 batsmen with only one man reaching first on a bad throw by the third baseman. He struck out 13 and failed to issue a single base on balls.

Boots Wolfe singled to open the winning frame for Lock Lynn and June Paul was hit by a pitched ball. Both advanced on an infield out. Wolfe was thrown out at the plate on Walt Davy's attempted squeeze bunt with Paul taking third from where he scored on Odell Warnick's infield single. The score:

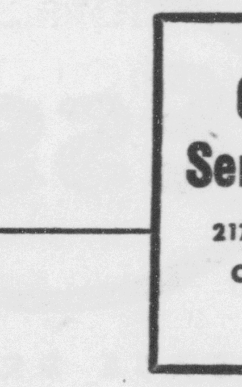
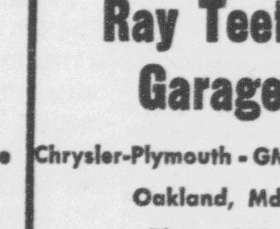
Remember . . . there is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire!

ORDINARY TUBE HAS ONLY 1 AIR CHAMBER



When a tire with an ordinary tube blows out, the single air compartment suddenly collapses — the wheel drops instantly, usually throwing the car out of control.

LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBE HAS 2 AIR CHAMBERS



When a tire with LifeGuard blows out, only the outer chamber gives way. The reserve cord fabric inner tire supports car — deflates slowly. You have ample time to bring car to safe, straightline stop.

Protect YOURSELF Against BLOWOUT ACCIDENTS!
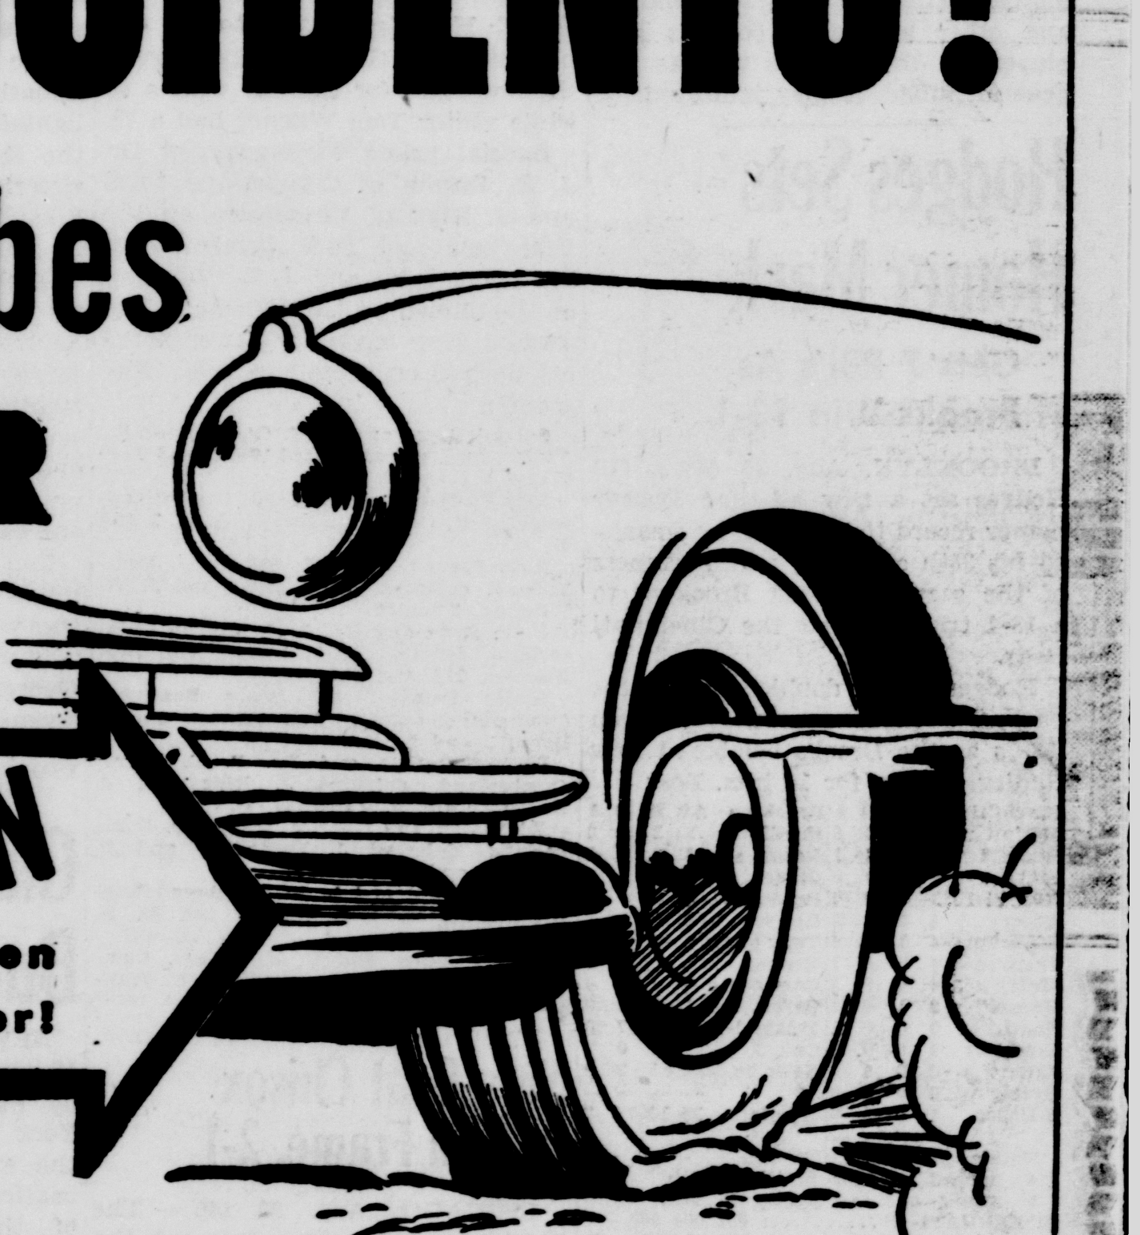
LifeGuard Safety Tubes
by GOODYEAR
Make Blowouts Harmless
DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN
When a blowout occurs — it's the sudden drop of the wheel that may cause disaster!



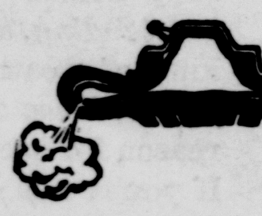
LifeGuards ARE SAFE
You can put LifeGuard Safety Tubes in your present tires whether they're new or used . . . are recapped or still have original treads . . . and drive with your mind free from fear of blowout accidents.

LifeGuards ARE SURE
LifeGuard Safety Tubes are still the best blowout-accident protection that you can buy for your car today. There is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire but LifeGuards make any blowout as harmless as a slow leak.

They're ECONOMICAL, too
LifeGuard Safety Tubes will usually outlast at least three sets of the same size tires besides helping you to get the last mile from your tires with safety. Proved blowout-accident protection for over 16 years.

Remember . . . there is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire!

ORDINARY TUBE HAS ONLY 1 AIR CHAMBER



When a tire with an ordinary tube blows out, the single air compartment suddenly collapses — the wheel drops instantly; usually throwing the car out of control.

LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBE HAS 2 AIR CHAMBERS

When a tire with LifeGuard blows out, only the outer chamber gives way. The reserve cord fabric inner tire supports car — deflates slowly. You have ample time to bring car to safe, straightline stop.

College Faculty Pay Increases Get Approval

BALTTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—The State Board of Education today approved minimum salary boosts of $700 to $1,100 for instructors at Maryland's four teachers colleges, but it's not likely they will go into effect until next year.

The board said it would like to see the new scale go into effect next month at Salisbury, Towson, Frostburg and Bowie.

But Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, said it was very doubtful that the additional money could be obtained before the next session of the legislature.

Provision for the increases will be made in the 1952-53 budget, he said.

The board approved a $700 increase in the minimums for those holding bachelor's degrees. That boosts the minimum to $3,500 and the maximum $4,375 with an annual increment of $175 for five years.

Holders of master's degrees would get a $900 salary jump to a minimum of $4,500 and a maximum of $5,625. Increment boosts of $225 would carry over five years.

Teachers holding doctorates would receive $1,100 more a year, for a minimum of $5,500 and a maximum of $7,700 with the increment $275 for eight years.

The board aproved a new classification in the salary schedule for persons with a master's degree plus 30 hours of credits toward their doctorate. The minimum salary in this classification was set at $5,000.

Dr. Pullen said it would require $207,202 to inaugurate the new scale now. Teacher college faculty salaries have been appropriated for the coming year in the amount of $745,318. The new scale calls for an outlay of $952,520.

Dr. W. S. Overstreet, conference secretary of education, who spoke on "The Year Ahead in Christian Education," said Rally Day will be held September 9 and that "College Day" will be changed from May to September 16. He said the annual conference will be held in Charleston May 28 to June 1 as tentative dates. Camp Caesar will be held June 9 to 14.

Fred Oxendale, chairman conference Board of Evangelism, who spoke on "Our United Evangelistic Mission"; Rev. Linger spoke on, "Is Moorefield District Ready?" He said that "we must have an undergirding of prayer for our evangelistic mission".

William Dryfield, district president MYF, said the young people want to help; Mrs. Paul Naylor, district president WSCS, told of the women's part in the mission; Jason Wolford, district lay leader, told the men how they could help the women. Keyser Seeks Safety Measure

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mayor Charles J. Compton and City Council recently asked the State Road Commission for cooperation in providing a safety zone on South Main Street at the intersection of School Street.

At this point, students attending both elementary and high schools cross to the east side of South Main Street, but motorist traffic presents a hazardous condition.

Mayor Compton said yesterday he has not received any information from the commission since the matter was taken up, and is hopeful that action can be taken quickly as public schools open next Wednesday.

School boy and girl patrols will operate at the crossing, but traffic is heavy there under ordinary conditions and the mayor and council believes that if the road commission will mark the highway a hazardous condition might be eliminated.

But Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, said it was very doubtful that the additional money could be obtained before the next session of the legislature.

Provision for the increases will be made in the 1952-53 budget, he said.

The board approved a $700 increase in the minimums for those holding bachelor's degrees. That boosts the minimum to $3,500 and the maximum $4,375 with an annual increment of $175 for five years.

Holders of master's degrees would get a $900 salary jump to a minimum of $4,500 and a maximum of $5,625. Increment boosts of $225 would carry over five years.

Teachers holding doctorates would receive $1,100 more a year, for a minimum of $5,500 and a maximum of $7,700 with the increment $275 for eight years.

The board aproved a new classification in the salary schedule for persons with a master's degree plus 30 hours of credits toward their doctorate. The minimum salary in this classification was set at $5,000.

Dr. Pullen said it would require $207,202 to inaugurate the new scale now. Teacher college faculty salaries have been appropriated for the coming year in the amount of $745,318. The new scale calls for an outlay of $952,520.

Dr. W. S. Overstreet, conference secretary of education, who spoke on "The Year Ahead in Christian Education," said Rally Day will be held September 9 and that "College Day" will be changed from May to September 16. He said the annual conference will be held in Charleston May 28 to June 1 as tentative dates. Camp Caesar will be held June 9 to 14.

Fred Oxendale, chairman conference Board of Evangelism, who spoke on "Our United Evangelistic Mission"; Rev. Linger spoke on, "Is Moorefield District Ready?" He said that "we must have an undergirding of prayer for our evangelistic mission".

William Dryfield, district president MYF, said the young people want to help; Mrs. Paul Naylor, district president WSCS, told of the women's part in the mission; Jason Wolford, district lay leader, told the men how they could help the women. Keyser Seeks Safety Measure

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mayor Charles J. Compton and City Council recently asked the State Road Commission for cooperation in providing a safety zone on South Main Street at the intersection of School Street.

At this point, students attending both elementary and high schools cross to the east side of South Main Street, but motorist traffic presents a hazardous condition.

Mayor Compton said yesterday he has not received any information from the commission since the matter was taken up, and is hopeful that action can be taken quickly as public schools open next Wednesday.

School boy and girl patrols will operate at the crossing, but traffic is heavy there under ordinary conditions and the mayor and council believes that if the road commission will mark the highway a hazardous condition might be eliminated.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS
(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (INS)—Audie Murphy's first picture on his new contract with Universal-International should delight his heart. Most of the picture will be shot in Austin, Texas, his home state, where right now—Audie is deep in the "heart of."

Audie Murphy

'S'matter of fact our most decorated World War II hero is now a captain serving two months duty in the Texas National Guard.

Audie returns to Hollywood in mid-September to check into the picture—then returns with the Al Cohen unit to Austin. This suits young Murphy just fine because he can be near his wife, who is on the stork's list for March.

• — • — •

The next wonder singer to be sprung at MGM is 14-year-old Christine Wallas, who will be launched with the same care given Mario Lanza.

Perhaps more—because you and I won't be hearing the child with the unbelievably mature, rich contralto voice for two years! Already under contract to the studio, she will be coached and groomed and polished before being handed a full star role at the age of sixteen.

Someone who was present at Christine's audition before MGM executives tells me she has, at so young an age, the same magnetic vibrancy of the great Marian Anderson.

The Wallis girl, a native of Miami, came with her parents to California three years ago and is a student at Woodrow Wilson High.

• — • — •

Robert Mitchum, easy going Bob with his I-don't-care-much attitude, is the highest paid actor in the history of RKO. You don't think much of Mitch as being a tall money man, but there are few stars in pictures who command his weekly salary on his new contract.

How much? You'll never get the bosses to tell. But Bob's old deal was $4,000 weekly and the heist was a big one.

May I add—this isn't because everybody just happens to like Mitch. His pictures, including "His Kind Of Woman," jingle coin into the box office.

• — • — •

Lana Turner, tears streaming down her face, was in a huddle with her lawyer in a quiet booth in the cocktail lounge of the Bel-Air Hotel.

Don't let anyone tell you Lana isn't taking this trouble with Bob Topping hard. She has given a lot to hold their marriage together but, apparently it's over and ended.

Although Topping is reputedly a millionaire—his brothers seem well heeled from a tin plate fortune—Lana always kept up her part, financially, in their luxurious mode of living.

Hollywood in shorts:

Richard Widmark and Constance Smith buried the hatchet at the finale of their picture. Connie brought Richard a stuffed dove of peace and he brought her an olive branch.

Ron Randall, tired of a press agent's dream-up that he is an Australian actor, has kicked over the traces. "I was born in Santa Ana, Calif., and I want the world to know it!"

Dinah Shore's cut for seven days at the Chicago Theater was $22,000.

Dr. Ralph Bunche wired Harry Popkin after seeing "The Well" at a UN conference, "This is the finest motion picture ever made."

Russell Nype will skip all social dates until he finishes "Young Man In a Hurry." Whatever are the gals gonna do?

Judy Canova startling the lunchers at London's swank Savoy walking in arrayed in a kelly green cowgirl outfit—green from Stetson to boots. Among the Americans politely surprised by their countrywoman—Joan Fontaine and Elizabeth Taylor.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Commercial banking in the United States ranks second among the food industries in value of products.

The earth moves around the sun most rapidly in January.

County Unable To Accept Shale Gift

The County Commissioners were offered a gift the other day, but they were unable to accept.

Wade Wallizer, Green Ridge, told the board he was excavating on his farm for a barn foundation. He offered to give the board 465 cubic yards of shale for the county roads system.

He said the county would have to haul the shale away before the contractor started work on the foundation next week.

But J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, told Wallizer the county's equipment is tied up right now on its annual repair program. He thanked Wallizer anyway.

The State Roads Commission yesterday asked for bids on the resurfacing of a 0.75-mile stretch of McMullen Highway, US Route 220. The bids will be opened in the Baltimore office September 18.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (INS)—Audie Murphy's first picture on his new contract with Universal-International should delight his heart. Most of the picture will be shot in Austin, Texas, his home state, where right now—Audie is deep in the "heart of."

Audie Murphy

'S'matter of fact our most decorated World War II hero is now a captain serving two months duty in the Texas National Guard.

Audie returns to Hollywood in mid-September to check into the picture—then returns with the Al Cohen unit to Austin. This suits young Murphy just fine because he can be near his wife, who is on the stork's list for March.

• — • — •

The next wonder singer to be sprung at MGM is 14-year-old Christine Wallas, who will be launched with the same care given Mario Lanza.

Perhaps more—because you and I won't be hearing the child with the unbelievably mature, rich contralto voice for two years! Already under contract to the studio, she will be coached and groomed and polished before being handed a full star role at the age of sixteen.

Someone who was present at Christine's audition before MGM executives tells me she has, at so young an age, the same magnetic vibrancy of the great Marian Anderson.

The Wallis girl, a native of Miami, came with her parents to California three years ago and is a student at Woodrow Wilson High.

• — • — •

Robert Mitchum, easy going Bob with his I-don't-care-much attitude, is the highest paid actor in the history of RKO. You don't think much of Mitch as being a tall money man, but there are few stars in pictures who command his weekly salary on his new contract.

How much? You'll never get the bosses to tell. But Bob's old deal was $4,000 weekly and the heist was a big one.

May I add—this isn't because everybody just happens to like Mitch. His pictures, including "His Kind Of Woman," jingle coin into the box office.

• — • — •

Lana Turner, tears streaming down her face, was in a huddle with her lawyer in a quiet booth in the cocktail lounge of the Bel-Air Hotel.

Don't let anyone tell you Lana isn't taking this trouble with Bob Topping hard. She has given a lot to hold their marriage together but, apparently it's over and ended.

Although Topping is reputedly a millionaire—his brothers seem well heeled from a tin plate fortune—Lana always kept up her part, financially, in their luxurious mode of living.

Hollywood in shorts:

Richard Widmark and Constance Smith buried the hatchet at the finale of their picture. Connie brought Richard a stuffed dove of peace and he brought her an olive branch.

Ron Randall, tired of a press agent's dream-up that he is an Australian actor, has kicked over the traces. "I was born in Santa Ana, Calif., and I want the world to know it!"

Dinah Shore's cut for seven days at the Chicago Theater was $22,000.

Dr. Ralph Bunche wired Harry Popkin after seeing "The Well" at a UN conference, "This is the finest motion picture ever made."

Russell Nype will skip all social dates until he finishes "Young Man In a Hurry." Whatever are the gals gonna do?

Judy Canova startling the lunchers at London's swank Savoy walking in arrayed in a kelly green cowgirl outfit—green from Stetson to boots. Among the Americans politely surprised by their countrywoman—Joan Fontaine and Elizabeth Taylor.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Commercial banking in the United States ranks second among the food industries in value of products.

The earth moves around the sun most rapidly in January.

County Unable To Accept Shale Gift

The County Commissioners were offered a gift the other day, but they were unable to accept.

Wade Wallizer, Green Ridge, told the board he was excavating on his farm for a barn foundation. He offered to give the board 465 cubic yards of shale for the county roads system.

He said the county would have to haul the shale away before the contractor started work on the foundation next week.

But J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, told Wallizer the county's equipment is tied up right now on its annual repair program. He thanked Wallizer anyway.

Road Bids Asked

The State Roads Commission yesterday asked for bids on the resurfacing of a 0.75-mile stretch of McMullen Highway, US Route 220. The bids will be opened in the Baltimore office September 18.

A Column for Men

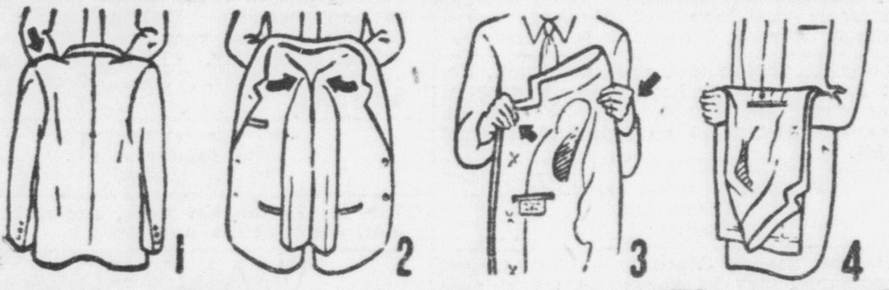
Tweed Season Is Coming

Wallace and Lewis Adopt Campus Favorites

FASHION: Myron Wallace and Robert Q. Lewis, television stalwarts, could pass for well-dressed undergraduates as they lunch in Chicago's Pump Room (above). The bold plaid worn by Wallace (left) and Bob's herringbone tweed are perennial campus favorites, which you'll be seeing again this fall.

Good Ideas: Don't feel abashed if someone catches you with your feet on the desk. Just tell 'em it's good for blood circulation to elevate the feet a couple of times a day. . . . A hair specialist points out that scalp is skin and should be kept as clean as the rest of your body. That calls for frequent shampooing.

Matching Wardrobe: Practicality is the keynote when buying clothes. Select things that mix and match. A blue suit and a gray suit provide four outfits. You can wear blue coat with gray pants and vice versa. The same is true for a brown suit and a tan one.



Clothes Care: Here are a few simple rules for folding your coat: 1. place your hands inside sleeves; 2. bring shoulders of the coat together and straighten sleeves; 3. turn coat inside out and bring lapels together; 4. fold coat over forearm and it's ready for packing.

Golf Tips: Many golfers spoil their game by using too many clubs. Try one round using only the following: spoon, 4-wood, 4-iron, wedge and putter.

On Posture: Look around and note how posture affects people's appearance. An erect carriage makes anyone more attractive; a bad posture spoils even a handsome person's looks. Check up on your own!

Odd Items: When having your picture snapped, say the word "cheese" just before the shutter is snapped. Camera-wise movie stars say that relaxes the expression. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—Dizzy Dean, whose running commentary on ball games may be ungrammatical but never dull.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO WAYS TO MAKE IT

BEMOANING his luck is a characteristic of the average declarer who barely fails to make his contract, which would have been easy if the cards of one or more suits had been more favorably located. Usually such an unhappy performer does not stop to analyze the situation with the benefit of accurate hindsight to see if there was some method which would have been wiser than the one he chose. If he does, he might even find two or more entirely different paths to success, one of which he should have pursued.

♣ A 9 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 NT

South felt terribly after muffing that contract. East put the 10 on the club 7 lead and the declarer won with the A. Next he tried for a favorable break of diamonds, which failed, then attempted the spade finesse, whereupon West won with the Q and beat him up with clubs just like any plug-ugly. He thought it was his hard luck, but he had two entirely different ways available to make the contract, both depending on letting East win the first club trick with the 10. The J would have been the probable return, and South then could put on his working clothes.

From the third trick, one way would be for South to score the heart A and K and diamond A, then throw West in with the club 9 to the Q. That defender could then score his club K and 8, but would have only spades left. His return would build the J as South's ninth trick. He would thus score one club, two hearts and three each in diamonds and spades.

The other way, after winning the second club, would be to toss West in at once with the club 9 to the Q. West could also score the club K and 8, then must lead something else. South having thrown from dummy two spades, a heart and a diamond on the clubs and from his own hand two hearts, is ready for anything. A spade return of course builds the J for the ninth trick. But a red card enables South to squeeze East.

Suppose it's a heart. The A wins, South discarding the spade 10. South leads the spade 9 to the A, then retaining the spade K-J and four diamonds, dummy the heart K-7-6 and diamond K-9-6. As the spade K is now led, the heart 6 being discarded from dummy, East must choose between his heart Q-J that would build the ninth trick in hearts for the dummy, or one of his diamonds from the J-10-8-2, setting up the ninth trick there. Whatever he does is wrong.

Can you conceive any order of play which would enable South to make 3-No Trumps on this deal, after West scores his club K?

A Column for Men

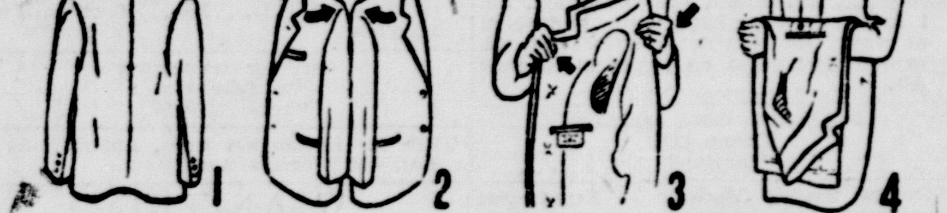
Tweed Season Is Coming

Wallace and Lewis Adopt Campus Favorites

FASHION: Myron Wallace and Robert Q. Lewis, television stalwarts, could pass for well-dressed undergraduates as they lunch in Chicago's Pump Room (above). The bold plaid worn by Wallace (left) and Bob's herringbone tweed are perennial campus favorites, which you'll be seeing again this fall.

Good Ideas: Don't feel abashed if someone catches you with your feet on the desk. Just tell 'em it's good for blood circulation to elevate the feet a couple of times a day. . . . A hair specialist points out that scalp is skin and should be kept as clean as the rest of your body. That calls for frequent shampooing.

Matching Wardrobe: Practicality is the keynote when buying clothes. Select things that mix and match. A blue suit and a gray suit provide four outfits. You can wear blue coat with gray pants and vice versa. The same is true for a brown suit and a tan one.



Clothes Care: Here are a few simple rules for folding your coat: 1. place your hands inside sleeves; 2. bring shoulders of the coat together and straighten sleeves; 3. turn coat inside out and bring lapels together; 4. fold coat over forearm and it's ready for packing.

Golf Tips: Many golfers spoil their game by using too many clubs. Try one round using only the following: spoon, 4-wood, 4-iron, wedge and putter.

On Posture: Look around and note how posture affects people's appearance. An erect carriage makes anyone more attractive; a bad posture spoils even a handsome person's looks. Check up on your own!

Odd Items: When having your picture snapped, say the word "cheese" just before the shutter is snapped. Camera-wise movie stars say that relaxes the expression. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—Dizzy Dean, whose running commentary on ball games may be ungrammatical but never dull.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO WAYS TO MAKE IT

BEMOANING his luck is a characteristic of the average declarer who barely fails to make his contract, which would have been easy if the cards of one or more suits had been more favorably located. Usually such an unhappy performer does not stop to analyze the situation with the benefit of accurate hindsight to see if there was some method which would have been wiser than the one he chose. If he does, he might even find two or more entirely different paths to success, one of which he should have pursued.

♣ A 9 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 NT

South felt terribly after muffing that contract. East put the 10 on the club 7 lead and the declarer won with the A. Next he tried for a favorable break of diamonds, which failed, then attempted the spade finesse, whereupon West won with the Q and beat him up with clubs just like any plug-ugly. He thought it was his hard luck, but he had two entirely different ways available to make the contract, both depending on letting East win the first club trick with the 10. The J would have been the probable return, and South then could put on his working clothes.

From the third trick, one way would be for South to score the heart A and K and diamond A, then throw West in with the club 9 to the Q. That defender could then score his club K and 8, but would have only spades left. His return would build the J as South's ninth trick. He would thus score one club, two hearts and three each in diamonds and spades.

The other way, after winning the second club, would be to toss West in at once with the club 9 to the Q. West could also score the club K and 8, then must lead something else. South having thrown from dummy two spades, a heart and a diamond on the clubs and from his own hand two hearts, is ready for anything. A spade return of course builds the J for the ninth trick. But a red card enables South to squeeze East.

Suppose it's a heart. The A wins, South discarding the spade 10. South leads the spade 9 to the A, then retaining the spade K-J and four diamonds, dummy the heart K-7-6 and diamond K-9-6. As the spade K is now led, the heart 6 being discarded from dummy, East must choose between his heart Q-J that would build the ninth trick in hearts for the dummy, or one of his diamonds from the J-10-8-2, setting up the ninth trick there. Whatever he does is wrong.

Can you conceive any order of play which would enable South to make 3-No Trumps on this deal, after West scores his club K?

Stock Prices Step Ahead In Burst Of Late Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Prices stepped ahead smartly on the stock market today in a burst of late trading.

The volume hit 1,510,000 shares, a hefty rise over yesterday's 1,270,000.

Advances numbered 646 issues out of 1,099 traded and declines totaled 209. There were 39 new highs for the year and seven issues dropped to new lows.

The Associated Press index rose nine-tenths of a point and stood at 96.9 while the industrials moved up 1.4 to a new 1951 high of 135.5. The rails advanced 1.1 and the utilities remained unchanged.

Railroad stocks, steels, coppers and low price issues led the gains.

The copper strike that has most of the strategic defense industry closed down had little effect on the market.

Copper Range advanced 2¼ at 33⅞, Phelps Dodge went up 1¼ at 66⅜, Anaconda rose a point at 47⅛ and Kennecott gained a fraction.

American Smelting showed a 4⅜ advance at 89¾. The vigorous upsurge had behind it the force of a dividend announcement and a very good earnings statement.

Santa Fe gained 2¼ at 78¾ and Atlantic Coast Line advanced 1¼ at 67¼. Canadian Pacific, which made a strong advance yesterday, rose another 1⅛ today at 31⅛. It was the most active issue of the day —39,500 shares.

New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio showed fractional gains.

Winchester Road Survey Begins

An engineering crew of the State Roads Commission is completing a survey of the Winchester Road from the Six Mile House on U. S. Route 40 to Cresaptown, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said the work is the first phase in the possible modernizing of the thoroughfare. He pointed out that traffic flow checks made of the road revealed 1,700 cars traversed it in a 16 hour period. The bulk of these cars were used by Celanese plant employes traveling to and from the Georges Creek section.

Much of the present roadbed could be utilized in any highway work, Chaires said. There will definitely be no construction done this year, he added. The road may be included in the SRC projects for the next building year, Chaires explained.

The present Winchester Road is narrow and curves and dips most of its three-mile length.

Chaires also said that center lines and other highway markings will probably be painted within the near future. The painting will be all white and reflector crystals will be sprinkled in the paint to provide greater vision.

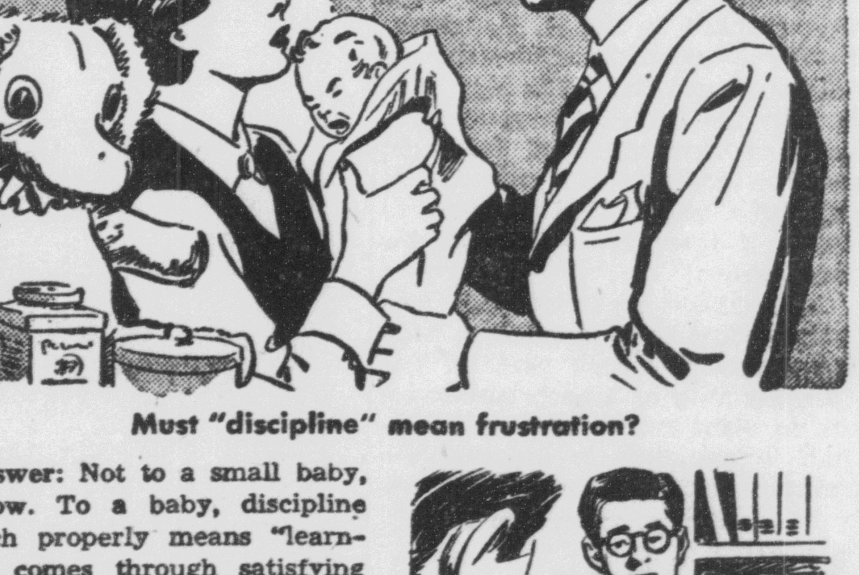
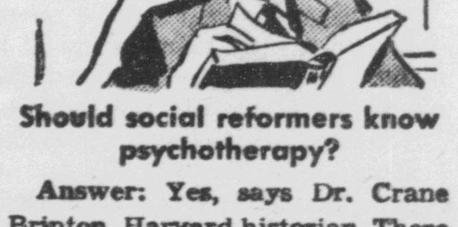
MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist



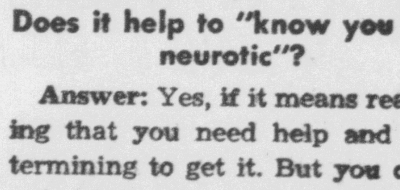
Must "discipline" mean frustration?

Answer: Not to a small baby, anyhow. To a baby, discipline (which properly means "learning") comes through satisfying his needs for security and pleasure, not through being frightened and frustrated. As Dr. James Clark Moloney, noted child psychiatrist, says: "A baby needs to get his discipline through satisfaction, not through frustration." Subjecting a baby to the rigid "training" once so widely advocated—especially feeding him on schedule and being afraid to "spoil" him—is unscientific because it ignores Nature, and creates many needless feeding, sleeping and elimination problems.



Should social reformers know psychotherapy?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Crane Brinton, Harvard historian. There has been too great a contrast between the way in which we have treated mentally-ill individuals and our method of attempting to remedy social evils, and reformers have too often been "idealists" who ignored everything that science has learned about human nature. To be effective, social reformers must be guided by the discoveries of psychology and psychiatry. This can come about through political administrators having psychological advisors, and through the popularization of psychological knowldege.



Does it help to "know you are neurotic"?

Answer: Yes, if it means realizing that you need help and determining to get it. But you cannot get over a neurosis by yourself, and it will not "wear off," so that calling yourself a neurotic and not doing anything about it has the same effect as any other form of self-denunciation—"remorse," for example. It substitutes punishing yourself for the admitted "weakness" of clinging to the childish and partly unconscious satisfactions your neurosis brings you for giving them up and seeking more adult ones. In general, the more hard names a person calls himself, the less real desire he has to be different.

Stock Prices Step Ahead In Burst Of Late Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Prices stepped ahead smartly on the stock market today in a burst of late trading.

The volume hit 1,510,000 shares, a hefty rise over yesterday's 1,270,000.

Advances numbered 646 issues out of 1,099 traded and declines totaled 209. There were 39 new highs for the year and seven issues dropped to new lows.

The Associated Press index rose nine-tenths of a point and stood at 96.9 while the industrials moved up 1.4 to a new 1951 high of 135.5. The rails advanced 1.1 and the utilities remained unchanged.

Railroad stocks, steels, coppers and low price issues led the gains.

The copper strike that has most of the strategic defense industry closed down had little effect on the market.

Copper Range advanced 2¼ at 33⅞, Phelps Dodge went up 1¼ at 66⅜, Anaconda rose a point at 47⅛ and Kennecott gained a fraction.

American Smelting showed a 4⅜ advance at 89¾. The vigorous upsurge had behind it the force of a dividend announcement and a very good earnings statement.

Santa Fe gained 2¼ at 78¾ and Atlantic Coast Line advanced 1¼ at 67¼. Canadian Pacific, which made a strong advance yesterday, rose another 1⅛ today at 31⅛. It was the most active issue of the day —39,500 shares.

New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio showed fractional gains.

Winchester Road Survey Begins

An engineering crew of the State Roads Commission is completing a survey of the Winchester Road from the Six Mile House on U. S. Route 40 to Cresaptown, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said the work is the first phase in the possible modernizing of the thoroughfare. He pointed out that traffic flow checks made of the road revealed 1,700 cars traversed it in a 16 hour period. The bulk of these cars were used by Celanese plant employes traveling to and from the Georges Creek section.

Much of the present roadbed could be utilized in any highway work, Chaires said. There will definitely be no construction done this year, he added. The road may be included in the SRC projects for the next building year, Chaires explained.

The present Winchester Road is narrow and curves and dips most of its three-mile length.

Chaires also said that center lines and other highway markings will probably be painted within the near future. The painting will be all white and reflector crystals will be sprinkled in the paint to provide greater vision.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Must "discipline" mean frustration?

Answer: Not to a small baby, anyhow. To a baby, discipline (which properly means "learning") comes through satisfying his needs for security and pleasure, not through being frightened and frustrated. As Dr. James Clark Moloney, noted child psychiatrist, says: "A baby needs to get his discipline through satisfaction, not through frustration." Subjecting a baby to the rigid "training" once so widely advocated—especially feeding him on schedule and being afraid to "spoil" him—is unscientific because it ignores Nature, and creates many needless feeding, sleeping and elimination problems.

Should social reformers know psychotherapy?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Crane Brinton, Harvard historian. There has been too great a contrast between the way in which we have treated mentally-ill individuals and our method of attempting to remedy social evils, and reformers have too often been "idealists" who ignored everything that science has learned about human nature. To be effective, social reformers must be guided by the discoveries of psychology and psychiatry. This can come about through political administrators having psychological advisors, and through the popularization of psychological knowldege.

Does it help to "know you are neurotic"?

Answer: Yes, if it means realizing that you need help and determining to get it. But you cannot get over a neurosis by yourself, and it will not "wear off," so that calling yourself a neurotic and not doing anything about it has the same effect as any other form of self-denunciation—"remorse," for example. It substitutes punishing yourself for the admitted "weakness" of clinging to the childish and partly unconscious satisfactions your neurosis brings you for giving them up and seeking more adult ones. In general, the more hard names a person calls himself, the less real desire he has to be different.

City Continues Efforts Toward Smoke Survey

Two Are Considered For Local Study

It is going to cost the City of Cumberland a pretty penny to secure an impartial survey of air pollution in this city.

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced yesterday that efforts to secure an outside expert to conduct the survey are continuing.

Two men are definitely being considered for the task, Mayor Post said, adding the survey is expected to cost in excess of $1,000.

Other sources have estimated it will cost at least double that amount.

Asks Prosecution

The decision to call in an impartial expert to survey the situation came three weeks ago after Charles Z. Heskett, chairman of the city's Smoke Control Advisory Board, declared the ordinance he wrote when city solicitor should be made more stringent and that the time has come to prosecute violators of the ordinance.

Enforcement of the ordinance has centered chiefly on efforts to rid the city of railroad and industrial air pollution, with good results achieved in the railroad phase, especially through the Dieselization program on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

In the planning stage for some time has been a series of meetings for owners of stationary boilers in the city similar to the Cumberland Terminal Meetings, where the railroad situation is discussed.

Criticizes Program

Chief critic of the operation of the present ordinance has been the West Side Improvement Association, which has complained of the "tons of dirt" falling daily on the West Side. The group says the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company is at fault.

Industrial leaders several months ago declared at a public meeting that the ordinance has been generally satisfactory and warned against more stringent rules for industrial smoke.

Labor organizations have been generally critical of the ordinance, asserting the effect has been to put men out of work through the speeding up of the Dieselization program.

Railroads, which have been switching to Diesels as fast as funds are available, say they just cannot afford to operate steam locomotives.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer for the city, said in a recent report to the Mayor and Council the present ordinance is adequate for the next five years.

Hitchcock, it is reported, has welcomed the proposal for a survey by an expert.

Stands On Record

The Smoke Abatement Department has submitted its record of average dustfall in the city as evidence in the dispute.

They show an average dustfall of 28.87 in 1949; 31.24 in 1950 and steadily decreasing dustfall readings this year, varying from 26.54 in January to 11.55 in May.

Hitchcock has said Cumberland this year may have the lowest dustfall reading of any city which has an air pollution ordinance.

WM Railroad Property Value In W. Va. Fixed

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Ernest A. See has entered an order in court here, fixing valuation of the Western Maryland Railway's West Virginia property for 1950 at $9,500,000.

The state has appealed the order.

The West Virginia Board of Public Works, which fixes tax valuation for public utilities in the state, had placed the Western Maryland Class III and IV properties at $11,000,000 for 1950. The company contended the valuation should have been $9,258,582.

The company appealed the Public Works Board valuation in Mineral County, where a large part of its property is located. The appeal, however, covered all property in the state.

In his order, filed earlier this month, Judge See said:

"It is the judgement of the court that the assessment for 1949, which was compromised at $9,500,000, was not far wrong. The value of Western Maryland property in West Virginia was for the year 1949 between $9,000,000 and $9,500,000, probably nearer to $9,000,000.

"However, the court is willing to fix the assessment for that year as correct."

Judge See said that any attempt to "work out a formula" in the case would "be a waste of time and energy."

In another part of his opinion, Judge See said:

"To compare this (West Virginia) portion of the Western Maryland Railway Company with such trunk lines as the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio is like comparing a modest six or nine-room house to a 15 to 25-room mansion."

State Officials Seek Figures On Yield Of Garrett Gas Tax

Revenue Estimated At Up To $280,000

The State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources has its eyes on the output of Garrett County gas wells.

Letters sent to Garrett County officials by Dr. Joseph T. Singlewald, Jr., director, asking data on the output, have gone unanswered, officials noted.

The General Assembly levied a tax of seven per cent of the selling price of the gas as it leaves the well. Fifteen per cent of the collections within an incorporated town goes to the town government. The first $50,000 each year goes to liquidate the county's public school building debt. The next $25,000 goes to Garrett Memorial Hospital and the balance, if any, is to be placed in a school building and repair fund.

The state wants to know just how much money the county is receiving, since the bill which set up the tax on gas production provided for no reduction in state aid.

The present set up means that richer political subdivisions will continue to be taxed for aid to Garrett County, despite its new revenue from gas wells.

It has been estimated that, on the basis of an estimated 44,000,000 cubic feet a day flow from 18 producing wells, the tax might produce about $280,000 a year, about half what property taxes brings in to the county.

Maryland Civil Air Patrol Will Go Oak Wilt Hunting

Maryland's Civil Air Patrol has begun preliminary work on the most unusual assignment it has ever had.

Its going oak wilt hunting.

Oak Wilt, a dangerous forest disease once its firmly established in an area, was found in Garrett County last month near the Savage River dam.

Seven trees, including red, chestnut and white oak, appeared to be inflicted in one location. Some of the trees had been killed two or three years ago and two red oaks died this year.

To stop the infection, foresters want to cut down all trees affected and those nearby. But to locate these means a drawn-out and backbreaking job on foot.

That's where the state's CAP will come in.

It will fly competent observers from the University of Maryland and the Department of State Forests and Parks over the 900 square miles of forests in the area to locate accurately the infected trees.

With this information, the ground parties can proceed directly to the areas where the oak wilt is prevalent and go to work.

"Operation Oak Wilt" is planned for the early part of September. At least 20 aircraft are expected to participate.

Not All Disease Of Oaks Is Wilt, Forester Says

Laboratory Test Is Suggested

Although the disease in a few oak trees in the Garrett County area near the Savage River dam has been determined as oak wilt, District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday urged owners of ailing oak trees to exercise caution before cutting down trees.

Johnson said it is practically impossible without laboratory tests to determine whether a disease is actually oak wilt or simply some other less harmful fungus that attacks oak trees.

Several Calls

Since it was reported over the weekend that samples collected near the Savage River dam have been termed oak wilt, Johnson has had a number of calls from persons who own diseased oak trees. He has been collecting samples which will be sent to College Park for analysis.

Johnson observed that the specialists who were in this area July 19 to collect samples from diseased trees determined that the trees in Green Ridge were being attacked by some other fungus but were not the victims of oak wilt.

Samples of diseased oak trees were checked by Dr. W. F. Jeffers, Botany Department, University of Maryland, and Dr. Curtis May, who is with the United States Department of Agriculture at Beltsville. Johnson advises that residents in this area might send samples to either of these two authorities for examination.

It has been suggested that material should be collected from wilting or recently dead parts of the tree. Six twig or branch specimens, six to eight inches long and one-half to one inch in diameter are satisfactory for laboratory diagnosis.

Weather

Yesterday was only a little miserable, with a high temperature of 89 degrees, an unhappy contrast with last week's temperate readings, but still better than the average August weather. The low was 61, and at 8 p. m. the mercury was down to 77. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 42 per cent. Today is expected to be cloudy and warm with scattered thundershowers this afternoon.

Tractor Company Abandons Plan To Locate Here

The Tiger Tractor Company located at Keyser, W. Va., has abandoned plans to locate in Cumberland. A spokesman for the firm said yesterday, additional floor space has been secured in the building now occupied at Keyser and the acquired space will be sufficient for a year or more.

The company dose not plan to leave Keyser, the spokesman added, but expects to construct its own building at a future date. The firm's business has increased in a normal manner and it has been able to keep up with orders with some stock on hand. The company is desirous of building up a stock sufficient to warrant sales over a wider area, the spokesman indicated.

CHURCH WORK PROGRESSES—Workmen are shown putting the finishing touches to the roof of the new Assembly of God Church on Cumberland Street. Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor, said the building, under construction since May, is expected to be finished by November. It will replace the present North Cumberland Assembly of God Church at Lee and Wallace streets, which the congregation has outgrown. The new building will seat about 700. Rev. Fratto said the congregation expects to sell the old building.

Mallard Enjoys Swim In Filth Of Wills Creek

Many Cumberlanders agree that nothing can kill a mallard.

Those who walked across the Baltimore Street Bridge yesterday and peered down at the black waters of Wills Creek were fascinated by the antics of a mallard, which seemed to be having the time of its life swimming about in the filth and under the water, emerging at unexpected points in the stream.

Judging from the odors coming from the water and its ominous color, most of the observers were surprised that anything could live in the water. One man who is somewhat an authority on the subject said that mallards, the wild cousins of ducks, have the ability to withstand most disease.

Some observers contended that the black waters in Wills Creek, near its mouth, actually was Potomac River water. They say that because of the lack of rain the river is so low that it is not flowing over the dam at the mouth of Wills Creek. This water then is violating a law of nature and is flowing up hill for a short distance into Wills Creek. The black color disappears not far upstream from the Baltimore Street bridge.

Appeal Taken On Overload Case Ruling

Driver Fined $1,038 By Local Magistrate

A Winchester, Va., trucker is appealing his conviction in Magistrate's Court under a ruling which makes a bridge part of a highway.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick, in line with a ruling by Attorney General Hall Hammond, fined a driver for the Ellicott Motor Lines of Winchester $1,038 for violation of a posted bridge weight limit.

The driver was arrested for driving a truck weighing 37,300 pounds over a Potomac River crossing posted for 20,000 pounds.

Magistrate Dick fined the driver at a new highway overweight penalty rate of six cents a pound.

The driver contended he should have been fined not more than $25 to $100, the penalty provision for exceeding posted bridge limits.

Hammond ruled that a bridge is part of a highway, that the new rate applied and that the old limits had been "repealed by implication."

Magistrate Dick announced that an appeal is being taken to Circuit Court.

Rain Soon May Save Portion Of County Crops

Precipitation Would Chiefly Aid Corn

August's unusually dry weather has hurt Allegany County farmers but a sizeable rain in the next few days will enable them to save much of their crops, County Agent R. F. McHenry said last night.

McHenry declined to estimate the loss county farmers have suffered, saying it would only be a rough approximation.

Rain Would Help

Rain would prove the biggest help to the corn crop, which is the county's chief agriculture product. Corn in the uplands already is firing, McHenry stated. Because of the shortage of rain corn has not been gaining the weight and size that normally would be expected by this time of the year. Most of this corn will be harvested in September.

The county agent also stressed that pasture land in the county is excessively dry. Here again, a heavy rain in a few days would work wonders. Pasture land and corn both recuperate speedily after rainfall.

Apples and peaches on the county's orchards are not sizing up because of the lack of moisture. Small fruit means more apples and peaches in each basket and consequently a lower yield.

Truck farmers who normally bring their miscellaneous vegetables to market in town have been hit hard by the dry weather. Especially affected, the county agent said, has been the tomato crop. Many other vegetables have "just dried up."

Sections Cited

Worst sufferers from the lack of precipitation have been the Upper Potomac area and the east end of the county, according to McHenry. Scattered showers have helped certain portions of the county. The

Filter Project Is Slated In Near Future

Plans Promised Within Few Weeks

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick reported yesterday that complete plans for the construction of six additional filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant should be available in about two weeks.

He said Robert A. Kidd, of the Robert Regester engineering firm, Baltimore, reported work on the plans is virtually complete and that plans will be ready for asking bids as soon as the material is assembled.

Will Increase Capacity

The creation of another 6,000,000 gallons a day filtering capacity at the dam is considered the most urgent work in the city's construction program. Commissioner Tederick and Mayor Thomas S. Post have been urging that the work be undertaken as soon as possible.

Mayor Post said yesterday that he hopes much of the work on the filters can be completed by the end of the year.

Cost of the new filters has been estimated at about $150,000.

Construction of the additional filters will not only relieve the strain on the existing filtration system but will allow the city to make repairs on present filters.

Kidd yesterday brought with him blueprints for the enlargement and modernization of the existing chemical plant at Lake Gordon.

Work Half Done

Work is being done by the maintenance staff of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

George M. Hitchcock, superintendent, said the plan will include additional equipment but that the present system will function until the new equipment is cut in.

He said the work is about half completed.

The equipment will include a 15-ton alum feeder, feeders for hydrated lime, soda ash or activated carbon and a one-ton container for wet feeding chlorine.

GETTING READY FOR SHOW—Four-year-old Mildred Faye Schoenadel doesn't have to be told to "pretty up" for tomorrow night's baby show at North End Playground. The contest, for children four years old or younger, will climax the playground's "Last Roundup," which began Tuesday. Mildred is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenadel of RFD 6, Cumberland. Parents may enter their children by phoning Mrs. Charles C. Wiant at 5083-J or Mrs. Ann G. Stein at 3705-R. About 90 children from all parts of the city have entered the contest.

Two Distress Drills Staged By Firemen

WM Shops, Bedford Road Are Targets

Seven area volunteer fire companies staged two surprise distress drills simultaneously last night at 7 o'clock in conjunction with the Allegany County Civil Defense Program.

The Western Maryland Railway Shops at Maryland Junction were target area No. one. Responding were firemen and apparatus from Short Gap, Wiley Ford and Ridgeley. The ambulance of Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company went to the scene in the event of an emergency. Firemen of the railway company also participated.

Local Companies Fill In

Cumberland Engine Company No. 3 filled in at Ridgeley and LaVale filled in at West Side as other companies in the area were alerted. Bedford Road was target area No. two with firemen from Bedford Road, Bowman's Addition and Baltimore Pike taking part.

Both drills, according to Assistant Chief Alvey Poole, liaison officer of the fire branch of the Civil Defense Program, met with much success. The companies taking part, Poole added, responded quickly and the drills were termed "satisfactory."

Fire Chief Layman of Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company alerted all companies in the George's Creek area to stand by for action in case of emergency. Joseph G. Wenrich, official observer for the fire branch of the Civil Defense Program, was at the scene of target area No. one.

Other Drills Successful

Similar drills have met with success at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Bolt and Forge, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. Purpose of the drills is to familiarize firemen with the areas which would possibly meet with enemy attack by air. The location of water supplies and other fire-fighting equipment at local industrial plants and transportation centers are noted by the firemen.

A meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County firemen who are participating in the defense program will meet September 19 at 8 p. m. at City Hall in Cumberland. Representatives from each area company are urged to attend.

Property Sold

Florence B. Savarese and Michael Savarese have sold property on the south side of Route 40, two miles west of Flintstone, to Bruce Robertson and Angela Robertson for about $8,000, according to a deed filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Hyndman To Fine Trainmen Who Block Town Crossings

Two Arrested For Exceeding Time Limit

Town officials of nearby Hyndman, Pa., said last night they will continue to "crack down" on train crews who block crossings for more than 10 minutes at a time.

Since the drive began in May two arrests have been made. One councilman said "more will follow until the practice has been broken up."

In May, a Baltimore and Ohio freight engineer who allowed his train to block the town's two crossings for about 45 minutes was hailed into court and fined $28.50.

Last week, a freight conductor who was responsible for a similar violation paid a $28.50 fine. Both crewmen were tried before Justice of the Peace Luman Evans. Chief of Police Paul Wise arrested both.

An ordinance which has been in force more than 40 years prohibits blocking of crossings for more than 10 minutes. It provides a fine of from $5 to $50 for offenders.

The B&O right-of-way through Hyndman has two crossings, one at Center Street, the other at Market. Center Street is the route of busy Highway 96, bypass for Route 30 and 40, through the town.

Councilmen said the B&O is the principal offender. The Pennsylvania, the only other railroad which serves Hyndman, crosses only Market Street and moves less traffic than the B&O.

Six months ago, after many local and out-of-town motorists had registered complaints about traffic congestion, Mayor Charles Bush called for a special Council meeting with the B&O's Pittsburgh Division officials.

A great improvement was noted after the meeting, but town officials said the railroad has become lax in recent months. They said the arrests however, have improved the situation considerably.

Until recently, the officials said, 35 and 40-minute tieups on both crossings were common.

Mayor Bush and two of the seven Council members are B&O employes. The Mayor is a freight conductor, Councilman John May is a fireman, and Councilman West (cq) Shipley is a car inspector.

Council C. T. Dwyer is a retired engineer and Councilman Thomas Smith is a retired conductor. The other three Council members are Robert Golden, Elwood Shaffer, and "Cap" Hire.

Guardsmen Will Move Into New Armory Soon

Frostburg Building Is Ready For Use

Frostburg National Guardsmen expect to move into their new armory sometime next month, according to Colonel Randolph Millholland, commander of the 115th Infantry Regiment.

Construction of the armory was completed about a year ago, but Millholland said sewage disposal facilities were not installed until recently.

A septic tank recently was hooked up to sewer lines, and a heating plant will be installed soon.

Since the structure was built with warehouse funds, no partitions have been built yet.

Millholland said the Guard expects to improve the building later. In the meantime, he said, it can still be "a very usable armory."

The Frostburg unit, Company D of Western Maryland's First Battalion, has been using the hall of St. Michael's Catholic Church as a temporary armory for the past three years.

Colonel Millholland said the unit found its quarters usable but cramped. tIs authorized strength is 167 officers and men. Captain Gerald E. Reeves is commanding officer.

Taxes Will Take Deep Bite Into City Wage Boost

"It looks as if we are just handling a little more money for the government."

That was the comment yesterday from a member of the City Hall staff after doing a little figuring on the effect of state and federal taxes on the $12 a month wage increase granted to city workers.

The present federal withholding schedule will take a $3.60 slice from the boost.

Another 24 cents must be deducted for State of Maryland income taxes.

The 11 per cent boost planned in federal income taxes, lowest figure now under consideration, would take another $5.21.

An increase slated in Blue Cross hospitalization fees would take another $1.05 of the increase each month, for total of $10.10.

Zoning Board Grants Permits

Three occupancy permits were approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals here last night.

Clyde L. Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, was granted permission to occupy 813 Cecil Street as site of a family home.

The one and one-half story home will be 30 by 29 feet, of frame construction and a stone front, on a 36 by 60 foot lot, with three foot side yards.

Earl C. Willett, 310 Washington Street, received permission to occupy a building at 130 South Lee Street as a one-chair barber shop.

Glenn Campbell, 18 Pennsylvania Avenue, received permission to use the rear of 18-20 Pennsylvania Avenue to build a garage and utility room.

City Continues Efforts Toward Smoke Survey

Two Are Considered For Local Study

It is going to cost the City of Cumberland a pretty penny to secure an impartial survey of air pollution in this city.

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced yesterday that efforts to secure an outside expert to conduct the survey are continuing.

Two men are definitely being considered for the task, Mayor Post said, adding the survey is expected to cost in excess of $1,000.

Other sources have estimated it will cost at least double that amount.

Asks Prosecution

The decision to call in an impartial expert to survey the situation came three weeks ago after Charles Z. Heskett, chairman of the city's Smoke Control Advisory Board, declared the ordinance he wrote when city solicitor should be made more stringent and that the time has come to prosecute violators of the ordinance.

Enforcement of the ordinance has centered chiefly on efforts to rid the city of railroad and industrial air pollution, with good results achieved in the railroad phase, especially through the Dieselization program on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

In the planning stage for some time has been a series of meetings for owners of stationary boilers in the city similar to the Cumberland Terminal Meetings, where the railroad situation is discussed.

Criticizes Program

Chief critic of the operation of the present ordinance has been the West Side Improvement Association, which has complained of the "tons of dirt" falling daily on the West Side. The group says the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company is at fault.

Industrial leaders several months ago declared at a public meeting that the ordinance has been generally satisfactory and warned against more stringent rules for industrial smoke.

Labor organizations have been generally critical of the ordinance, asserting the effect has been to put men out of work through the speeding up of the Dieselization program.

Railroads, which have been switching to Diesels as fast as funds are available, say they just cannot afford to operate steam locomotives.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer for the city, said in a recent report to the Mayor and Council the present ordinance is adequate for the next five years.

Hitchcock, it is reported, has welcomed the proposal for a survey by an expert.

Stands On Record

The Smoke Abatement Department has submitted its record of average dustfall in the city as evidence in the dispute.

They show an average dustfall of 28.87 in 1949; 31.24 in 1950 and steadily decreasing dustfall readings this year, varying from 26.54 in January to 11.55 in May.

Hitchcock has said Cumberland this year may have the lowest dustfall reading of any city which has an air pollution ordinance.

WM Railroad Property Value In W. Va. Fixed

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Ernest A. See has entered an order in court here, fixing valuation of the Western Maryland Railway's West Virginia property for 1950 at $9,500,000.

The state has appealed the order.

The West Virginia Board of Public Works, which fixes tax valuation for public utilities in the state, had placed the Western Maryland Class III and IV properties at $11,000,000 for 1950. The company contended the valuation should have been $9,258,582.

The company appealed the Public Works Board valuation in Mineral County, where a large part of its property is located. The appeal, however, covered all property in the state.

In his order, filed earlier this month, Judge See said:

"It is the judgement of the court that the assessment for 1949, which was compromised at $9,500,000, was not far wrong. The value of Western Maryland property in West Virginia was for the year 1949 between $9,000,000 and $9,500,000, probably nearer to $9,000,000.

"However, the court is willing to fix the assessment for that year as correct."

Judge See said that any attempt to "work out a formula" in the case would "be a waste of time and energy."

In another part of his opinion, Judge See said:

"To compare this (West Virginia) portion of the Western Maryland Railway Company with such trunk lines as the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio is like comparing a modest six or nine-room house to a 15 to 25-room mansion."

Firemen Extinguish Two Brush Fires

City firemen checked two brush fires yesterday afternoon. South End answered a call at 3:21 p. m. at the end of Gay Street in the Baltimore and Ohio Rolling Mill yards.

Central answered a call at 3:43 p. m. at rear of 25 Hawthorn Avenue. No damage was reported in either blaze.

State Officials Seek Figures On Yield Of Garrett Gas Tax

Revenue Estimated At Up To $280,000

The State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources has its eyes on the output of Garrett County gas wells.

Letters sent to Garrett County officials by Dr. Joseph T. Singlewald, Jr., director, asking data on the output, have gone unanswered, officials noted.

The General Assembly levied a tax of seven per cent of the selling price of the gas as it leaves the well. Fifteen per cent of the collections within an incorporated town goes to the town government. The first $50,000 each year goes to liquidate the county's public school building debt. The next $25,000 goes to Garrett Memorial Hospital and the balance, if any, is to be placed in a school building and repair fund.

The state wants to know just how much money the county is receiving, since the bill which set up the tax on gas production provided for no reduction in state aid.

The present set up means that richer political subdivisions will continue to be taxed for aid to Garrett County, despite its new revenue from gas wells.

It has been estimated that, on the basis of an estimated 44,000,000 cubic feet a day flow from 18 producing wells, the tax might produce about $280,000 a year, about half what property taxes brings in to the county.

Maryland Civil Air Patrol Will Go Oak Wilt Hunting

Maryland's Civil Air Patrol has begun preliminary work on the most unusual assignment it has ever had.

Its going oak wilt hunting.

Oak Wilt, a dangerous forest disease once its firmly established in an area, was found in Garrett County last month near the Savage River dam.

Seven trees, including red, chestnut and white oak, appeared to be inflicted in one location. Some of the trees had been killed two or three years ago and two red oaks died this year.

To stop the infection, foresters want to cut down all trees affected and those nearby. But to locate these means a drawn-out and backbreaking job on foot.

That's where the state's CAP will come in.

It will fly competent observers from the University of Maryland and the Department of State Forests and Parks over the 900 square miles of forests in the area to locate accurately the infected trees.

With this information, the ground parties can proceed directly to the areas where the oak wilt is prevalent and go to work.

"Operation Oak Wilt" is planned for the early part of September. At least 20 aircraft are expected to participate.

Not All Disease Of Oaks Is Wilt, Forester Says

Laboratory Test Is Suggested

Although the disease in a few oak trees in the Garrett County area near the Savage River dam has been determined as oak wilt, District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday urged owners of ailing oak trees to exercise caution before cutting down trees.

Johnson said it is practically impossible without laboratory tests to determine whether a disease is actually oak wilt or simply some other less harmful fungus that attacks oak trees.

Several Calls

Since it was reported over the weekend that samples collected near the Savage River dam have been termed oak wilt, Johnson has had a number of calls from persons who own diseased oak trees. He has been collecting samples which will be sent to College Park for analysis.

Johnson observed that the specialists who were in this area July 19 to collect samples from diseased trees determined that the trees in Green Ridge were being attacked by some other fungus but were not the victims of oak wilt.

Samples of diseased oak trees were checked by Dr. W. F. Jeffers, Botany Department, University of Maryland, and Dr. Curtis May, who is with the United States Department of Agriculture at Beltsville. Johnson advises that residents in this area might send samples to either of these two authorities for examination.

It has been suggested that material should be collected from wilting or recently dead parts of the tree. Six twig or branch specimens, six to eight inches long and one-half to one inch in diameter are satisfactory for laboratory diagnosis.

Weather

Yesterday was only a little miserable, with a high temperature of 89 degrees, an unhappy contrast with last week's temperate readings, but still better than the average August weather. The low was 61, and at 8 p. m. the mercury was down to 77. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 42 per cent. Today is expected to be cloudy and warm with scattered thundershowers this afternoon.

Mallard Enjoys Swim In Filth Of Wills Creek

Many Cumberlanders agree that nothing can kill a mallard.

Those who walked across the Baltimore Street Bridge yesterday and peered down at the black waters of Wills Creek were fascinated by the antics of a mallard, which seemed to be having the time of its life swimming about in the filth and under the water, emerging at unexpected points in the stream.

Judging from the odors coming from the water and its ominous color, most of the observers were surprised that anything could live in the water. One man who is somewhat an authority on the subject said that mallards, the wild cousins of ducks, have the ability to withstand most disease.

Some observers contended that the black waters in Wills Creek, near its mouth, actually was Potomac River water. They say that because of the lack of rain the river is so low that it is not flowing over the dam at the mouth of Wills Creek. This water then is violating a law of nature and is flowing up hill for a short distance into Wills Creek. The black color disappears not far upstream from the Baltimore Street bridge.

Tractor Company Abandons Plan To Locate Here

The Tiger Tractor Company located at Keyser, W. Va., has abandoned plans to locate in Cumberland. A spokesman for the firm said yesterday, additional floor space has been secured in the building now occupied at Keyser and the acquired space will be sufficient for a year or more.

The company dose not plan to leave Keyser, the spokesman added, but expects to construct its own building at a future date. The firm's business has increased in a normal manner and it has been able to keep up with orders with some stock on hand. The company is desirous of building up a stock sufficient to warrant sales over a wider area, the spokesman indicated.

Appeal Taken On Overload Case Ruling

Driver Fined $1,038 By Local Magistrate

A Winchester, Va., trucker is appealing his conviction in Magistrate's Court under a ruling which makes a bridge part of a highway.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick, in line with a ruling by Attorney General Hall Hammond, fined a driver for the Ellicott Motor Lines of Winchester $1,038 for violation of a posted bridge weight limit.

The driver was arrested for driving a truck weighing 37,300 pounds over a Potomac River crossing posted for 20,000 pounds.

Magistrate Dick fined the driver at a new highway overweight penalty rate of six cents a pound.

The driver contended he should have been fined not more than $25 to $100, the penalty provision for exceeding posted bridge limits.

Hammond ruled that a bridge is part of a highway, that the new rate applied and that the old limits had been "repealed by implication."

Magistrate Dick announced that an appeal is being taken to Circuit Court.

Rain Soon May Save Portion Of County Crops

Precipitation Would Chiefly Aid Corn

August's unusually dry weather has hurt Allegany County farmers but a sizeable rain in the next few days will enable them to save much of their crops, County Agent R. F. McHenry said last night.

McHenry declined to estimate the loss county farmers have suffered, saying it would only be a rough approximation.

Rain Would Help

Rain would prove the biggest help to the corn crop, which is the county's chief agriculture product. Corn in the uplands already is firing, McHenry stated. Because of the shortage of rain corn has not been gaining the weight and size that normally would be expected by this time of the year. Most of this corn will be harvested in September.

The county agent also stressed that pasture land in the county is excessively dry. Here again, a heavy rain in a few days would work wonders. Pasture land and corn both recuperate speedily after rainfall.

Apples and peaches on the county's orchards are not sizing up because of the lack of moisture. Small fruit means more apples and peaches in each basket and consequently a lower yield.

Truck farmers who normally bring their miscellaneous vegetables to market in town have been hit hard by the dry weather. Especially affected, the county agent said, has been the tomato crop. Many other vegetables have "just dried up."

Worst sufferers from the lack of precipitation have been the Upper Potomac area and the east end of the county, according to McHenry. Scattered showers have helped certain portions of the county. The

Filter Project Is Slated In Near Future

Plans Promised Within Few Weeks

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick reported yesterday that complete plans for the construction of six additional filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant should be available in about two weeks.

He said Robert A. Kidd, of the Robert Regester engineering firm, Baltimore, reported work on the plans is virtually complete and that plans will be ready for asking bids as soon as the material is assembled.

Will Increase Capacity

The creation of another 6,000,000 gallons a day filtering capacity at the dam is considered the most urgent work in the city's construction program. Commissioner Tederick and Mayor Thomas S. Post have been urging that the work be undertaken as soon as possible.

Mayor Post said yesterday that he hopes much of the work on the filters can be completed by the end of the year.

Cost of the new filters has been estimated at about $150,000.

Construction of the additional filters will not only relieve the strain on the existing filtration system but will allow the city to make repairs on present filters.

Kidd yesterday brought with him blueprints for the enlargement and modernization of the existing chemical plant at Lake Gordon.

Work Half Done

Work is being done by the maintenance staff of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

George M. Hitchcock, superintendent, said the plan will include additional equipment but that the present system will function until the new equipment is cut in.

He said the work is about half completed.

The equipment will include a 15-ton alum feeder, feeders for hydrated lime, soda ash or activated carbon and a one-ton container for wet feeding chlorine.

REDS DENOUNCE RIDGWAY'S STAND

Connally Warns U.S. 'Cannot Stand Alone'

Urges Senate To Approve Aid For Anti-Red Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Declaring that the United States "cannot stand alone in a hostile world," Sen Connally (D-Tex) asked the Senate today to vote $7,535,750,000 for the aid of the nations arrayed against communism.

The chairman of the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee said the huge program was designed to carry out a fundamental policy already approved by Congress.

"The policy to which I refer is that of strengthening the United States through strengthening our allies," he said. "It is the policy that recognizes that the United States cannot stand alone in a hostile world."

McFarland Urges Early Vote

"It is the policy that seeks to promote world peace through helping the free nations of the world make themselves so strong that no aggressor will dare to attack them."

Majority Leader McFarland (D-Ariz) called for a vote on the bill before the end of the week.

Sen. Moody (D-Mich), in another statement on the bill, described it as "to small and too slow."

"Every day we delay is a gamble with atomic catastrophe," he said.

A group of Democrats including Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), and Fulbright (Ark) intend to fight on the floor for restoration of $964,250,000 cut out of the program by the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

Republicans To Seek Cut

Sen. Wherry (R-Neb), Senate minority leader, said Republicans would support the foreign aid program and help get it adopted this week. "But I'm going to try and cut some of those figures," he added. Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), the GOP policy leader in the Senate, reported that Republicans would oppose any increase in foreign aid funds.

President Truman asked originally for $8,500,000,000. On Aug. 17 the House approved a $7,498,750,000 program, $37,000,000 less than the bill now before the Senate.

The Senate's version would authorize $6,013,000,000 for military assistance to friendly nations and $1,522,750,000 for economic aid. Most of the money would go toward building up the defenses of Western Europe.

Two Diplomats Located, London Paper Reports

Pair Disappeared Three Months Ago

LONDON, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Daily Herald reported today the British Foreign Office has learned the whereabouts of two missing British diplomats, Donald MacLean and Guy Burgess.

The paper, organ of the ruling Labor Party, said British secret service agents have located the two men after a three-month search of Western Europe.

American-born Mrs. Melinda MacLean, wife of one, has been vacationing on the French Riviera with her three children and has received a message from her husband, the Herald said.

The report appeared only in the Herald.

The paper, which has close government connections, said the Foreign Office probably would make no announcement until next week.

No one at the Foreign Office early today would comment on the Herald story.

MacLean, 38, was last seen in London when he left his job on May 25, a Friday evening. Due for a long weekend, he had three days to cover his tracks before his disappearance was discovered.

MacLean's non-appearance at his office at the start of the new week at first was attributed to the fact that his wife was expecting her third baby. It was not until she telephoned Monday night to inquire about him that an investigation was started.

Burgess, 40, was on leave at the time, his future in doubt because of his recall from his job with the British Embassy in Washington.

Then it was found that the two men had landed at St. Malo, France, without luggage and had hired a car that took them to Rennes, France.

Three telegrams were dispatched to their families from Paris and Rome, but the originals were not in MacLean's or Burgess' hand-writing.

Curbs On Rubber May End Jan. 1, Companies Told

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The government today notified the nation's tire and rubber companies their demands for rubber may be met in full starting Jan. 1.

The National Production Authority said stepped-up production in the government's synthetic plants should permit rubber allocation "on the basis of need" in the first quarter of 1952.

Until then, rubber allotments for passenger car tires and most other civilian products will be based as now on 90 per cent of pre-Korea usage. For highly essential products, the limit is 100 per cent.

NPA also relaxed its rubber controls in six respects. These included elimination of the 30-day limit on tire and tube stocks in the hands of dealers, and removal of all controls on liquid natural rubber latex.

NPA officials told members of the Rubber Industry Advisory Committee, in a meeting today, that it anticipates the consumption of about 747,000 long tons of new rubber in the first half of 1952. This would be a record. It compares with 609,000 tons in the first half of this year and 1,258,557 in the previous peak year, 1950.

The improved supply may permit a sweeping change in control procedure. However, present restraints would be kept on natural rubber.

U. S. Grand Jury Indicts Alleged Reds In Honolulu

HONOLULU, Aug. 29 (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicated Hawaii Labor Leader Jack W. Hall and six other accused Communists on a charge of plotting to advocate the violent overthrow of the U. S. government.

The indictment linked the seven with Communist Party headquarters in New York.

The grand jury unanimously requested Federal Judge Delbert E. Metzger, because of the "seriousness of the charges," to increase the $5,000 bail he set for each of the seven.

Acting U. S. Attorney Howard K. Hoddick promptly filed an affidavit requesting disqualification of Metzger "at the reouest of the U. S. attorney general."

Metzger, after the jury's request, raised bonds for each of the accused from $5,000 to $7,500.

He gave no explanation beyond saying the accused "now are under indictment."

Metzger yesterday slashed the bond for each from $75,000 fixed by the U. S. commissioner.

The grand jury's indictment cited by name William Z. Foster, Eugene Dennis and 11 other top American Communists as co-conspirators, but not co-defendants.

The seven alleged Communists were arrested by FBI agents yesterday in a dramatic dawn roundup.

20 Sabrejets Tangle With 40 Red MIGs

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Forty Russian-built MIG jets fought a brief battle with 20 U. S. Sabrejets over North Korea Wednesday while Red groundtroops concentrated on the central front despite air and artillery attacks.

No damage was inflicted on either side in the air battle, but Allied planes killed or wounded an estimated 400 enemy troops in heavy strafing attacks.

Daniels Says Truman Will Run In 1952, Win Reelection

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP) — A prediction that President Truman will run for office again next year, and that he will be reelected by an even bigger majority than in 1948, came today from one of his close friends, a well known newspaper editor.

It was contained in an article in the American magazine, written by Jonathan Daniels.

Daniels is editor of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer. He is a member of the Democratic National Committee, and the author of a biography of Mr. Truman.

In the article, Daniels asserted that the President believes his policies are right. To put them into effect, therefore, Mr. Truman necessarily must be the Democratic candidate in 1952.

The editor based his prediction of reelection, in part, on "the terrific vote-getting quality of the man, particularly among the town and country people, the unorganized people, the people the politicians and the pollsters apparently did not know existed. Those people are still there. Truman knows they will elect him again."

He also wrote that efforts to discredit the present administration, on grounds of corruption in government, will not succeed. As for another revolt in the South, Daniels asserted "actually, there seems less and less chance of a recurrence in 1952 of the Dixiecrat revolt."

Union Chiefs Refuse To End Copper Strike

WSB Tosses Issue Back To President

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Union chiefs today refused to call of the nationwide copper strike and the Wage Stabilization Board late tonight tossed the critical dispute back to the White House.

Apparently the board, in emergency hearings today, found little hope of breaking the three-day-old strike which has halted most of the nation's production of copper, a critically-short defense material.

A spokesman said the board will transmit a report on its hearings to President Truman early tomorrow. Mr. Truman yesterday asked the board to try to solve the walkout.

The President may appoint a board of inquiry to report to him on the facts in the case, but such a board of inquiry would have no authority to actually propose a peace settlement. The strike could continue while the board investigated.

Truman Could Seize

Attorney General McGrath would have to wait until the board had investigated before he could seek a court injunction to end the walkout.

Another course open to the President, if he feels there is little hope of settlement and the walkout is creating a national emergency, would be outright government seizure of the mines and smelters.

Rejecting the government's back-to-work request, union leaders told the Wage Stabilization Board the strike will continue unless:

1. A negotiated contract settlement is reached.
2. The government seizes the vast mines, mills and smelters involved in the dispute.
3. Or a court injunction is issued against the work stoppage.

100,000 Workers Idle

The three-day-old strike, which President Truman said already "substantially threatens the progress of national defense," has idled 100,000 workers and crippled operations of scores of copper producers including the "big four"—Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge, and the American Smelting and Refinery Co.

President John R. Clark and Vice President Orville Larson of the workers union set forth their demands as the federal wage board opened hearings at President Truman's request.

Six Cadets Have Been Reinstated, Bar Group Told

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—A lawyer told a bar association hearing today that at least six of approximately 90 accused cadets in the West Point cribbing scandal have been "restored to duty."

"I cannot figure out the restoration of these men except as a forerunner for the restoration of all these men," said Attorney Robert Daru.

He spoke at an open hearing conducted by the Committee on Justice of the New York Civil and Criminal Courts Bar Association.

The committee is investigating on its own initiative whether the ousted cadets were treated fairly in accordance with law—regardless of their guilt or innocence.

Cleared For Lack Of Evidence

At West Point, a Military Academy spokesman said that among the original 90 accused and an unspecified number of others whose names cropped up during screening board hearings "several" have been cleared for lack of evidence.

The spokesman said he was unable to supply an exact breakdown, but declared that none of the 82 cadets who have left the academy has been brought back and reinstated.

He said academy authorities took the position from the first announcement of the scandal that some of the accused cadets might be exonerated.

Investigation Not Completed

But he declared the investigation of the cribbing in classroom examinations had not been completed. Academy authorities, he said, could not give a breakdown until the screening boards completed their work.

He said that, of the 82 cadets who have left the academy, 73 have received administraive discharges. These are neither honorable nor dishonorable.

Oatis Case "Closed," Envoy Says

An interpreter (center) stands by with pained expression as Ambassador Vladimir Prochazka (right) makes fast replies to reporters' questions outside the State Department. Coming from a conference with Secretary of State Acheson yesterday, Prochazka said Czechoslovakia "will not yield to any propaganda or economic pressure" to free Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis from prison, and that the "case is closed."

New Czech Envoy Declares Oatis Case Is "Closed"

Says Prague Won't Yield To Pressure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Communist Czechoslovakia's ambassador, Vladimir Prochazka, defiantly declared today his government "will not yield" to American economic political or "propaganda" pressure to free William N. Oatis, imprisoned Associated Press correspondent.

"The case is closed," he cried out to a group of milling reporters who surrounded and bombarded him with questions at the State Department.

Later the Czech Embassy telephoned the Associated Press to say that what Prochazka said was "from a juridical point of view the case is closed." A number of reporters said they did not hear the qualifying phrase, but added there was much confusion during the questioning.

Acheson Refuses Handshake

The newly-accredited Czech envoy had just listened to a demand by Secretary Acheson that Oatis and other Americans be freed from prison.

Refusing to shake hands, Acheson told him "tension will continue to mount" between the United tSates and Czechoslovakia until this problem is settled. The State Department has described Oatis' trial on espionage charges as a fraud.

Leaving Acheson's office, the bespectacled Prochazka and an aide ran into a stormy reception from about 50 reporters, Photographers and newsreel men gathered in the department's fifth floor reception room.

Obviously flustered by the barrage of questions, he nevertheless strongly defended his Communist government's action in jailing Oatis.

"We Will Not Yield"

"Mr. Oatis was tried by our court of justice and sentenced not because of his activities as a reporter," he said, "but for activities which transgressed those of a reporter."

Prochazka snapped "no comment" when asked if his remarks meant there is no chance of getting Oatis released from his Czech prison.

"In no instance either in the case of trade or propaganda pressures will we be influenced," he said. "We will not yield."

Later, in repeating his remarks, his aide, Jan Vinar of the Czech embassy, added "political" to the pressures Prochazka had in mind.

Sen. McCarran Fears "Big War" Is Closer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.), leaving for the Japanese peace treaty conference, told the Senate today he fears "war—the big war—is getting closer rather than more remote."

He predicted the conference at San Francisco "will be just one more dirty round in a fight with Russia," and said "we have not invited Nationalist China for a frightening reason."

"The reason is that had Nationalist China been invited, Russia could have and would have wrecked the treaty," McCarran continued.

Inflation Reaches Brassiere Industry

NEW YORK, Au. 30 (INS)—Inflation set in on the lingerie level today, with the introduction of a new balloon-type brassiere.

The inflatable bra is a fool-proof "falsie" made of vinylite plastic.

A flat-chested femme need only don the bra, insert a small plastic tube into a valve at the top of each cup, and orally inflate each side to the contour she desires.

When the tube is removed, the valve automatically seals and the tube is set aside for future expansions. When the bra is removed, it can be deflated by re-inserting the tube and pressing the air-filled pockets together.

Tax Blow Aimed At Mutual Banks, Finance Firms

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee voted today to impose regular corporation taxes on mutual savings banks and building and loan associations, and to tighten the tax treatment of cooperatives.

The estimated revenue gain was nearly $150,000,000.

The committee also voted to make the previously approved $2,280,000,000 increase in corporate tax rates effctive Jan. 1, 1951. The House set the same effective date for the $3,040,000,000 increase it voted on corporations.

There had been some pressure to pick a later date, more in line with the boosts in personal income levies which are not expected to take effect before Oct. 1.

Some 600 mutual savings banks, 5,980 building and loan associations and "thousands" of cooperative organizations are affected by today's decisions, staff experts said. Among cooperatives, the staff members said, the levies apply mainly to the larger organizations and leaves smaller farmer groups exempt.

New Rules Make Thousands More Subject To Draft

Married Non-Fathers Will Become Eligible

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) — Thousands of draft-deferred men—including married non-fathers—will be liable for military service under new draft regulations now awaiting President Truman's signature.

Selective Service said today that the regulations, carrying out provisions of the new Military Training and Service Act, have been completed and sent to the White House and government agencies involved.

The act reduces the minimum draft age from 19 to 18½ years. The maximum draft age remains at 26.

Selective Service said that as soon as President Truman approves the new regulations, they will be printed and distributed to local draft boards to take effect as soon as possible.

500,000 In Class 3-A

The major change is in the nondeferment of childless married men.

On July 31, Selective Service had 500,000 childless husbands deferred in class 3-A. Although no longer deferred under the new law, about one-third of the 500,000 probably will fail to pass their physical examinations since the rejection rate has been around 36 per cent.

A number of others will gain deferment because their wives have become pregnant or because they are in essential service. Selective Service estimates that the number of married non-fathers who actually will become eligible for induction will be between 150,000 and 200,000.

Minimum Score Lowered

The new regulations also lower the minimum score for passing the armed forces induction mental tests from 70 to 65. An estimated 150,000 4-Fs thus may lose their deferment under the lower standards.

The new law also calls for classification of many thousands of displaced persons who have become permanent residents of this country while not yet holding U. S. citizenship.

About 9,000 conscientious objectors, heretofore deferred, will be required to do essential work — possibly at overseas posts—under the new law.

Indian Soldier Denied Iowa Burial To Rest In Arlington

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 (AP) —An American Indian killed in Korea, whose body was barred from burial in a Sioux City, Iowa, cemetery will rest among the nation's heroes in Arlington National Cemetery.

Through direct intervention of President Truman today, the Indian veteran of two American wars will be given a hero's burial.

Mr. Truman made the offer after reading of the Sioux City incident. The widow, Mrs. Evelyn Rice, Winnebago, Neb., promptly said she would be "very pleased" to accept the President's offer.

Her husband, U. S. Army Sgt. John R. Rice, 37, a Winnebago Indian, was killed in action in Korea.

Cemetery Issues Apology To Widow

SIOUX CITY, Ia., Aug. 29 (AP) —Memorial Park Cemetery late today issued an apology and an offer of a free lot to the widow of a Winnebago Indian killed in action in Korea whose interment was halted here yesterday.

Clem A. Evans, member of the city council, said he delivered a verbal apology to Mrs. John R. Rice at Winnebago, Neb., this afternoon at the request of J. M. Gunnell, secretary-treasurer of the private cemetery.

Peiping Radio Insists Allied Leader 'Lying'

Says Daylight Bomb Probe Not Refused

TOKYO, Thursday, Aug. 30 (AP)—Red China today angrily accused Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway of telling "plain lies" and of backing away from proof that a U. S. plane allegedly bombed the Korean truce city of Kaesong.

Twice this morning—at 9 a. m. and 11:30 a. m. (6 and 8:30 p. m. EST Wednesday)—the Peiping radio broadcast bitter tirades against the supreme Allied commander. It acknowledged the receipt of Ridgway's latest reply of Wednesday. But both broadcasts kept silent on Ridgway's offer to resume the Kaesong talks.

Instead the broadcasts centered their wrath on Ridgway's refusal for any further investigation of the bombing charges. At great length, the broadcasts sought to try the Red case over the air ways.

The Reds broke off the Kaesong talks Aug. 23, charging that a U. S. plane bombed the site the night before in a plot to "murder" the Red delegation.

Reds Deny Barring Probe

The crux of the case is just what was said shortly after midnight Aug. 22 when Red liaison officers hastily summoned Allied officers to Kaesong and first voiced the charge.

The Allies say the Reds presented flimsy evidence, then refused a request that a more thorough investigation be made the next day.

Today's Peiping broadcast denied this. They insisted the Reds were willing for an immediate dayside check. They insisted the Reds were willing to quote verbatim the conversation which transpired between the liaison officers that night.

It quoted Col. Chang Chun-Shan, Communist liaison officer, as saying in his latest statement:

"In spite of our repeated expressions of desire to carry out the investigation that day, the U. N. liaison officer said I refused the daylight investigation. That is a shameless lie.

"I not only did not refuse the investigation but also said that if reinvestigation is necessary, I welcomed his coming for the investigation and told him clearly he is welcome anytime."

First Probe Thorough

Ridgway, in his first official reply to the Red commanders, said there had been a thorough investigation which made it clear no Allied planes had bombed Kaesong.

Later when the Reds renewed demands for another investigation, Allied sources pointed out that sufficient time had elapsed for the Reds to have worked over their "evidence."

Wednesday Ridgway, in refusing to renew the investigation, said "it could serve no purpose other than to continue this unjustifiable delay in the armistice negotiations."

There was little expectation that the snarled cease-fire negotiations would be resumed on the basis of the Allied commander's latest note.

The general impression here was that the Reds would let the Kaesong conference simply drag along until the Soviet delegation has had its say at the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco next week.

Man Captured After Killing Two

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 29 (AP) — A young man shot two persons to death late today but was captured before he could carry out his announced intention of killing three others and committing suicide.

Police said the first victim was Alfredo Ortiz-Vargas, 54, assistant professor of foreign languages and literature at the University of Kansas City. He was killed in his eighth floor suite at the fashionable Twin Oaks Apartments at Fiftieth and Oak.

A 15-year-old girl, baby-sitting in an adjoining bedroom, gave police the name of the slayer, and his address.

Police went to the address, where they found the young man and the second victim, Mrs. William Lay, negro, who had been shot to death in her apartment at the same address.

Police said the young man was Donald Richardson, 29-year-old laundry operator.

Detective Marvin Crowley said Richardson calmly admitted the two slayings and told officers he intended to kill his mother-in-law, an aunt, and a son of Mrs. Lay before committing suicide.

A 1949 graduate of the University of Kansas City, Richardson said Professor Vargas was a former business partner. He gave no reason immediately for the professor's slaying, Crowley said.

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

Aliens, many of them Communists and criminals, are entering this country illegally. Senator Pat McCarran, (D) of Nevada, chairman of the Senate Committee on Internal Security, in a report on August 20, said that aliens are constantly pouring into the United States illegally and it is possible that there are now 5 million within our borders. McCarran said that "militant Communists, Sicilian bandits and other criminals are among the 5 million" creating a situation "potentially more dangerous than an armed invasion." The Senator stated, "Unless we can round up this rabble and dam this contaminated stream, any nation with war-like intentions toward the United States could find a ready-made fifth column in its vanguard." Senator McCarran said that the Immigration Service of the Justice Department has made little effort to locate these foreigners and deport them.

Italy, a participant in the Marshall Plan, is still shipping war-potential goods to Russia. Official figures released in Rome on August 20 show that Italy sent shipments of more than $5 million in machinery and electrical equipment in the first four months of 1951.

The United Nations, as a whole, has sent to the Republic of Korea $366 million in the form of relief suplies, equipment and service since the beginning of the war. Of this sum, $350 million came from the taxpayers of the United States and $16 million from the taxpayers of all the other members of the United Nations.

In a Munitions Board report showing distribution of sub-contracts of 23 billion 19 million 995 thousand dollars of military work already contracted for, the State of Maryland has been allocated 478 million 165 thousand dollars.

A billion and a half dollars has been cut by both Houses from the 8½ billion dollars foreign aid program with most of the cut coming out of the economic aid. The House approved a separate agency plan to handle the funds outside the State Department by establishing a Mutual Security Agency as administrating authority. The Senate refused to adopt this idea and adopted a system which would give the Defense Department control of the military aid with ECA directing the economic aid until next July 1, when the ECA is scheduled to go out of existence. Point Four, assisting the world's undeveloped areas, would be left to the State Department. Both plans remove the State Department from full control of the program as a whole.

Although the new controls law has been in existence a little more than a month, the President is urging Congress to change it in a 2,500 word message sent from the White House.

Three Republican Senators, Ferguson of Michigan, Nixon of California and Welker of Idaho introduced legislation to give the President what he wants. Senator Ferguson charged there were political reasons behind the President's message and stated, "I think there is grave doubt the President really wants to hold down inflation.

UNDER THE DOME

Because the government has taken so much critical material for defense projects, I have been swamped by private agencies, such as churches, Y.M.C.A.s, etc., asking that priorities be given their applications for material. The handling and processing of these applications has taken a great deal of my time during the past week, together with the numerous letters received from wives and relatives of servicemen desiring discharges, and the personal problems of constituents to be taken up with the various government agencies.

Residents of Hinkle Road in Allegany County have contacted me relative to a rural mail route, and I have gotten in touch with the Post Office Department in their behalf.

On Thursday, August 23, I was the guest of the Montgomery County Agricultural Association at their annual county fair at Gaithersburg.

I delivered the address at the riding tournament at Marshall Hall, Charles County, on Wednesday, August 22.

Senators And The Treaty

The junket to San Francisco of many members of Congress—including nine senators and eight representatives among the 56-member official American delegation to the Japanese Treaty Conference—comes at a time when the Senate should be running at full steam to finish its schedule of "must" legislation by October 1.

The House is in recess until mid-September to allow the Senate to catch up. But to adjourn at the end of that month, the Senate should complete action on three major bills before the House returns. That would leave for the last half of September the military public works bill and other measures on the agenda, according to the schedule laid down by Senate Majority Leader McFarland (D., Ariz.).

The McFarland program calls for passage this week of the foreign aid bill (HR 5113). The next 10 days would then be devoted to the military budget (HR 5054) and the new tax bill (HR 4473).

The San Francisco conference was projected originally for five days. But with the announcement that Russia would send a delegation, doubt of so quick a termination began to arise. The State Department has stated flatly that Russia will not be allowed to hold up signature of the treaty. Nevertheless the senators at the conference may find themselves forced to stay on much longer than at first planned.

Senator Robertson (D., Va.) has pointed out that the San Francisco meeting is to be a conference on the signing, not the drafting, of the treaty. "Members of the Senate . . . cannot ratify a treaty in San Francisco. . . . They could not change anything in the treaty. All they could do would be to find out what is in the treaty, which, of course, they can find out just as well after the treaty has been signed." As far as seeing the treaty signed, Robertson suggested, they could stay in Washington and watch television.

Two members of the Senate—Connally (D., Tex.) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.)—had been members of the United States delegation to the 1945 United Nations Conference at San Francisco. So had two members of the House; Bloom (D., N.Y.) and Eaton (R., N.J.). Thus the way was eased for the completed charter when President Truman sent it to the Senate.

After four days of hearings, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee reported the resolution of ratification on July 16 and recommended approval of the charter without amendments or reservations. After only six days of debate, the Senate on July 28 voted ratification, 89 to 2.

The first two members of Congress to be appointed to negotiate a treaty—Sen. Bayard in 1813 and Speaker Clay as a member of the Treaty of Ghent Commission in 1814—resigned their places in Congress. The offices of treaty negotiator and national legislator, they stated, were not compatible.

On three occasions resolutions have been introduced in the Senate to prohibit members from serving as treaty negotiators. But in 1919 some senators deeply resented President Wilson's failure to include any member of that body on the American delegation to the Peace Conference at Versailles.

New Scientific Theory

B is for boy; B is for bald. G is for girl; G is for gout. And more than a coincidence is involved here, apparently.

This is not to say that boys are bald and girls have gout. Both afflictions, as a matter of fact, are rare in children of either sex and affect men more than women. But a scientist, Dr. Marianne E. Berstein of the Instituto de Statistiche in Rome, claims to have found a relation between them and the brand of children their victims father.

Bald men have more boys, men with gout have more girls, according to the "statistiche" compiled by the "instituto." Bald men, Dr. Bernstein explains, have a higher proportion than others of male hormones and a lower proportion of female—which seems reasonable enough, since more men than women go bald. For men with gout, just the opposite is true, she says.

Where does that leave the men who claim they aren't really bald but just have receding hairlines? Apparently they're out of luck. They don't qualify as more masculine, yet they aren't as pretty as a good head of hair would make them. They'll just have to take what consolation they can from the fact that they don't have gout, and let somebody else take the girls.

It's going to take more than statistics to make some skeptics believe all this, though. Dr. Bernstein also says that artists, actors, writers, teachers, and men in other introvert, retiring occupations—that these fellows aren't very masculine and cannot father as many boys as girls.

That seems to fit Eddie Cantor—but how about Bing Crosby? And what happens in the case of a bald writer, for instance? Did he miss his profession, or has he lost his hair by scratching his head?

Perhaps the whole thing is a cryptic attempt to undermine free enterprise. If people believed all this, how could toupee manufacturers stay in business?

Rest And Be Safe

Those whose vacation is still ahead of them, and others planning a long motor trip, are offered worthwhile advice by L. S. Harris, executive secretary of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, who has been making a study of automobile accidents that may be the fault of overtired drivers.

The advice is simple. Harris thinks a great many mishaps that occur on the roads are the result of fatigue. So he counsels rest. Regular rest periods are the best preventive, he says. A stop every so often for a cup of coffee will relax the tension as well as restore tired muscles—and drivers suffer more from nervous fatigue, he points out, than from physical exhaustion.

A great many motorists undoubtedly follow this prescription now. Truck drivers, who need to know what they're doing to get their cargoes to their destinations, are largely responsible for the eating places that have sprung up everywhere along the highways. People who are accompanied on trips often arrange to change places at the wheel every hour, or every 100 miles, so no one will get too tired. Long drivers may lay out some plan to break up the monotony of a long journey.

This is ordinary common sense. But more drivers ought to put it into effect. Perhaps one reason why they do not is that many deaths attributed to speeding, driving on the wrong side of the road, and failing to yield the right of way ought to be charged to overtiredness. That is apparently what Harris has in mind.

A vacation is supposed to be a rest. The vacationer who starts resting on his way to his destination is an intelligent man. He has a good chance to get there—and home again.

How To Keep Well

Discomfort From Food Allergy

Food allergy probably is the best example of the adage, "One man's meat is another man's poison." Any part of the meal, from soup to nuts, may cause trouble. For example, Judy can eat crabmeat by the pound, whereas her brother, Jackie, who is sensitive to this food, becomes ill after one mouthful of a salad containing this ingredient. Hives produced by strawberries, headache from chocolate, and wheezing after eating wheat are old stories.

This type of allergy may be so definite that no physician is needed to make the diagnosis. The opposite also is true; some medical men are so hipped on the subject they blame all symptoms on this cause. The puzzling factor about hives or eczema caused by food allergy is that these symptoms may not come on until several hours after eating, or the reaction may last for several days. The resistance of the individual varies so widely that on some days the offending item may be eaten with impunity. Furthermore, persons who are sensitive to raw milk often can take it boiled; others who cannot eat fresh strawberries or peaches may use the canned variety without discomfort.

The physician who specializes in allergy also must be a good cook, food processer, and botanist. Dr. Samuel Feinberg says that it does little good to know that sensitivity to eggs exists unless we realize that eggs are found in a variety of nutriments such as marshmallow, ice cream, and cake. The same can be said of onions, which are used in catsup, chili sauce, French dressing, and sauces. What is a constituent not only of white bread but also of rye, cakes, cookies, certain cereals, candy, pudding, and sausages. The lesson to be learned is that the sensitizing substances come in many disguises.

Botany enters the picture because allergy to one food may indicate that there is a sensitivity also to those related biologically. Thus allergy to orange juice usually means that grapefruit juice, lemonade, and lime juice will cause trouble. Potatoes, tomatoes, and green peppers are close kin but white and sweet potatoes are unrelated. Individuals who are unable to eat nuts often tolerate almonds, which belong to the family of plums, cherries, and peaches. A peanut is not a nut; it is a relative of the legumes such as peas. Wheat, oats, rye, barley, corn, and rice are members of the grass family, whereas buckwheat is first cousin to rhubarb. Cucumber, squash, cantaloupe, watermelon, and pumpkin are brothers under the skin and so are carrots, celery, dill, parsley, and caraway seeds.

Allergic symptoms vary considerably. Some sufferers encounter the old stand bys: Hives, eczema, abdominal pain, headache, sneezing, or wheezing. Occasionally enormous swellings disfigure the lips, face, and other parts of the body. Canker sores, indigestion, and anal irritation have been traced to wheat, chocolate, nuts, milk, and oysters. Digestive disturbances include heartburn, nausea, bloating, and a gnawing sensation in the stomach region. Allergic irritation of the intestine also may bring on diarrhea, constipation, abdominal cramping, or bowel tenderness. Another puzzling factor about food allergy is that symptoms can arise without eating, a few afflicted persons are disturbed even by the cooking odors of the offender.

TOMORROW: Sleep problems of young children.

SPASTIC COLON

J. W. writes: Does a spastic bowel cause constipation or diarrhea?

REPLY

Either, both, or neither. Most patients with this condition become constipated and the next largest group have alternating constipation and diarrhea. Many individuals with spastic bowel have one or more movements a day but the stool is of the constipated variety.

TAR IN SKIN

H. C. writes: Is it dangerous to wash tar off the skin with kerosene over a long period of time?

REPLY

To my knowledge, there is no harm in this practice although it might be a good idea to vary the type of solvent used in removing the tar.

ANKLE ULCER

V. B. writes: I have a varicose ulcer on the ankle and a rash that extends to the knee on that leg. I wear a bandage at all times but the sore does not heal. What else can I do?

REPLY

The Unna paste boot sometimes helps and the same can be said of medicated elastic bandages. The best plan is to take off a few weeks and remain in bed, as rest relieves congestion and improves the healing power of the tissues. Keeping the skin clean and the use of one of the antibiotics are additional measures.

SWEET GARGLE

W. N. writes: I was told to use warm water and sugar for gargling when I have a sore throat. Can you explain how this could be helpful?

REPLY

It isn't. The only benefit I can think of from this mixture is that it washes away the mucus that is clinging to the back of the throat. Salt is better for gargling—¼ teaspoonful to ½ glass of water.

SPINAL CURVATURE

G. L. writes: What is lordosis?

REPLY

A spinal curvature in which the bowing is toward the front. The abdomen protrudes and the gait is waddling. It usually is associated with some defect of the spine or legs. The name does not stem from the cocky appearance of the lords of bygone days but from a Greek word meaning "to bend back."

GORDON DEAN on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some Americans Misunderstand Motives Of Atomic Energy Program; Any Kind Of War Is Bad; Atomic Energy Promises A Better World

(Ed. Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by several distinguished guest columnists, today's being by Gordon Dean, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.)

WASHINGTON—The other day I received this letter from a lady who lives in a town where I spent a good share of my teen-age years:

"My Dear Mr. Dean:

"I see by the inclosed clipping that the United States is planning new a-bomb tests, and that the purpose is to see whether they have been made more deadly. I take it that, as in the past, the big aim is to scare the daylights out of Russia. She will, of course, go at it with a will, and try to outdo us in this devilish weapons-of-mass-destruction armaments race. Nice business!

"I should think that the terrible and disgraceful result of our little experiment with the a-bomb in Hiroshima and Nagasaki would make men, who call themselves Christian, confine their experiments with atomic energy to the wonderful things that can be done with it to improve life and industry—not destroy them.

"I remember your father here as a courageous and fine sermonizer, Mr. Dean. I think it is too bad for his son to concentrate on the murderous aspects of atomic energy."

This was a disturbing letter to receive, not because the lady is right—because she isn't—but rather because it shows that there are apparently honest, patriotic, thinking Americans who fear we are not justified in trying to maintain and increase our world leadership in the field of atomic energy.

I don't know how many people in the United States share the views of this lady. I hope there are not many, for they are just exactly the views the men in the Kremlin are asking the world to believe about us, and which they would dearly like to have us begin to believe about ourselves.

To hold the belief, even for a moment, that the Soviet leaders are in the atomic bomb business just because we are, is one of the worst possible mistakes we could make. These men do not do things because we have done something first to stimulate them. They do things because they believe their own interests are best served by doing them. And they do them as part of their master plan to ahcieve domination of the world. We did nothing to force them to blockade Berlin. We did nothing to force them to take over Czechoslovakia. We did nothing to force them to send the North Koreans to invade South Korea. And we have done nothing to force them to block almost every single effort in the United Nations to bring peace to the world—including the American-supported UN plan to place atomic energy under effective international control.

Even if we did not have a single atomic bomb, I am convinced that the Soviet leaders would be just as hard at work building atomic bombs of their own, and—if they knew we had none—there would be a much better chance than now exists that they would use such weapons against us. Our ever-growing stockpile of atomic weapons, far from being a stimulant to war, is actually the most important single safeguard against World War III.

Our bombs are for defense—of ourselves and our allies. They are not for the purpose of making aggressive war agaisnt anyone. We used the atomic bomb against the Japanese not to destroy lives, but to save lives—the lives of the hundreds of thousands of Americans and Japanese that inevitably would have been lost if World War II had continued.

I believe our national atomic energy policy is the only policy that this nation—upon whose position in the world the lives of millions upon millions of people depend—could follow and still be consistent with the Christian ideals and principles we try to live by. The American government could, of course, go to the men in the Kremlin and say:

"You have threatened us, so here are our atomic weapons; we are renouncing them and we are asking no guarantees in return. You are now free to deprive 150,000,000 Americans of the freedoms for which their forefathers fought so dearly. You are free to destroy their places of worship; to hurl them into slave labor camps and prisons, and to kill as many of them as you wish. Moreover, you are now free to take away the liberty of all the peoples of the world, not only in this generation, but forover."

To me, such a thing would be unthinkable, and most un-Christian-like.

It is war that is bad—not just atomic war. And it is the way atomic bombs are used that is bad—not the bombs themselves. Our bombs are to protect liberty and to prevent war until that day, which I sincerely hope will arrive, when the Soviet leaders provide some real evidence that they honestly want peace. And if war does come through Communist aggression they are the best means we have of saving the lives and liberties of those who would otherwise become communism's innocent victims.

We test atomic weapons because we must test them in our development program. We do not test them to scare anyone. They are actually evidences of the progress we are making, not only in weapons, but also in the manufacture of materials for peaceful use. We must remember that these materials we are now putting into weapons can, if never used as weapons, be easily converted for use in the production of power and the manufacture of radioactive substances for the benefit of man's health and welfare.

Atomic energy holds tremendous promise for a better life for all of us in the future, and we are advancing steadily toward greater realization of this promise. It is peculiarly fortunate, in my view, that atomic energy is also simultaneously providing the means by which we can preserve our lives, our freedom and our way of life until this promise is fulfilled.

My father, incidentally, was not only a great "sermonizer"; he was also a veteran of the Spanish American War and World War I, and is buried in Arlington Cemetery. He knew that aggressors are not deterred by weakness, and—so he did—I sincerely hope that, through strength, we may have fewer new graves there in the future.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Anyone who reads carefully the report just released by the subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which held hearings in Paris recently can hardly foresee the return of General Eisenhower to civilian life for a long, long time to come.

So indispensable to the success of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the development of Allied unity as against possible Soviet attack is the Allied supreme commander that the mention of politics and the implications of controversy over domestic questions in connection with his name seem remote.

The very qualities, on the other hand, which are so conspicuously effective in untangling complex situations abroad and his inspirational capacity for leadership are the ones that make him seem so attractive as a future President of the United States.

Eisenhower Responsible

There isn't any doubt about it—the personality and tact of the general is the basic reason for whatever progress is being made toward European unity on the military side. It appears doubtful, indeed, whether a year from now the situation will have changed so materially as to permit General Eisenhower to leave his post to accept the presidential nomination of either party.

One argument advanced is that he need not engage in the campaign at all but can stay at his present job. This would not be in keeping with tradition, and yet unprecedented things have happened in recent years where the presidency is concerned. During World War II the third term precedent was broken and FDR was elected even to a fourth term.

If the crisis in Europe appears to be in 1952 what it is now—and if, indeed, it is aggravated by Russia's hostile behavior—the chances are that General Eisenhower would feel inclined to say not only that he could not accept the nomination but that he would not serve if elected. If he wishes to put all political crowns aside, that's the only type of statement which would end the use of his name.

On this side of the Atlantic, there are two groups interested in the future of Eisenhower as a candidate. The Taft group doesn't want the general to run and would be pleased if the turn of fate kept him at his present post. The pro-Eisenhower group is not dismayed by the arguments about the importance of the general's present duties. They say that from the White House he could be even more helpful in developing Allied solidarity and that this same versatile personality would be at work on the home front removing friction and furnishing the leadership for domestic unity.

Despair Much Worse

Certainly the Eisenhower achievements abroad to date have been credited to his drive and his enthusiasm. The senators who went to see him raised that very point. One of them—Senator Gillette of Iowa, Democrat—minced no words as he pointed out to the general that too much was dependent on one man's personality and that the situation ought to be such that the leadership of one man wouldn't make such a difference.

General Eisenhower's comment was interesting—he didn't see what else could be done at the moment but to try to bring harmony and maintain a solid front toward communism. His favorite reply to all the doubts expressed as to the efficacy of the cooperation being given us by other nations is that the alternative—despair—is much worse.

On the whole, the frequent use of General Eisenhower's name for political discussion is one of the strangest phenomena of our times. He is obviously presidential calibre—he is popular and he is able and he has a rare faculty for being able to reconcile differences of opinion among those with whom he has to deal. But it may be so important for him to stay in Europe that his return to engage in a political campaign would in itself be hurtful to his possible candidacy. It's a strange paradox.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOI

The Clangorous Abyss

WASHINGTON

Anxiety about the future in Korea is bringing on a bad attack of nerves in the government. As recently reported in this space, the American policy makers have little hope of a Korean cease-fire until after the San Francisco conference on the Japanese peace treaty. But the question now being asked is whether, even after San Francisco, a cease-fire can be arranged.

We shall not buy a Korean truce by abandoning the project for a Japanese treaty. We shall not yield to the new Soviet blackmail. Will the masters of the Kremlin then order the cease-fire talks to be renewed in earnest, or will they order a renewal of the war?

The most careful inquiries reveal a wide but depressing range of official and expert opinion on this crucial point. To begin at the dark end of the spectrum, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has lately sent the opinion from Tokyo that the whole cease-fire project was probably a blind from the start, and that we must now be prepared for an eventual full scale renewal of the Korean fighting. A middle group here merely states that the odds against a final cease-fire are heavy, and are increasing. And the comparative optimists call it "still an even bet."

Since this is the present range of official and expert opinion, it is certainly time to think about what will happen if the tragi-comedy of Kaesong suddenly merges into a new Communist offensive—which may, indeed, happen tomorrow.

Enemy Benefitted

On the one hand, the long lull of the cease-fire talks has benefitted the enemy far more than most people realize. Quantities of new heavy equipment, including considerable artillery and about 600 tanks, have been brought into the war zone. The depleted Chinese and North Korean units have been filled up, so that the enemy is now estimated to have about 500,000 men in Korea, with 400,000 in striking positions between the 39th Parallel and the front. The buildup of air strength, which had reached 1,000 planes in Manchuria two months ago, has continued slowly.

Above all, every kind of supply dump has been piled up. Therefore, instead of being able to sustain an attack for only a few days, the Chinese and North Koreans are now considered able to continue on the offensive for a much longer period. It is even calculated that every added day of lull, in which the enemy's supply dumps are not depleted by heavy fighting, adds another day to the period durin which an offensive effort can b maintained in the future.

Thus the enemy in Korea is much stronger now than he was. On th other hand, so are we. Our force dug in at Chorwon and Kumwha occupy incomparably the best defensive position they have ever hel in Korea. They have had tim t strengthen their hold on the Iro Triangle by every device of th military art, so that they can b sure of taking a fearful toll of th attacking enemy. For the first time they have their full complement o weapons and equipment of a kinds. And for the first time, th divisions and regiments are mor than up to strength, with substantial reserves of manpower.

Balancing the enemy's gains c strength against our gains, the authorities here now share the sam sober confidence in our forces' power to hurl back a Communist offensive that has already been expressed by Gen. Ridgway and Ger Van Fleet. There is only one poin of immediate concern. Since th UN armies in Korea have had n real seasoning experience with hostile air, severe temporary setback may ensue if the enemy brings hi full air strength into the battle.

All-Out War Possible

This singe point of immediat concern in turn symbolizes the ver deep and anxious concern that i universally felt about the long rang results of a serious renewal of th Korean fighting. For if the enem air enters the battle, the questio of retaliatory air attacks on th enemy bases in Manchuria will b inescapably raised at once. An even if the fighting follows the ol pattern, the letdown and deceptio of the false cease-fire negotiatio will still give rise to the stronges pressure to widen the war. In short if it begins again all-out, the Korean War can hardly go on foreve as a limited war. It must someda burst its precarious bounds, an become a much larger and more terrible conflagration.

These grim truths are of cours the best arguments for optimism about an eventual cease-fire agreement. If the enemy both understands these truths and does no want a wider war, he too mus desire a final cease-fire in Korea But these same truths also indicate the peril of the present moment. We are travelling a narrov ledge, skirting a clangorous abyss and we had better realize that thi is our situation, in order to avoi mis-steps.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

God's Footstool

In 1947, Dr. Henry P. Van Dusen, president of faculty of the Union Theological Seminary, could write in his book, "World Christianity":

"This 'rediscovery of the church' is a by-product of the Second World War. It is important to recognize that there has been no direct causal connection. Obviously, the churches did not cause the war: they had little direct effect upon its outcome. In the main, the war has wrought little noteworthy change in the life or strength of the Christian churches . . ."

In 1951, this is no longer true in many parts of the world. In this same book, Dr. Van Dusen writes of missionary work in such countries as China where during the past two years Christianity has been stomped beneath the hooves of anti-Christian mobs.

We need, I am sure, to think of the battle against the religions of God in all the countries that are controlled from the Kremlin not in terms of Jews or Roman Catholics or Protestants, but as people of the book, sons of God in an identical civilization. While maintaining our differences, we need to recognize that we are faced by the same enemy who hates us all. Perhaps that hatred will give us the wisdom to unite, not in dogma and ritual, but in the spirit of God.

This is becoming increasingly important as the enemy fights with every weapon, particularly by using the power of the state to corrupt young children. He rears them in schools where they are separated from all the treasures of human history and thought. They grow believing only what they are permitted to hear and see and they are blind to all the great forces that rescued man from slavery and brought him within the scope of social justice.

The real danger is not the present adult generation, for they have memories of church and synagogue, the joy of prayer, the sense o mercy, the richness of true humility in the presence of God. They recall the beauty of Easter, th cleansing sense of Passover, the joy of Christmas, the piety of Yon Kippur.

It is the young in the Marxis countries who will never even hav heard of the relationship of ma to God, who will never have bee in a house of worship, who wil never have known of a religion o love.

They carry ikons of Stalin an Mao and such creatures. The march behind these ikons. Thes are their gods.

We saw the photographs of the youth festival in East Germany. There were the ikons, huge photographs of the masters of men, uninspired, monstrous photographs! These ikons are like the idols one sees in the temples of profane religions, vulgar, ugly idols.

In this century the young mind of boys and girls can be corrupte into receiving these blown-up photographs as the symbols of, shall w say, power, or is it, fear!

These young people will presen to the next generations sick mind because their physical nature wil never have been softened by th leavening, pacifying influence of religion, of God's love. They wil know only that struggle beget struggle, that power comes to hi who takes it, that man is but a creature like all else in nature, an all-purpose mammal that can talk

For those who believe in God this is a responsibility that all mus face in this age. Here in ou country we quarrel among ourselve over small matters while the enem destroys our world.

For this is true: our civilization is deeply rooted in the Old and New Testaments, in the Bible of both the Jews and the Christians. Without this foundation, all that we believe to be true must wither and die. Already, in countries of which Dr. Van Dusen wrote in his book only four years ago, we witness the resurgence of brutality, the torture of decent people for their ideas and their beliefs, their faith.

Already we are being faced by the corruption of our own children under our very eyes by so-called scientific methods which teach them that every concept that built their world of liberty is superstition. Even our political system blossoms on the stem of the Declaration of Independence, which in its preamble makes clear these inalienable rights which our young people are taught to cherish as the Bill of Rights emanate from nature's God and nature's law.

This is our foundation and we must protect it or our world becomes like the sand of the desert, blinding the spirit, fruitless and unproductive.

Photograph Raises Parents' Hopes Soldier-Son Is Alive

HASTINGS, Neb., (INS) — A photograph of returning Korean war-veterans today revived the hopes of a Hastings couple that their son is still alive.

Harold J. (Jim) Galloway was reported killed in action in fighting southwest of Taegu last Sept. 3.

However, his mother, Mrs. Walter Galloway, never gave up hope that by "once chance in a million" a mistake had been made and her son was still alive. For the long months afterward, she searched every newspaper photograph of Korean soldiers with a magnifying glass. Finally, in a picture of servicemen returning to the U. S. she found one resembling Jim.

Her husband wired the commanding officer at the port of embarkation, but learned no "Harold J. Galloway" was listed as aboard and the soldiers already had been released on furlough. The Galloways requested a copy of the negative so it could be enlarged at Hastings for further study.

They then called in eight of Jim's friends, one at time, and let them study the enlargement. Each swore it was Jim.

In an attempt to further substantiate their hopes, the Galloways had 300 enlargements made and sent one to each of the serviceman who had been aboard the transport. Of the replies received so far, those who could identify the soldier in the enlargement said it was Jim Galloway.

The Galloways have not heard from their son since he was reported killed in Korea, but, the father said: It's one chance in a million. And we've got to find out—either way—for our own peace of mind."

The mother believes her son may be an amnesia victim.

Santa Gets Stuck In King-Size Tub

CANTON, O. —(AP)— The village Santa at nearby Minerva, jovial 485-pound Raymond Fry, longed for years to get into a bathtub and, as he put it, "soak and soak and soak." Too big for an ordinary tub, he was getting mighty tired of sponge baths.

So in building a new house, he installed a Santa-sized tub, six feet long and three feet wide.

Then he crawled into his new tub, ran water into what space was left, poured in bubble bath crystals and bathed for 45 luxurious minutes.

Then he found he was stuck.

It took 45 more minutes, plus a lot of tugging from his wife, before Santa popped loose and crawled from the tub.

Retarder System Wins Recognition

Cumberland is mentioned in the current issue of the Baltimore and Ohio Magazine as maintaining one of the most modern car retarder yards in the nation.

John Reed, this city, a car retarder operator, was pictured in the feature as well as a section of the Queen City yards.

Streamlined towers equipped with teletypes and microphones connected with P. A. systems, provide instant communication between yardmaster and crews.

The Cumberland retarder, the article noted, classifies eastbound cars, makes work faster and more efficient. Records show some 1,700 cars are humped daily in the Cumberland yards.

Washington Whirl

By AUSTINE

The ugly woman is becoming extinct . . . Today's women not born with naturally curly hair, wasp waists, gazelle grace, and queenly poise, can do something about it . . . And Helene Williams shows them how! . . . Literally hundreds of girls in Washington—a cross section of government workers, debutantes, bobbysoxers, ambassadors' daughters and young housewives have learned how at Mrs. Williams' "charm school" for beauty, modeling and over-all self-improvement, a course sponsored by Southeastern University . . . A dozen or so grandmothers and even a great-grandmother have joined in the rush to improve themselves . . . And given a guiding hand by Helene Williams, ugly ducklings have turned into swans, frumps have become femmes fatales . . . I asked her to write about charm because for well over a decade, she has been a columnist, magazine writer, charm expert and has originated, scripted, and commentated the Capital's most successful fashion shows.

In private life she's the charming hostess and wife of Gladstone Williams, long-time correspondent for the Atlanta Constitution, and, I hear, the National Press Club's best poker player.

AUSTINE

By HELENE WILLIAMS

Charm is an intangible quality not easily defined. It is something easy to recognize but often difficult to describe. I suppose the reason I was assigned this subject is that I happen to be associated with a charm school. Even so, it is a difficult subject.

HELENE WILLIAMS

There are certain elements of feminine charm which can be catalogued without too much difficulty by women themselves. Sir Philip Barrie gives it this definition:

"It's a sort of bloom on a woman. If you have it, you don't need to have anything else, and if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have."

•—•—•

It can be broken down into a number of smaller parts. Charm is a combination of tact, comportment, poise, kindness, wit, and good manners compounded with an air of gaiety and sympathy which stimulates interest in one's self.

But a woman may be charming in other ways. She can make herself attractive by her interest in others or by a quiet dignity which does not intrude with too much self assertiveness.

I would say that the test of a woman's charm is her ability to hold the attention of others in her immediate presence, regardless of the ordinary distractions that are encountered. This is really a more realistic way of doing what the poets have described as "making others conscious of your being."

Most of the charming people I have known have been extroverts rather than introverts. This is another way of saying that one of the essentials of charm is to overcome shyness, since shyness may shield a person's latent qualities. How can one's charm be judged unless it is practiced and brought into play? Charm is a light that should not be hidden under a basket.

But perhaps the best way to define charm is to give illustrations rather than engage in too much academic theorizing. Charm applies to all ages—little girls, teen agers, young women, matrons and dowagers.

It comes into full development with maturity, however.

It can be found in every walk of life—in movie actresses, debutantes, salesgirls, secretaries and housewives.

One of the most charming women I have ever known is Lady Elizabeth Macready, the French-born wife of Sir Gordon Macready, head of the British Economic Mission at Bonne, and formerly attached to the British Embassy in Washington. She has a sympathetic interest in people, a warm friendliness that endears her to everyone.

There are no more charming people anywhere than the President's wife and daughter. Mrs. Truman's and Margaret's charm consist of their naturalness and wholesomeness.

So many of Washington's top-flight models are charming. An outstanding example is Mrs. Donald Patterson, featured nationally, last year, by a toothpaste concern as a "Model Mother." The beautiful, busy mother of two energetic young boys. Virginia always finds time to do gracious little things for others. Naturally, I am quite proud of her because she is a graduate of the charm school I direct at Southeastern University as part of its Modeling and Self-Improvement course.

Mrs. Harold Walker has long been considered one of the most charming women in Washington. Democrats and Republicans alike go eagerly to her parties and many people consider her Washington's leading hostess. Her keen wit and good humor are the chief components of her charm.

The wife of the senior senator from Michigan, Mrs. Homer Ferguson has a charm that rests on her sweet, unaffected disposition. Ambassadress-turned-career girl is Madame Dendramis. who will be remembered as the chic wife of the former Greek ambassador to the United States. Completely adaptable, she is the most American-minded foreign woman I have ever met.

Georgia-born Dr. Elizabeth Parker, who maintains a medical practice in Washington, is one of the kindest women I have ever known. She has an understanding heart. It is a charm that lends success to her professional activities.

Mrs. Robert Guggenheim, Polly to her friends, has a charm that is built around sweetness and simplicity. She is noted for never having been heard to say anything about anyone. The compensation to that is that no one ever says anything unkind about her.

Among the small fry, 10-year-old Antoinette Chautemps, daughter of the former Premier of France and Madame Camille Chautemps, must go on my list. She combines poise and natural spontaneity, qualities which she inherits, no doubt, from her parents, who are themselves two of the most attractive people in Washington.

Finally, no list, even a partial one, would be complete without some reference to the gal who has been expounding on the charms of others for so long. She is bursting with it in so many ways that it would be hard to narrow it down to any one point. I refer, of course, to Austine, who customarily occupies this space. Even her unpredictableness has a certain charm about it, though distracting at times!

The tone of your voice works for you or against you. Here are four ways to make sure that it is an asset.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

How important is the tone of your voice?

Well, a husband leaves in the morning in a mood that affects everything he does all day—because of a wrong impression he got from the tone of voice his wife unintentionally used. A child has a feeling of insecurity that lasts for hours—the result of the thoughtless tone of voice used by his mother when she answered or commanded him. A client is lost by a firm—just because the tone of voice of the girl who answered the phone falsely affronted him once too often.

Add Color To Your Tone

You should take your voice seriously; others do. It cannot mirror your best personality when you let it slip into a harsh, dull, or flat tone. If you will practice the following in private, you will acquire the habit of making your voice expressive and colorful every time you say as much as "Hello!"

1. You wouldn't sing a lullaby with as much volume as a marching song, would you? It's the same with speaking. Vary your volume to express the subtle shadings in your meanings. This is also important in preventing the monotony that loses you listeners.

2. To emphasize your meaning, work for greater flexibility of pitch. Try saying, "Oh, it's you," first to imply happiness, then distaste, and lastly anger. Notice how your pitch changes. The greater range you achieve in everyday conversation, the more compelling your speech will be.

For Greater Expression

3. Change the rate of speed at which you talk. Neither a rat-a-tat-tat nor a slow drawl is "listenable" for long. Important words and ideas need stressing.

4. Concentrate on and believe in what you are saying. When you ask, "How are you?" put the question mark into it. As wise Socrates said, hundreds of years ago, "Never use a word without seeing in nature that for which it stands." It will put an appeal into your voice that will attract your public in a most pleasing way.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice—one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success—by reading my new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10s in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

City To Use Gas Tax Fund In Resurfacing 9 Streets

The Street Department proposes to resurface nine streets with money received from gasoline taxes under the state Sherbow Law.

Sealed bids have been asked from paving contractors on the "proposal" not later than 10 a. m. (EDT) Monday, September 10. Each bidder must specify a price per ton for blacktop in place and a price per gallon on tack coat.

Streets proposed for resurfacing are:

Market Street from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Offutt Street (12 foot wide center strip) from Virginia Avenue to Olive Avenue.

South George Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

South Liberty Street from Baltimore Street to Harrison Street.

Broadway from Maryland Avenue to Cromwell Terrace.

Harrison Street, from Mechanic Street to Centre Street.

Saratoga Street from Cumberland Street to School Street.

Fairview Avenue from Franklin Street to Pulaski Street.

Prospect Square on both sides of Washington Street.

It was pointed out that the streets are only proposed and no cost would be levied against property owners. Money received from gasoline taxes under the Sherbow plan must be used for street maintenance and resurfacing.

The proposal was advertised because the city has entered a new fiscal year and is eligible to start on the resurfacing program now rather than wait until next spring, a department spokesman said.

The proposed work will take most of the $21,000 available during the fiscal year for street maintenance.

Some 500 million colds are contracted in the United States every year.

4 Area Girls Enter Convent In Baltimore

Four Cumberland area girls have entered training for the School Sisters of Notre Dame at the Mother House in Baltimore.

Three of them were honored at a service Tuesday in the chapel of St. Patrick's Convent. They were Miss Martha Murray, daughter of Mrs. Mary R. Murray, 218 Cumberland Street; Miss Shirley Loraditch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Loraditch, 1307 Bedford Street, and Miss Marguerite Robison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Robison, Mt. Savage.

The candidates received blessings during the service from Rev Thomas A. Hardesty, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church; Rev James Kilgannon, pastor of St Anthony's Church, Ridgeley; Rev Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St Mary's Church, Lonaconing, and Rev. Edward Ward, who is assisting this summer at St. Patrick's Church.

After the service, the group left for Baltimore accompanied by Sister Marie, principal of Girls Central Catholic High School.

Already at the Mother House for training for the order is Miss Kathleen Mullaney, daughter of James Mullaney of Mt. Savage. She was graduated from St. Patrick's Parochial School in Mt. Savage and received her high school diploma this June from Holy Angels Academy, Fort Lee, N. J.

The other three candidates are graduates of the 1951 Senior Class at Girls Central Catholic High School.

Accidents Bring Four Suits Totaling $31,500

Four damage suits totaling $31,500 were docketed in Circuit Court yesterday.

In one case Edward J. Ryan filed a declaration for the State of Maryland for the use of May Baker and her daughter, Alice Baker. Grant Baker, RFD 3, Meyersdale, Pa., the husband and father, was electrocuted in a mishap at the Big Savage Refractories near Frostburg. Damages of $20,000 are asked.

Defendant in the action is the Potomac Edison Company. The declaration states that the Potomac Edison placed a transformer on a platform to connect with lines into the refractory plant.

On August 28, 1950, the refractory firm notified the PE to remove certain lines, according to the declaration, but the PE failed to remove them from poles close to the transformer and high-powered lines.

On August 30, Baker, an employe of the refractory, was told to remove the lines in question. Without any knowledge of the proximity with the high-powered lines and of the danger present, Baker started to work. Baker came in contact with the high-powered lines and was electrocuted, according to the declaration.

Another suit was docketed in which Lucinda Thompson, wife of John Thompson, Route 5, McMullen Highway, asks $10,000 damages from Donald McGill, contractor.

Ryan filed a declaration in which it is stated that McGill had been contracted to move and improve the Thompson property one-half mile south of Cresaptown. During the progress of the work it is alleged a pair of steps was built from the house to the ground. On September 7 last year Mrs. Thompson was using the steps and when she stepped on one of them it gave way and her right ankle was fractured in three places, according to the declaration.

It is claimed the step which gave way was not secured and due to the negligence of the contractor the injury to Mrs. Thompson's ankle resulted. She claims she was a patient in a Cumberland hospital for 59 days and underwent heavy hospital and medical expense.

John R. Weaver filed two suits in which he asks a total of $1,500 damages from the defendants. In one suit Weaver declares Albert I. May, this city, was operating a car which crashed into his truck which was parked on Henderson Avenue. The mishap occurred December 23, 1950 and Weaver asks $1,000 damages from May.

In the second of the two suits, Raymond Owen Reed, 313 Cecelia Street, is the defendant. Reed is also charged with driving into the rear of Weaver's truck about 30 minutes after the first crash. Damages asked of Reed total $500. Weaver alleges he lost the use of his truck for a long period and charges both defendants with negligence.

William H. Geppert is attorney for Weaver in both cases.

Of Ontario's 412,582 square miles area, 49,300 are water.

Two Join Air Force

Two graduates of this year's Senior Class of Fort Hill High School have enlisted in the Air Force at the local recruiting office and have been assigned to Samson Air Force Base, Geneva, N. Y.

Gambling "Lid" Proves Puzzle

HENDERSON, Ky., Aug. 29 (AP)—Citizens still were puzzled tonight by a mysterious order which suddenly stopped gambling which had flourished wide-open in their county for years.

Overnight, slot machines, roulette wheels and dice tables were removed from scores of casinos, dives and grocery stores in Henderson County, a Western Kentucky community of 30,000 population.

One disgruntled operator said an order to close indefinitely came from "up north."

A Kentucky political figure said the gamblers voluntarily closed shop to take Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby "out of an embarrassing situation politically."

The Governor was not available for comment.

Henderson County Sheriff W. W. Brackett said today the cleanup "was as much a puzzle to me as everyone else." Brackett explained he was out of town yesterday and knew nothing about the incident until his return.

Asked if he would clamp down if gambling reappeared, Sheriff Brackett replied: "I can't say. As far as I know, there never has been any wide open gambling here."

State police and federal authorities also said they didn't know what had happened. Truck drivers who hauled the equipment away "wouldn't talk."

Ex-Croatian Cabinet Member Held By U. S. For Yugoslav Slayings

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 (AP) — Andrija Artukovich, 50, former Croatian cabinet member, was arrested today on a federal warrant charging him with the murder on Jan. 26, 1942, of Peter Zimonic, archbishop of Sarajevo.

Artukovich had been at liberty for weeks awaiting a deportation hearing.

The complaint, issued at the request of Rajo Ivancevic, counsel-general here for Yugoslavia, accuses Artukovich of the slayings of other persons in Yugoslavia ranging in age from newborn to 88.

The arrest was made by a U. S. marshal under an extradition treaty signed by the United States and the kingdom of Serbia in 1902.

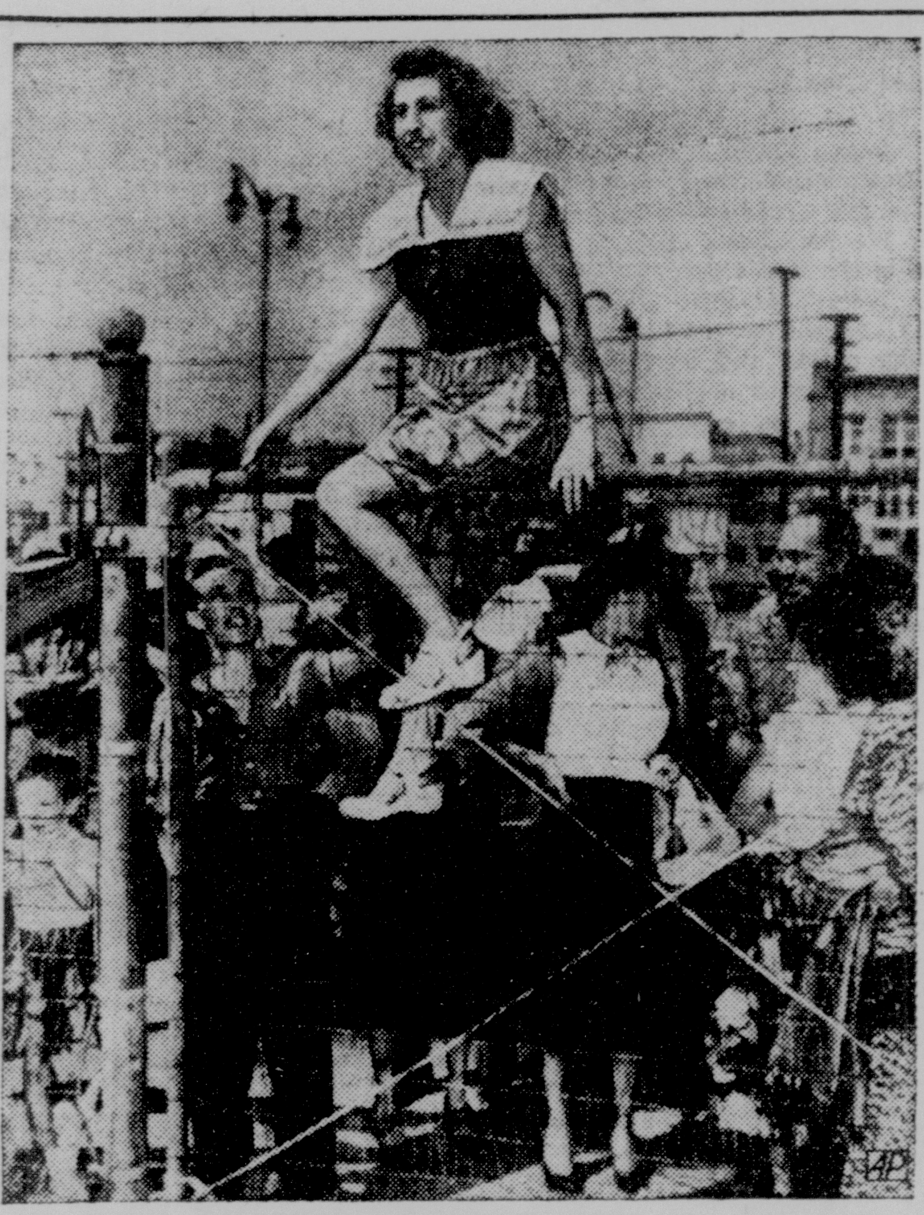
Commissioner Harold V. Calverly, who issued the warrant, said after a hearing he will make his report directly to the secretary of state in Washington. Meantime, Artukovich is held without bond.

Playground Leaders Plan Picnic Today

The annual picnic for leaders in the summer playground program will be held today at Capon Park.

Edmund F. Hoey, city recreation director, said recreation leaders will meet at City Hall today at 9 a. m. to go to the park.

The only business slated for the outing is a discussion on the playground program which ended last Friday.



SHE CAN'T WAIT FOR LOCKSMITH—When the Navy tanker USS Kaskaskia arrived in San Pedro, Calif., someone forgot to unlock the gate so relatives could greet the men. Here Mrs. Laura Leight, Hollydale, Calif., scales the fence to greet her husband, Edward Leight, storekeeper. The Navy finally cut the lock when a key could not be found.

Tobin Tees Off On McCarthy

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Labor Secretary Maurice J. Tobin teed off on Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) today, suggesting McCarthy's high-voltage Senate speeches can be "part of a conspiracy to overthrow the government."

Tobin's sharp attack made the Veterans of Foreign Wars 52nd annual convention a front-line outpost in the administration's war of words with McCarthy. Tobin spoke from the convention rostrum.

The cabinet member berated "slanderers" who he said make unproven charges against fellow-Americans, then hide behind the "privileged sanctuary" of the U. S. Senate.

McCarthy often attacks what he terms Communists in government from the Senate floor, where he is protected against libel suits.

The VFW immediately invited McCarthy to reply. The outspoken Wisconsin Republican snapped up the bid and was flying here from Idaho to address the convention tomorrow.

Pickets And Press Given Slip By Gromyko

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko slipped out of town tonight in a special railroad car with its shades tightly drawn.

He rode a baggage elevator to elude pickets and press as he left Grand Central terminal for next week's Japanese treaty conference in San Francisco.

"Free American Labor" Peace Key, Green Says

FREDERICK, Md., Aug. 29 (AP) — The president of the American Federation of Labor today urged the country to put its trust in "orderly reform through trade union action" to help quiet the world turmoil.

"Free American labor," William Green told the Frederick Rotary Club, "is the only agency that can persuade the oppressed and underprivileged masses of the world that it is not necessary to tear down their entire social and economic structure in order to better their circumstancesx x x".

Because no group is free of the "common danger of communism," the veteran labor leader said that "our very survival depends upon our ability to form a united popular front for freedom and democracy, and to subordinate our partisan aims and ambitions."

Area Soldiers, Marines Return To States

Seven Allegany County soldiers and marines arrived on the West Coast yesterday and Tuesday from Korea.

They were Staff Sgt. Harold T. Burgess, 52 Elder Street; Cpl. James C. Nave, Cresaptown, and Cpl. Paul W. Kennedy, 21 Offutt Street, all Marines who arrived at San Diego yesterday aboard the USNS General W. H. Black, with the largest shipload of Korean veterans to return.

Arriving Tuesday were Pfc. John L. Fahey, 9 Hampton Place; Harold E. Meyers, 118 Blaul Avenue; and Cpl. Harry R. Grove and Pfc. Frank Ravenscroft, Jr., both of Westernport. They arrived aboard the Transport Aiken Victory

Many in each group were being returned for separation, while others came home on rotation from the combat zone.

Indian Soldier

He had also fought in World War II.

Along with President Truman's action, protests rolled up following the disclosure that the sergeant's body had been denied burial in a Sioux City cemetery because of his Indian ancestry. The Association of American Indian Affairs demanded a public apology from the cemetery.

Mr. Truman acted after reading a news story that authorities at the Sioux City Memorial Park Cemetery halted the burial of Sgt. Rice yesterday just as the body was about to be lowered into the grave.

In Sioux City, the widow said she did not know that Indians could not be buried in the local cemetery.

Mrs. Rice, a white woman, said she bought a lot in the cemetery and signed the contract without noticing a clause which barred her husband from burial.

area near Flintstone was aided by a heavy rain several weeks ago which did not reach the rest of the county.

The county agent also reported that Japanese beetles from an overall standpoint are no heavier this year than they were last summer. Some sections report more but others fewer beetles, he explained. He added that during this current dry spell he has heard no reports of unusual pests striking this area.

At any rate, rain in the next few days will be a big help to the county farmers.

Second Suit Filed In Case

A second suit—this one for $2,500—was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a two-automobile crash which occurred almost five years ago east of Cumberland.

The suit names Norman R. Collins, this city, individually and for use of State Automobile Mutual Insurance Company, as the plaintiff and the State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, Ill., as defendant. Attorney W. Earle Cobey filed the suit for Collins.

In his declaration, Collins sets forth that prior to November 28, 1946, the defendant issued an automobile liability insurance policy to Branson Heavner, an Allegany County resident. On or about November 28, 1946, Heavner's automobile, while being driven negligently by Riley M. Heavner, his son, collided with the automobile owned and operated by Collins, the declaration says. Riley M. Heavner was killed in the crash.

The plaintiff filed his first suit in Allegany County Circuit Court against Edgar M. Lewis, who had qualified as administrator of Riley M. Heavner's estate. During the January, 1949 term of court Collins obtained judgment against Lewis as administrator for $1,825 for personal injuries and property damage. However, Lewis was unable to locate any assets owned by Heavner so that the judgment has never been paid the declaration states.

Finally, the declaration contends that the defendant insurance company has agreed to pay $1,825 judgment under terms of the policy but has failed to do so. That is the reason for this second suit, Collins concludes.

MPA To Air Elkton Council Press Ban

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29 (AP)—The Maryland Press Association plans to look into the ban on reporters at meetings of the Elkton town council, its president said today.

The editors of the town's two weekly newspapers say they have been barred from all but routine proceedings for the past month. They blame it on their publishing certain business before the council after Mayor Henry Mitchell had asked them not to publish it.

"The Maryland Press Association is naturally concerned about this situation, but has not yet studied the incident," said MPA President Elmer Jackson, general manager of the Capital Gazette at Annapolis.

He said the association would take it up at its meeting September 8 at Ocean City.

Bob Walker Finds In Death Peace Denied Him In Life

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (AP)—Robert Walker, 32-year-old movie star, found in death today the peace that was denied him during a lonely and mixed-up life.

Walker, who hit stardom during World War Two as "Private Hargrove," died at his Brentwood home last night while under treatment for an emotional disturbance.

Two psychiatrists and a police rescue squad were in attendance at the time. The doctors, one of whom had been treating Walker's mental troubles for the last 18 months, gave him a barbituate — a treatment which had snapped the actor out of similar spells dozens of times before.

However, Walker failed to rally and died soon afterwards. The medical men certified the death as natural due to a respiratory failure (stoppage of breathing.)

The young actor, famed for his "shy guy" roles, hit the mental skids soon after Actress Jennifer Jones divorced him in 1945. They had wed in 1939 and practically starved together before both hit fame—and unhappiness—at about the same time.

Ten days after she was signed to play the title role in "Song Of Bernadette" Walker was cast as one of the leads in "Bataan."

Two weeks after Miss Jones won the Academy Award, for her performance as the French girl saint, she divorced Walker and eventually married David O. Selznick, the producer who had made her a star.

Then Walker become a tragic Hollywood figure, often arrested for drunken driving or fighting with police. He married Barbara Ford, young daughter of Director John Ford, in 1948. They separated in one month and were divorced six months later.

Peskin's Will Open New Fashion Center Tonight

Cumberland's newest fashion center for women will be opened to the public for the first time tonight at Peskin's ,145 Baltimore Street, between the hours of 7 to 9.

The center is located on the second floor of Peskin's and has been designated as the "Fashion Floor." The floor has been undergoing extensive renovation and modernization in recent weeks.

The huge room has been redecorated in gray oak and laid out in a three semi-circle design. Color schemes of coral, chartreuse and turquoise add to the beauty and fashionable appearance of the center.

All modern fixtures have been installed. Display racks, easily accessible and well-lighted line the walls. Where merchandise is required to be enclosed, sliding glass panels are employed to make articles readily accessible to clerks or for inspection of customers. Small stages are also provided for model displays.

The room is carpeted wall to wall in gray. Spot and streamlined lights mark displays and spacious "daylight" fitting rooms are provided, and the entire floor has been soundproofed.

Women can fill all their dress needs at the new center with the exception of hats, store officials said. Foremost designers have assisted in bringing to all women of the Cumberland area fashionable and better merchandise.

Women can find coats, suits, street, party and formal dresses, blouses, sweaters and skirts (combination, mix match and mates) in addition to lingerie.

Peskin's officials said more personnel will be added with the opening of the fashion center.

Registration Gear Arrives

Part of the permanent vote registration equipment arrived at City Hall yesterday.

City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery who will be in charge of registration said all of the equipment would be on hand by September 15.

Ullery said he will announce later when the city is ready to begin registering eligible voters.

Included in the shipment was part of the visible index file for master cards which will keep records at City Hall. Tables for these files were also included. Canvas carrying cases for binders—which house records going to the polls—came in the shipment.

Visible index cards will contain information concerning a voter's eligibility—his name, age, address, term of residence in precinct, city, county and state.

Ullery said the public would be fully informed when the registration will begin including instructions on who must register.

The permanent vote registration plan was authorized for the city during the last session of the General Assembly.

Crabtree Gets Jail Sentence

A one-year sentence to the House of Correction was handed Eugene Crabtree of eastern Allegany County when he pleaded guilty to a theft charge yesterday in Trial Magistrates Court.

Crabtree admited taking two used tires valued at $25 from Carl Crabtree. A charge of receiving stolen goods had been lodged against the defendant's brother, James Randolph Crabtree, but the charge was dismissed.

James Crabtree is listed on the docket as having been convicted in the past week on two counts of larceny of auto parts. He was given a six month suspended term in the House of Correction providing he make restitution and obtain employment and support his family.

Earlier this month, he was given a suspended $100 fine for operating a motor vehicle after his driver's license had been revoked.

In other Trial Magistrates Court action Magistrate William J. Gunter found Joseph P. Waddell, of Willowbrook Road, not guilty on a charge of hunting squirrels out of season. The charge was preferred by District Game Warden Joseph A. Minke.

China Reds Bare Loan Swindle

HONG KONG (AP) — The Chinese Communists have unearthed a big farm loan swindle in their South China province of Kwangtung.

The Canton newspaper, mouthpiece of the party, the Nan Fang Jih Pao, estimated 40 billion Chinese Red dollars, about $2,000,000 U. S., went down the drain.

The newspaper, in a remarkable confession of Communist failure, accused some Red administrators of taking a cut from the loans. It said the farmers then frittered the money away.

The farmers were supposed to use the money for such things as seed, irrigation and flood control. When the harvests showed no increase the Communist authorities began an investigation.

What they uncovered in the way of "misappropriation, corruption, arbitrary allocation and embezzlement" sent off a dialectical howl that would be heard in Peiping.

The investigators found the loan money was "used as capital to smuggle salt," to pay grain taxes, to build new homes, and even pay wedding expenses.

Some farmers "squandered loans in gambling," Nan Fang Jih Pao complained. One borrower "opened a wineshop" and forgot all about seeding, fertilizing and irrigating his farm.

Slaying Of Hagerstown Waitress Five Years Ago Remains Mystery

By HARRY WARNER, Jr.

HAGERSTOWN, Md. — (AP) — Western Maryland's most baffling murder mystery in many years appears no closer to solution. The latest clue has fizzled.

Betty Jane Kennedy, an attractive 24-year-old brunette, was found dead on an April morning in 1946. More than five years later, law enforcement officers of Maryland and Pennsylvania still are trying to establish the identity of the killer, the motive, and the scene of the crime.

The latest clue wasn't very definite. The eagerness with which the public and the law seized it was proof of the interest the case still arouses. Workmen who are making alterations at a local hotel reported seeing a red dress stuffed behind a water tank while they were demolishing the building. Betty Jane wore a red dress the last time she was seen alive.

Prisoners at the Washington County Jail were set to work sifting every ounce of rubbish from the building. The red dress, if it existed, wasn't found.

One of the many conflicting theories — or legends — about the murder is that Betty Jane was strangled in a Hagerstown hotel and her body lowered from a rear window on a rope.

But a woman at Beartown, Pa., gave authorities a vivid description of seeing the girl choked at her home. Police discounted the story. The woman since has died.

Still another legend is that a Hagerstown man with a criminal record admitted the slaying on his deathbed.

If the authorities still are working on any of these theories, they aren't saying anything about it.

The established facts in the case are:

Betty Jane was widely known in Hagerstown and its vicinity. She worked as a waitress at many of the most popular eating places around here. She had a scar above one eye from a childhood accident. Anyone who saw her remembered the scar.

On the morning of April 5, 1946, Martin Benchoff, a farmer, found her body lying beside the road as he was driving along the Buchanan Trail, a road east of Rouzerville, Pa., near the Maryland state line. She had been strangled. The body was clothed only in a slip. Her coat hung on a nearby sapling. Marks on the ground indicated she had been alive when thrown from a passing car.

Police questioned the men with whom she had been friendly. Attention turned for a time to Camp Ritchie, only a couple of miles away. Hundreds of soldiers were stationed there at the time, the Army using the camp as a training center for its counter-intelligence agents.

Investigators have lost track of the thousands of hours they have spent on the case. But they haven't given up.

Army Tries Out 'Flying Saucers'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here come the flying saucers again.

The Army announced today that it's trying out a new, junior sized model—about two feet across and weighing five pounds.

There's nothing scary about them, though, unless one hits you. They're intended to be filled with water, gasoline or other liquids and dropped from aircraft to supply troops in the field.

The Quartermaster Corps described this new what-is-it as "a disc-shaped container made of synthetic rubber." When filled, the announcement said, the five-gallon container "looks like an inflated pancake," with a flat rim running around its outside edge.

These overstuffed pancakes are dropped without benefit of parachute. So far, from altitudes of 400 to 2,000 feet, they have delivered their contents without bursting or spilling.

When they hit the ground, the army said, they stretch to almost double their normal size, bound back into the air and then settle down near the point of contact.

Tests have shown that the container may be dropped many times without damage. The Quartermaster Corps developed it in cooperation with the General Tire and Rubber Co.

$42,500 Involved In Property Sales

Five property transactions involving a total of about $42,500 were recorded in deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Ewing J. Dicken and Inez E. Dicken sold property at 712 Glenmore Street to Lucy A. Clancey and Gertrude C. Clancey for about $12,000, according to one of the deeds. David R. Hamilton and Evelyn K. Hamilton sold 33.8 acres between the B & O right-of-way and Potomac River, three miles northeast of McCoole, to the Harman Whetsell Company for about $10,000.

The Maryland Coal and Realty Company transferred ownership of property on the southside of Wood Street in Frostburg to Lloyd M. Marshall and Jane R. Marshall for about $9,000. Annie L. Reith sold property on the north side of Emily Street, near Maryland Avenue, to Ellis H. Llewellyn and Evelyn V. Llewellyn for about $6,500.

Willard L. Bradour and Ellen June Bradour sold property in Oldtown to John L. Nixon and Vera B. Nixon for about $5,000.

Grid And Cage Rules Clinic To Open Here Tomorrow

Sessions Set For Fort Hill At 10 O'Clock

Chicago Director To Head Meeting Ending Saturday

The first basketball and football rules interpretation clinic to be conducted by H. V. Porter, executive secretary of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, Chicago, in Maryland will get underway tomorrow at 10 a. m. at Fort Hill High School.

Arthur G. Ramey, physical director of Allegany County Board of Education, will preside at the two-day session which will conclude Saturday morning. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, will give the address of welcome and relate Allegany County public schools' policies on athletics.

Porter To Interpret Rules

Porter will discuss changes in the 1951 football rules and will give an interpretation of the rules and changes, Ramey said yesterday. The Chicago director is one of the best informed and most versed men in the country on football and basketball rules and regulations and their meanings, Ramey added.

Accompanying Porter from Chicago will be A. A. Schabinger, director of Official Sports Film Service of Chicago, who will present two technicolor films at the clinic. The first is Modern Football and the second Basketball Today. The football film will be shown at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow with an open forum on rules conducted by Porter following the showing of the picture. The cage film will be presented at 8 o'clock tomorrow evening with discussions following, Ramey related.

Area coaches of football and basketball have been named to advisory panels for the discussion periods, Ramey continued. William P. Hahn, Fort Hill High School; Robert E. Pence, Allegany High School; and Joseph Hoopengardner, Beall High School, Frostburg, are on the grid panel. Walter L. Bowers, Allegany; John J. Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; and John G. Thomas, Barton High School are the cage consultants.

Films Widely Used

The new motion pictures in the clinic have been widely used in rules training programs, Ramey explained, and "in addition to providing a good grounding in rules the pictures carry enough of a story to hold interest and create a better appreciation of a well administered football and basketball game."

Invitations have been forwarded to coaches and officials of high schools in all Maryland counties as well as nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia schools, Ramey went on, and indications are the clinic will be well attended.

The clinic will also be open to Sunday School League, independent and other managers, coaches and players in the area as well as the general public, Ramey indicated.

Hodges Sets Homer Mark

Gets 7 RBI's As Brooks Win 13-1

BROOKLYN, Aug. 29 (AP) — Gil Hodges set a new all-time Dodger homer record today when he smashed his 35th and 36th round trippers of the season to lead Brooklyn to a 13-1 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

Hodges also doubled with the bases loaded to account for seven RBI's as the Brooks belabored four Redleg hurlers for 16 hits. Box:

Sheetz Hurls 6th Straight Shutout Win

Eagles Defeat Outdoor Club 6-0

Allan Sheetz, bellwether of the Eagles Rocking Chair Softball League team mound staff, continued his amazing clutch pitching in the playoffs yesterday by tossing a one-hitter and defeating the Outdoor Club 6-0 for his sixth straight shutout victory.

The verdict moved the Eagles into the finals of the RCL playoffs where they will meet the winner of the Elks-Moose series.

Sheetz blanked the Outdoor Club 7-0 in Monday's opener of the best-of-three series with five hits. He closed the regular season with four consecutive blanking efforts and has compiled a total of 46 straight scoreless innings pitched.

The stellar performance is a continuation of his hurling which highlighted last year's playoffs which the Eagles won with four straight victories over the Outdoor Club and Elks. Sheetz tossed four shutouts in that playoff.

Chub Aman's scratch single through the box in the 4th was the only bingle allowed by Sheetz yesterday at Stitcher Field as the righthander faced only 23 men in seven innings. He walked one and and outfield error put another man on base but a double play erased one base runner.

Lou Riehl's three-bagger and single and two runs batted in paced the winners at the plate. Pete Elliott singled in three runs and Doyle George collected a double in the seven-hit attack. The score:

Kid Gavilan Wins Nod Over Billy Graham

Welterweight Champ Gets Split Verdict

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(INS)—Kid Gavilan weathered a terrific finish by Irish Billy Graham tonight to successfully defend his world welterweight championship with an unpopular 15-round split decision.

It was so close that—for the third time in as many meetings between the two gamesters—the decision wavered in doubt, until Referee Mark Conn's card gave it to the sleek Cuban on points.

The crowd of 8,137 protested the verdict for a vociferous five minutes after Gavilan's hand was raised.

The keed, looking extraordinarily sharp, waded through the first five rounds without turning a hair on his slicked down head.

Graham, the 13 to 5 underdog who was expected to wilt in the long 15-round haul, came back with a spirited and beautiful boxing exhibition that came within a shade of unfrocking Gavilan in his first defense.

Judge Frank Forbes thought Graham had won it. He scored the rounds all square, seven for each fighter and one even, but he gave the 28-year-old challenger from New York's East Side 11 points to 10 for Gavilan.

The other judge, Arthur Schwartz, returned a solid 9-to-6 verdict for Gavilan.

Conn, like Forbes, saw the rounds a toss-up. But he gave Gavilan 10 points to Graham's seven.

Talbert Easily Is Defeated By Gardner Mulloy

Cochell Quits In National Net Match

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP)—Billy Talbert couldn't hit a tennis ball through a hangar door and Earl Cochell couldn't keep his temper, and between the two they made a mess of the fifth day of the National Tennis championships.

Talbert, the 32-year-old New York City star, failed completely to give Frank Sedgman of Australia a battle in what had been anticipated as a fine fourth round match, going down by one-sided scores of 6-1, 6-1, 7-5 to the vast disappointment of 6,000 fans in the West Side Stadium.

Cochell, the Los Angeles redhead who had gained some overnight fame by upsetting British champion Tony Mottram, became so occupied with a vendetta against the crown that he forgot about playing tennis and went down to Gardnar Mulloy of Miami, 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2.

The easy victories played Sedgman and Mulloy in the quarter-finals.

Three other stars won third round matches on outside courts to catch up with the field. Defending Champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated Grant Golden of Wilmette, Ill., 6-2, 6-3, 6.4, Ken McGregor of Australia eliminated Pablo Eisenberg of Maplewood, N. J., 6-3, 8-6, 6-1, and Mervyn Rose of Australia ousted Dick Sorlien of Wynnewood, Pa., 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Dorris Hart, of Miami, overwhelming favorite to win the women's title, turned back Mrs. Marjorie Buck, veteran from Manchester-By-The Sea, Mass., 6-2, 6-1.

Playing in the same lower bracket, little Maureen Connolly of San Diego eliminated Althea Gibson, the tall negro girl, 6-2, 6-4.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, playing in the day's closing match in the stadium, joined Mulloy and Sedgman in the quarter-finals by defeating little Henri Rochon of Canada, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1, 6-1. Trabert and Sedgman will clash in the next round on Friday.

Foley Hurls No-Hit Game

Lock Lynn Defeats Bittinger, 1 To 0

Big John Foley hurled a no-hit, no-run game Sunday as Loch Lynn edged Bittinger 1-0 in a neat pitching duel with Ken Buckel in the Mountain Top Baseball League. The winning run was scored in the ninth.

Foley faced 28 batsmen with only one man reaching first on a bad throw by the third baseman. He struck out 13 and failed to issue a single base on balls.

Boots Wolfe singled to open the winning frame for Lock Lynn and June Paul was hit by a pitched ball. Both advanced on an infield out. Wolfe was thrown out at the plate on Walt Davy's attempted squeeze bunt with Paul taking third from where he scored on Odell Warnick's infield single. The score:

Babb's Win Forfeit

Babb's Motors won a forfeit victory over Bennett's Transfer in their second Rec League playoff game when the umpires awarded the victory to the former because of bench jockeying by Bennett's. Bennett's led 8-7 in the final inning at the time and the team had been warned repeatedly by the arbiters to halt their tactics, before they finally cleared the bench and awarded the forfeit verdict.

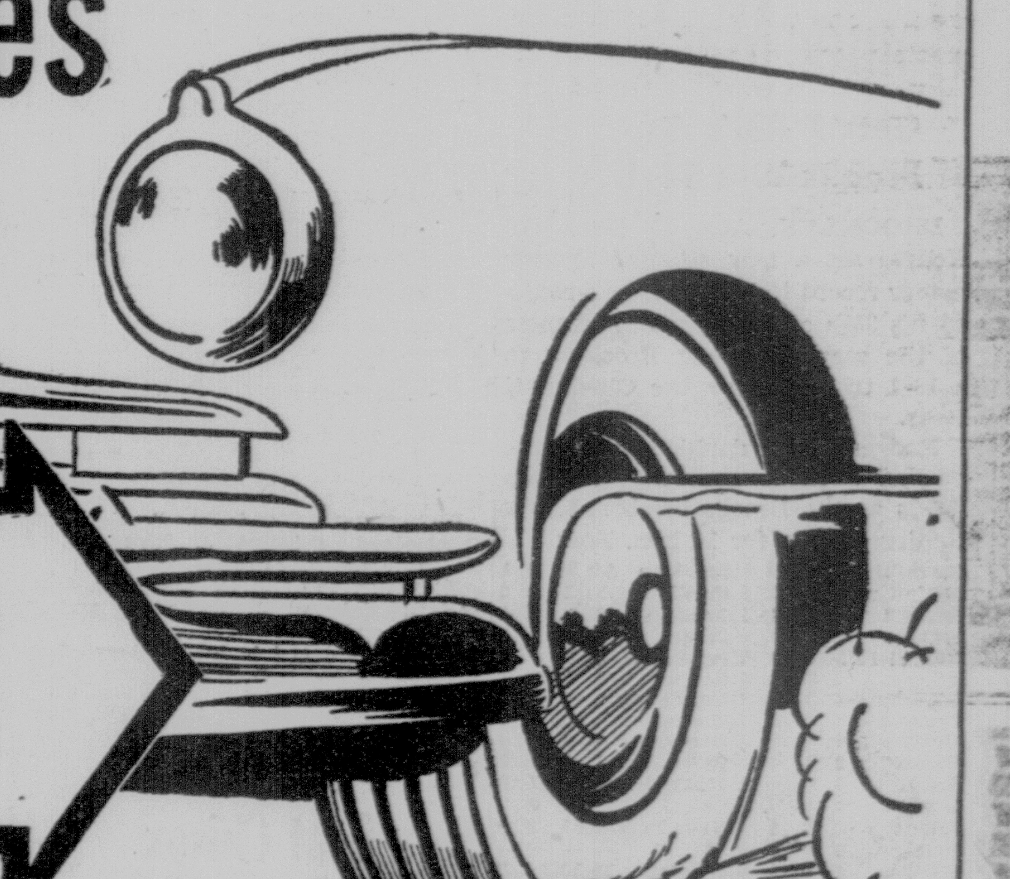
Protect YOURSELF Against BLOWOUT ACCIDENTS!

LifeGuard Safety Tubes by GOODYEAR Make Blowouts Harmless



DON'T LET THIS HAPPEN
When a blowout occurs — it's the sudden drop of the wheel that may cause disaster!

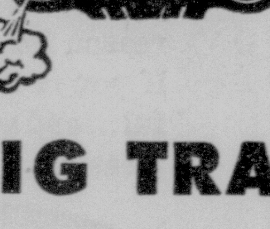
LifeGuards ARE SAFE
You can put LifeGuard Safety Tubes in your present tires whether they're new or used . . . are recapped or still have original treads . . . and drive with your mind free from fear of blowout accidents.

LifeGuards ARE SURE
LifeGuard Safety Tubes are still the best blowout-accident protection that you can buy for your car today. There is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire but LifeGuards make any blowout as harmless as a slow leak.

They're ECONOMICAL, too
LifeGuard Safety Tubes will usually outlast at least three sets of the same size tires besides helping you to get the last mile from your tires with safety. Proved blowout-accident protection for over 16 years.

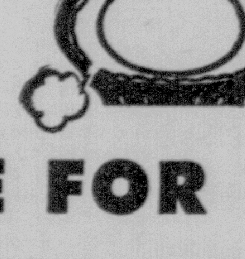
Remember . . . there is no such thing as a blowout-proof tire!

ORDINARY TUBE HAS ONLY 1 AIR CHAMBER



When a tire with an ordinary tube blows out, the single air compartment suddenly collapses — the wheel drops instantly, usually throwing the car out of control.

LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBE HAS 2 AIR CHAMBERS



When a tire with LifeGuard blows out, only the outer chamber gives way. The reserve cord fabric inner tire supports car — deflates slowly. You have ample time to bring car to safe, straightline stop.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

College Faculty Pay Increases Get Approval

BALTTIMORE, Aug. 28 (AP)—The State Board of Education today approved minimum salary boosts of $700 to $1,100 for instructors at Maryland's four teachers colleges, but it's not likely they will go into effect until next year.

The board said it would like to see the new scale go into effect next month at Salisbury, Towson, Frostburg and Bowie.

But Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, Jr., state superintendent of schools, said it was very doubtful that the additional money could be obtained before the next session of the legislature.

Provision for the increases will be made in the 1952-53 budget, he said.

The board approved a $700 increase in the minimums for those holding bachelor's degrees. That boosts the minimum to $3,500 and the maximum $4,375 with an annual increment of $175 for five years.

Holders of master's degrees would get a $900 salary jump to a minimum of $4,500 and a maximum of $5,625. Increment boosts of $225 would carry over five years.

Teachers holding doctorates would receive $1,100 more a year, for a minimum of $5,500 and a maximum of $7,700 with the increment $275 for eight years.

The board aproved a new classification in the salary schedule for persons with a master's degree plus 30 hours of credits toward their doctorate. The minimum salary in this classification was set at $5,000.

Dr. Pullen said it would require $207,202 to inaugurate the new scale now. Teacher college faculty salaries have been appropriated for the coming year in the amount of $745,318. The new scale calls for an outlay of $952,520.

Area Methodist Conference Is Held In Keyser

Missionary Warns Of Red Ideology

KEYSER, W. Va.—Mrs. Wenona Jett, Buckhannon, a missionary in the Fukien Province of China for 30 years, was the principal speaker of the morning session of the Moorefield District conference held Tuesday in the Grace Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jett related her missionary experiences while in China. She said churches have all gone through rebellious times but none so "permeating" as the Communistic ideals, but that we in America and all Christians elsewhere should keep hoping for the future.

Rev. Lloyd Myers, host pastor, opened the meeting with scriptures. Rev. Ross Linger, district superintendent, was chairman. Joseph Dryfield, Moorefield, was elected secretary for the day.

Dr. W. S. Overstreet, conference secretary of education, who spoke on "The Year Ahead in Christian Education," said Rally Day will be held September 9 and that "College Day" will be changed from May to September 16. Keyser Seeks Safety Measure

KEYSER, W. Va. — Mayor Charles J. Compton and City Council recently asked the State Road Commission for cooperation in providing a safety zone on South Main Street at the intersection of School Street.

At this point, students attending both elementary and high schools cross to the east side of South Main Street, but motorist traffic presents a hazardous condition.

Mayor Compton said yesterday he has not received any information from the commission since the matter was taken up, and is hopeful that action can be taken quickly as public schools open next Wednesday.

School boy and girl patrols will operate at the crossing, but traffic is heavy there under ordinary conditions and the mayor and council believes that if the road commission will mark the highway a hazardous condition might be eliminated.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29 (INS)—Audie Murphy's first picture on his new contract with Universal-International should delight his heart. Most of the picture will be shot in Austin, Texas, his home state, where right now—Audie is deep in the "heart of."

Audie Murphy

'S'matter of fact our most decorated World War II hero is now a captain serving two months duty in the Texas National Guard.

Audie returns to Hollywood in mid-September to check into the picture—then returns with the Al Cohen unit to Austin. This suits young Murphy just fine because he can be near his wife, who is on the stork's list for March.

• — • — •

The next wonder singer to be sprung at MGM is 14-year-old Christine Wallas, who will be launched with the same care given Mario Lanza.

Perhaps more—because you and I won't be hearing the child with the unbelievably mature, rich contralto voice for two years! Already under contract to the studio, she will be coached and groomed and polished before being handed a full star role at the age of sixteen.

Someone who was present at Christine's audition before MGM executives tells me she has, at so young an age, the same magnetic vibrancy of the great Marian Anderson.

The Wallis girl, a native of Miami, came with her parents to California three years ago and is a student at Woodrow Wilson High.

• — • — •

Robert Mitchum, easy going Bob with his I-don't-care-much attitude, is the highest paid actor in the history of RKO. You don't think much of Mitch as being a tall money man, but there are few stars in pictures who command his weekly salary on his new contract.

How much? You'll never get the bosses to tell. But Bob's old deal was $4,000 weekly and the heist was a big one.

May I add—this isn't because everybody just happens to like Mitch. His pictures, including "His Kind Of Woman," jingle coin into the box office.

• — • — •

Lana Turner, tears streaming down her face, was in a huddle with her lawyer in a quiet booth in the cocktail lounge of the Bel-Air Hotel.

Don't let anyone tell you Lana isn't taking this trouble with Bob Topping hard. She has given a lot to hold their marriage together but, apparently it's over and ended.

Although Topping is reputedly a millionaire—his brothers seem well heeled from a tin plate fortune—Lana always kept up her part, financially, in their luxurious mode of living.

Hollywood in shorts:

Richard Widmark and Constance Smith buried the hatchet at the finale of their picture. Connie brought Richard a stuffed dove of peace and he brought her an olive branch.

Ron Randall, tired of a press agent's dream-up that he is an Australian actor, has kicked over the traces. "I was born in Santa Ana, Calif., and I want the world to know it!"

Dinah Shore's cut for seven days at the Chicago Theater was $22,000.

Dr. Ralph Bunche wired Harry Popkin after seeing "The Well" at a UN conference, "This is the finest motion picture ever made."

Russell Nype will skip all social dates until he finishes "Young Man In a Hurry." Whatever are the gals gonna do?

Judy Canova startling the lunchers at London's swank Savoy walking in arrayed in a kelly green cowgirl outfit—green from Stetson to boots. Among the Americans politely surprised by their countrywoman—Joan Fontaine and Elizabeth Taylor.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Commercial banking in the United States ranks second among the food industries in value of products.

County Unable To Accept Shale Gift

The County Commissioners were offered a gift the other day, but they were unable to accept.

Wade Wallizer, Green Ridge, told the board he was excavating on his farm for a barn foundation. He offered to give the board 465 cubic yards of shale for the county roads system.

He said the county would have to haul the shale away before the contractor started work on the foundation next week.

But J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, told Wallizer the county's equipment is tied up right now on its annual repair program. He thanked Wallizer anyway.

A Column for Men

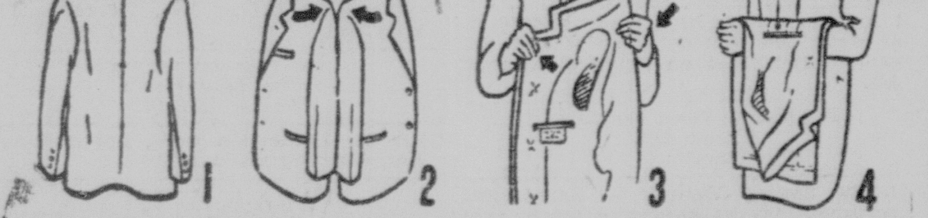
Tweed Season Is Coming

Wallace and Lewis Adopt Campus Favorites

FASHION: Myron Wallace and Robert Q. Lewis, television stalwarts, could pass for well-dressed undergraduates as they lunch in Chicago's Pump Room (above). The bold plaid worn by Wallace (left) and Bob's herringbone tweed are perennial campus favorites, which you'll be seeing again this fall.

Good Ideas: Don't feel abashed if someone catches you with your feet on the desk. Just tell 'em it's good for blood circulation to elevate the feet a couple of times a day. . . . A hair specialist points out that scalp is skin and should be kept as clean as the rest of your body. That calls for frequent shampooing.

Matching Wardrobe: Practicality is the keynote when buying clothes. Select things that mix and match. A blue suit and a gray suit provide four outfits. You can wear blue coat with gray pants and vice versa. The same is true for a brown suit and a tan one.



Clothes Care: Here are a few simple rules for folding your coat: 1. place your hands inside sleeves; 2. bring shoulders of the coat together and straighten sleeves; 3. turn coat inside out and bring lapels together; 4. fold coat over forearm and it's ready for packing.

Golf Tips: Many golfers spoil their game by using too many clubs. Try one round using only the following: spoon, 4-wood, 4-iron, wedge and putter.

On Posture: Look around and note how posture affects people's appearance. An erect carriage makes anyone more attractive; a bad posture spoils even a handsome person's looks. Check up on your own!

Odd Items: When having your picture snapped, say the word "cheese" just before the shutter is snapped. Camera-wise movie stars say that relaxes the expression. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—Dizzy Dean, whose running commentary on ball games may be ungrammatical but never dull.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO WAYS TO MAKE IT

BEMOANING his luck is a characteristic of the average declarer who barely fails to make his contract, which would have been easy if the cards of one or more suits had been more favorably located. Usually such an unhappy performer does not stop to analyze the situation with the benefit of accurate hindsight to see if there was some method which would have been wiser than the one he chose. If he does, he might even find two or more entirely different paths to success, one of which he should have pursued.

North:
♠ 9 5 3
♥ A K 7 6 3
♦ K 9 6 5
♣ 5

West:
♠ Q 8 6 4 2
♥ 10 4

♣ K Q 8 7 3

East:
♠ 7
♥ Q J 9 2
♦ J 10 8 2
♣ J 10 4 2

South:
♠ A K J 10
♥ 8 5
♦ A Q 7 4
♣ A 9 6

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	3 NT

South felt terribly after muffing that contract. East put the 10 on the club 7 lead and the declarer won with the A. Next he tried for a favorable break of diamonds, which failed, then attempted the spade finesse, whereupon West won with the Q and beat him up with clubs just like any plug-ugly. He thought it was his hard luck, but he had two entirely different ways available to make the contract, both depending on letting East win the first club trick with the 10. The J would have been the probable return, and South then could put on his working clothes.

From the third trick, one way would be for South to score the heart A and K and diamond A, then throw West in with the club 9 to the Q. That defender could then score his club K and 8, but would have only spades left. His return would build the J as South's ninth trick. He would thus score one club, two hearts and three each in diamonds and spades.

The other way, after winning the second club, would be to toss West in at once with the club 9 to the Q. West could also score the club K and 8, then must lead something else. South having thrown from dummy two spades, a heart and a diamond on the clubs and from his own hand two hearts, is ready for anything. A spade return of course builds the J for the ninth trick. But a red card enables South to squeeze East.

Suppose it's a heart. The A wins, South discarding the spade 10. South leads the spade 9 to the A, then retaining the spade K-J and four diamonds, dummy the heart K-7-6 and diamond K-9-6. As the spade K is now led, the heart 6 being discarded from dummy, East must choose between his heart Q-J that would build the ninth trick in hearts for the dummy, or one of his diamonds from the J-10-8-2, setting up the ninth trick there. Whatever he does is wrong.

Tomorrow's Problem

East:

♣ None

South:
♠ A 9 5 4
♥ Q 9 7
♦ A J 6
♣ 6 5 3

(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

Can you conceive any order of play which would enable South to make 3-No Trumps on this deal, after West scores his club K?

Stock Prices Step Ahead In Burst Of Late Trading

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (AP)—Prices stepped ahead smartly on the stock market today in a burst of late trading.

The volume hit 1,510,000 shares, a hefty rise over yesterday's 1,270,000.

Advances numbered 646 issues out of 1,099 traded and declines totaled 209. There were 39 new highs for the year and seven issues dropped to new lows.

The Associated Press index rose nine-tenths of a point and stood at 96.9 while the industrials moved up 1.4 to a new 1951 high of 135.5. The rails advanced 1.1 and the utilities remained unchanged.

Railroad stocks, steels, coppers and low price issues led the gains.

The copper strike that has most of the strategic defense industry closed down had little effect on the market.

Copper Range advanced 2¼ at 33⅞, Phelps Dodge went up 1¼ at 66⅜, Anaconda rose a point at 47⅛ and Kennecott gained a fraction.

American Smelting showed a 4⅜ advance at 89¾. The vigorous upsurge had behind it the force of a dividend announcement and a very good earnings statement.

Santa Fe gained 2¼ at 78¾ and Atlantic Coast Line advanced 1¼ at 67¼. Canadian Pacific, which made a strong advance yesterday, rose another 1⅛ today at 31⅛. It was the most active issue of the day —39,500 shares.

New York Central, Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio showed fractional gains.

Winchester Road Survey Begins

An engineering crew of the State Roads Commission is completing a survey of the Winchester Road from the Six Mile House on U. S. Route 40 to Cresaptown, according to G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer.

Chaires said the work is the first phase in the possible modernizing of the thoroughfare. He pointed out that traffic flow checks made of the road revealed 1,700 cars traversed it in a 16 hour period. The bulk of these cars were used by Celanese plant employes traveling to and from the Georges Creek section.

Much of the present roadbed could be utilized in any highway work, Chaires said. There will definitely be no construction done this year, he added. The road may be included in the SRC projects for the next building year, Chaires explained.

The present Winchester Road is narrow and curves and dips most of its three-mile length.

Chaires also said that center lines and other highway markings will probably be painted within the near future. The painting will be all white and reflector crystals will be sprinkled in the paint to provide greater vision.

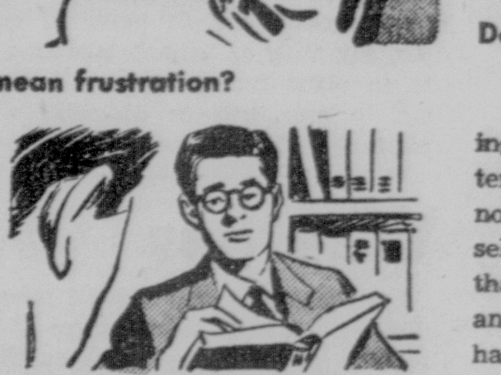
MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

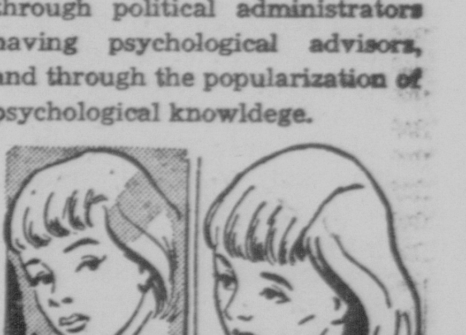
Must "discipline" mean frustration?

Answer: Not to a small baby, anyhow. To a baby, discipline (which properly means "learning") comes through satisfying his needs for security and pleasure, not through being frightened and frustrated. As Dr. James Clark Moloney, noted child psychiatrist, says: "A baby needs to get his discipline through satisfaction, not through frustration." Subjecting a baby to the rigid "training" once so widely advocated—especially feeding him on schedule and being afraid to "spoil" him—is unscientific because it ignores Nature, and creates many needless feeding, sleeping and elimination problems.



Should social reformers know psychotherapy?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Crane Brinton, Harvard historian. There has been too great a contrast between the way in which we have treated mentally-ill individuals and our method of attempting to remedy social evils, and reformers have too often been "idealists" who ignored everything that science has learned about human nature. To be effective, social reformers must be guided by the discoveries of psychology and psychiatry. This can come about through political administrators having psychological advisors, and through the popularization of psychological knowldege.



Does it help to "know you are neurotic"?

Answer: Yes, if it means realizing that you need help and determining to get it. But you cannot get over a neurosis by yourself, and it will not "wear off," so that calling yourself a neurotic and not doing anything about it has the same effect as any other form of self-denunciation—"remorse," for example. It substitutes punishing yourself for the admitted "weakness" of clinging to the childish and partly unconscious satisfactions your neurosis brings you for giving them up and seeking more adult ones. In general, the more hard names a person calls himself, the less real desire he has to be different.

City Continues Efforts Toward Smoke Survey

Two Are Considered For Local Study

It is going to cost the City of Cumberland a pretty penny to secure an impartial survey of air pollution in this city.

Mayor Thomas S. Post announced yesterday that efforts to secure an outside expert to conduct the survey are continuing.

Two men are definitely being considered for the task, Mayor Post said, adding the survey is expected to cost in excess of $1,000.

Other sources have estimated it will cost at least double that amount.

Asks Prosecution

The decision to call in an impartial expert to survey the situation came three weeks ago after Charles Z. Heskett, chairman of the city's Smoke Control Advisory Board, declared the ordinance he wrote when city solicitor should be made more stringent and that the time has come to prosecute violators of the ordinance.

Enforcement of the ordinance has centered chiefly on efforts to rid the city of railroad and industrial air pollution, with good results achieved in the railroad phase, especially through the Dieselization program on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad here.

In the planning stage for some time has been a series of meetings for owners of stationary boilers in the city similar to the Cumberland Terminal Meetings, where the railroad situation is discussed.

Criticizes Program

Chief critic of the operation of the present ordinance has been the West Side Improvement Association, which has complained of the "tons of dirt" falling daily on the West Side. The group says the River plant of the Potomac Edison Company is at fault.

Industrial leaders several months ago declared at a public meeting that the ordinance has been generally satisfactory and warned against more stringent rules for industrial smoke.

Labor organizations have been generally critical of the ordinance, asserting the effect has been to put men out of work through the speeding up of the Dieselization program.

Railroads, which have been switching to Diesels as fast as funds are available, say they just cannot afford to operate steam locomotives.

George M. Hitchcock, smoke abatement engineer for the city, said in a recent report to the Mayor and Council the present ordinance is adequate for the next five years.

Hitchcock, it is reported, has welcomed the proposal for a survey by an expert.

Stands On Record

The Smoke Abatement Department has submitted its record of average dustfall in the city as evidence in the dispute.

They show an average dustfall of 28.87 in 1949; 31.24 in 1950 and steadily decreasing dustfall readings this year, varying from 26.54 in January to 11.55 in May.

Hitchcock has said Cumberland this year may have the lowest dustfall reading of any city which has an air pollution ordinance.

WM Railroad Property Value In W. Va. Fixed

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Ernest A. See has entered an order in court here, fixing valuation of the Western Maryland Railway's West Virginia property for 1950 at $9,500,000.

The state has appealed the order.

The West Virginia Board of Public Works, which fixes tax valuation for public utilities in the state, had placed the Western Maryland Class III and IV properties at $11,000,000 for 1950. The company contended the valuation should have been $9,258,582.

The company appealed the Public Works Board valuation in Mineral County, where a large part of its property is located. The appeal, however, covered all property in the state.

In his order, filed earlier this month, Judge See said:

"It is the judgement of the court that the assessment for 1949, which was compromised at $9,500,000, was not far wrong. The value of Western Maryland property in West Virginia was for the year 1949 between $9,000,000 and $9,500,000, probably nearer to $9,000,000.

"However, the court is willing to fix the assessment for that year as correct."

Judge See said that any attempt to "work out a formula" in the case would "be a waste of time and energy."

In another part of his opinion, Judge See said:

"To compare this (West Virginia) portion of the Western Maryland Railway Company with such trunk lines as the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio is like comparing a modest six or nine-room house to a 15 to 25-room mansion."

Firemen Extinguish Two Brush Fires

City firemen checked two brush fires yesterday afternoon. South End answered a call at 3:21 p. m. at the end of Gay Street in the Baltimore and Ohio Rolling Mill yards.

Central answered a call at 3:43 p. m. at rear of 25 Hawthorn Avenue. No damage was reported in either blaze.

State Officials Seek Figures On Yield Of Garrett Gas Tax

Revenue Estimated At Up To $280,000

The State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources has its eyes on the output of Garrett County gas wells.

Letters sent to Garrett County officials by Dr. Joseph T. Singlewald, Jr., director, asking data on the output, have gone unanswered, officials noted.

The General Assembly levied a tax of seven per cent of the selling price of the gas as it leaves the well. Fifteen per cent of the collections within an incorporated town goes to the town government. The first $50,000 each year goes to liquidate the county's public school building debt. The next $25,000 goes to Garrett Memorial Hospital and the balance, if any, is to be placed in a school building and repair fund.

The state wants to know just how much money the county is receiving, since the bill which set up the tax on gas production provided for no reduction in state aid.

The present set up means that richer political subdivisions will continue to be taxed for aid to Garrett County, despite its new revenue from gas wells.

It has been estimated that, on the basis of an estimated 44,000,000 cubic feet a day flow from 18 producing wells, the tax might produce about $280,000 a year, about half what property taxes brings in to the county.

Maryland Civil Air Patrol Will Go Oak Wilt Hunting

Maryland's Civil Air Patrol has begun preliminary work on the most unusual assignment it has ever had.

Its going oak wilt hunting.

Oak Wilt, a dangerous forest disease once its firmly established in an area, was found in Garrett County last month near the Savage River dam.

Seven trees, including red, chestnut and white oak, appeared to be inflicted in one location. Some of the trees had been killed two or three years ago and two red oaks died this year.

To stop the infection, foresters want to cut down all trees affected and those nearby. But to locate these means a drawn-out and back-breaking job on foot.

That's where the state's CAP will come in.

It will fly competent observers from the University of Maryland and the Department of State Forests and Parks over the 900 square miles of forests in the area to locate accurately the infected trees.

With this information, the ground parties can proceed directly to the areas where the oak wilt is prevalent and go to work.

"Operation Oak Wilt" is planned for the early part of September. At least 20 aircraft are expected to participate.

Not All Disease Of Oaks Is Wilt, Forester Says

Laboratory Test Is Suggested

Although the disease in a few oak trees in the Garrett County area near the Savage River dam has been determined as oak wilt, District Forester William H. Johnson yesterday urged owners of ailing oak trees to exercise caution before cutting down trees.

Johnson said it is practically impossible without laboratory tests to determine whether a disease is actually oak wilt or simply some other less harmful fungus that attacks oak trees.

Several Calls

Since it was reported over the weekend that samples collected near the Savage River dam have been termed oak wilt, Johnson has had a number of calls from persons who own diseased oak trees. He has been collecting samples which will be sent to College Park for analysis.

Johnson observed that the specialists who were in this area July 19 to collect samples from diseased trees determined that the trees in Green Ridge were being attacked by some other fungus but were not the victims of oak wilt.

Samples of diseased oak trees were checked by Dr. W. F. Jeffers, Botany Department, University of Maryland, and Dr. Curtis May, who is with the United States Department of Agriculture at Beltsville. Johnson advises that residents in this area might send samples to either of these two authorities for examination.

It has been suggested that material should be collected from wilting or recently dead parts of the tree. Six twig or branch specimens, six to eight inches long and one-half to one inch in diameter are satisfactory for laboratory diagnosis.

Weather

Yesterday was only a little miserable, with a high temperature of 89 degrees, an unhappy contrast with last week's temperate readings, but still better than the average August weather. The low was 61, and at 8 p. m. the mercury was down to 77. The humidity at 6 p. m. was 42 per cent. Today is expected to be cloudy and warm with scattered thundershowers this afternoon.

Mallard Enjoys Swim In Filth Of Wills Creek

Many Cumberlanders agree that nothing can kill a mallard.

Those who walked across the Baltimore Street Bridge yesterday and peered down at the black waters of Wills Creek were fascinated by the antics of a mallard, which seemed to be having the time of its life swimming about in the filth and under the water, emerging at unexpected points in the stream.

Judging from the odors coming from the water and its ominous color, most of the observers were surprised that anything could live in the water. One man who is somewhat an authority on the subject said that mallards, the wild cousins of ducks, have the ability to withstand most disease.

Some observers contended that the black waters in Wills Creek, near its mouth, actually was Potomac River water. They say that because of the lack of rain the river is so low that it is not flowing over the dam at the mouth of Wills Creek. This water then is violating a law of nature and is flowing up hill for a short distance into Wills Creek. The black color disappears not far upstream from the Baltimore Street bridge.

Appeal Taken On Overload Case Ruling

Driver Fined $1,038 By Local Magistrate

A Winchester, Va., trucker is appealing his conviction in Magistrate's Court under a ruling which makes a bridge part of a highway.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick, in line with a ruling by Attorney General Hall Hammond, fined a driver for the Ellicott Motor Lines of Winchester $1,038 for violation of a posted bridge weight limit.

The driver was arrested for driving a truck weighing 37,300 pounds over a Potomac River crossing posted for 20,000 pounds.

Magistrate Dick fined the driver at a new highway overweight penalty rate of six cents a pound.

The driver contended he should have been fined not more than $25 to $100, the penalty provision for exceeding posted bridge limits.

Hammond ruled that a bridge is part of a highway, that the new rate applied and that the old limits had been "repealed by implication."

Magistrate Dick announced that an appeal is being taken to Circuit Court.

Seeks Beer Permit

Angela J. Robertson yesterday filed an application with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners for a beer license at Donville Grove, near Flintstone.

Tractor Company Abandons Plan To Locate Here

The Tiger Tractor Company located at Keyser, W. Va., has abandoned plans to locate in Cumberland. A spokesman for the firm said yesterday, additional floor space has been secured in the building now occupied at Keyser and the acquired space will be sufficient for a year or more.

The company dose not plan to leave Keyser, the spokesman added, but expects to construct its own building at a future date. The firm's business has increased in a normal manner and it has been able to keep up with orders with some stock on hand. The company is desirous of building up a stock sufficient to warrant sales over a wider area, the spokesman indicated.

Rain Soon May Save Portion Of County Crops

Precipitation Would Chiefly Aid Corn

August's unusually dry weather has hurt Allegany County farmers but a sizeable rain in the next few days will enable them to save much of their crops, County Agent R. F. McHenry said last night.

McHenry declined to estimate the loss county farmers have suffered, saying it would only be a rough approximation.

Rain Would Help

Rain would prove the biggest help to the corn crop, which is the county's chief agriculture product. Corn in the uplands already is firing, McHenry stated. Because of the shortage of rain corn has not been gaining the weight and size that normally would be expected by this time of the year. Most of this corn will be harvested in September.

The county agent also stressed that pasture land in the county is excessively dry. Here again, a heavy rain in a few days would work wonders. Pasture land and corn both recuperate speedily after rainfall.

Apples and peaches on the county's orchards are not sizing up because of the lack of moisture. Small fruit means more apples and peaches in each basket and consequently a lower yield.

Truck farmers who normally bring their miscellaneous vegetables to market in town have been hit hard by the dry weather. Especially affected, the county agent said, has been the tomato crop. Many other vegetables have "just dried up."

Worst sufferers from the lack of precipitation have been the Upper Potomac area and the east end of the county, according to McHenry. Scattered showers have helped certain portions of the county. The

Filter Project Is Slated In Near Future

Plans Promised Within Few Weeks

Water Commissioner George H. Tederick reported yesterday that complete plans for the construction of six additional filters at the Lake Gordon filtration plant should be available in about two weeks.

He said Robert A. Kidd, of the Robert Regester engineering firm, Baltimore, reported work on the plans is virtually complete and that plans will be ready for asking bids as soon as the material is assembled.

Will Increase Capacity

The creation of another 6,000,000 gallons a day filtering capacity at the dam is considered the most urgent work in the city's construction program. Commissioner Tederick and Mayor Thomas S. Post have been urging that the work be undertaken as soon as possible.

Mayor Post said yesterday that he hopes much of the work on the filters can be completed by the end of the year.

Cost of the new filters has been estimated at about $150,000.

Construction of the additional filters will not only relieve the strain on the existing filtration system but will allow the city to make repairs on present filters.

Kidd yesterday brought with him blueprints for the enlargement and modernization of the existing chemical plant at Lake Gordon.

Work Half Done

Work is being done by the maintenance staff of the Evitts Creek Water Company.

George M. Hitchcock, superintendent, said the plan will include additional equipment but that the present system will function until the new equipment is cut in.

He said the work is about half completed.

The equipment will include a 15-ton alum feeder, feeders for hydrated lime, soda ash or activated carbon and a one-ton container for wet feeding chlorine.

GETTING READY FOR SHOW—Four-year-old Mildred Faye Schoenadel doesn't have to be told to "pretty up" for tomorrow night's baby show at North End Playground. The contest, for children four years old or younger, will climax the playground's "Last Roundup," which began Tuesday. Mildred is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schoenadel of RFD 6, Cumberland. Parents may enter their children by phoning Mrs. Charles C. Wiant at 5083-J or Mrs. Ann G. Stein at 3705-R. About 90 children from all parts of the city have entered the contest.

Two Distress Drills Staged By Firemen

WM Shops, Bedford Road Are Targets

Seven area volunteer fire companies staged two surprise distress drills simultaneously last night at 7 o'clock in conjunction with the Allegany County Civil Defense Program.

The Western Maryland Railway Shops at Maryland Junction were target area No. one. Responding were firemen and apparatus from Short Gap, Wiley Ford and Ridgeley. The ambulance of Corriganville Volunteer Fire Company went to the scene in the event of an emergency. Firemen of the railway company also participated.

Local Companies Fill In

Cumberland Engine Company No. 3 filled in at Ridgeley and LaVale filled in at West Side as other companies in the area were alerted. Bedford Road was target area No. two with firemen from Bedford Road, Bowman's Addition and Baltimore Pike taking part.

Both drills, according to Assistant Chief Alvey Foole, liaison officer of the fire branch of the Civil Defense Program, met with much success. The companies taking part, Poole added, responded quickly and the drills were termed "satisfactory."

Fire Chief Layman of Frostburg Volunteer Fire Company alerted all companies in the George's Creek area to stand by for action in case of emergency. Joseph G. Wenrich, official observer for the fire branch of the Civil Defense Program, was at the scene of target area No. one.

Other Drills Successful

Similar drills have met with success at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad's Bolt and Forge, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company. Purpose of the drills is to familiarize firemen with the areas which would possibly meet with enemy attack by air. The location of water supplies and other fire-fighting equipment at local industrial plants and transportation centers are noted by the firemen.

A meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County firemen who are participating in the defense program will meet September 19 at 8 p. m. at City Hall in Cumberland. Representatives from each area company are urged to attend.

Property Sold

Florence B. Savarese and Michael Savarese have sold property on the south side of Route 40, two miles west of Flintstone, to Bruce Robertson and Angela Robertson for about $8,000, according to a deed filed yesterday in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court.

Hyndman To Fine Trainmen Who Block Town Crossings

Two Arrested For Exceeding Time Limit

Town officials of nearby Hyndman, Pa., said last night they will continue to "crack down" on train crews who block crossings for more than 10 minutes at a time.

Since the drive began in May two arrests have been made. One councilman said "more will follow until the practice has been broken up."

In May, a Baltimore and Ohio freight engineer who allowed his train to block the town's two crossings for about 45 minutes was hailed into court and fined $28.50.

Last week, a freight conductor who was responsible for a similar violation paid a $28.50 fine. Both crewmen were tried before Justice of the Peace Luman Evans. Chief of Police Paul Wise arrested both.

An ordinance which has been in force more than 40 years prohibits blocking of crossings for more than 10 minutes. It provides a fine of from $5 to $50 for offenders.

The B&O right-of-way through Hyndman has two crossings, one at Center Street, the other at Market. Center Street is the route of busy Highway 96, bypass for Route 30 and 40, through the town.

Councilmen said the B&O is the principal offender. The Pennsylvania, the only other railroad which serves Hyndman, crosses only Market Street and moves less traffic than the B&O.

Six months ago, after many local and out-of-town motorists had registered complaints about traffic congestion, Mayor Charles Bush called for a special Council meeting with the B&O's Pittsburgh Division officials.

A great improvement was noted after the meeting, but town officials said the railroad has become lax in recent months. They said the arrests however, have improved the situation considerably.

Until recently, the officials said, 35 and 40-minute tieups on both crossings were common.

Mayor Bush and two of the seven Council members are B&O employes. The Mayor is a freight conductor, Councilman John May is a fireman, and Councilman West (cq) Shipley is a car inspector.

Council C. T. Dwyer is a retired engineer and Councilman Thomas Smith is a retired conductor. The other three Council members are Robert Golden, Elwood Shaffer, and "Cap" Hire.

Zoning Board Grants Permits

Three occupancy permits were approved by the Zoning Board of Appeals here last night.

Clyde L. Slider, 811 Louisiana Avenue, was granted permission to occupy 813 Cecil Street as site of a family home.

The one and one-half story home will be 30 by 29 feet, of frame construction and a stone front, on a 36 by 60 foot lot, with three foot side yards.

Earl C. Willett, 310 Washington Street, received permission to occupy a building at 130 South Lee Street as a one-chair barber shop.

Glenn Campbell, 18 Pennsylvania Avenue, received permission to use the rear of 18-20 Pennsylvania Avenue to build a garage and utility room.

News In Brief

Cumberland Outdoor Men's Bowling League will meet at 9 p. m., tonight in the club rooms.

Guardsmen Will Move Into New Armory Soon

Frostburg Building Is Ready For Use

Frostburg National Guardsmen expect to move into their new armory sometime next month, according to Colonel Randolph Millholland, commander of the 115th Infantry Regiment.

Construction of the armory was completed about a year ago, but Millholland said sewage disposal facilities were not installed until recently.

A septic tank recently was hooked up to sewer lines, and a heating plant will be installed soon.

Since the structure was built with warehouse funds, no partitions have been built yet.

Millholland said the Guard expects to improve the building later. In the meantime, he said, it can still be "a very usable armory."

The Frostburg unit, Company D of Western Maryland's First Battalion, has been using the hall of St. Michael's Catholic Church as a temporary armory for the past three years.

Colonel Millholland said the unit found its quarters usable but cramped. tIs authorized strength is 167 officers and men. Captain Gerald E. Reeves is commanding officer.

Taxes Will Take Deep Bite Into City Wage Boost

"It looks as if we are just handling a little more money for the government."

That was the comment yesterday from a member of the City Hall staff after doing a little figuring on the effect of state and federal taxes on the $12 a month wage increase granted to city workers.

The present federal withholding schedule will take a $3.60 slice from the boost.

Another 24 cents must be deducted for State of Maryland income taxes.

The 11 per cent boost planned in federal income taxes, lowest figure now under consideration, would take another $5.21.

An increase slated in Blue Cross hospitalization fees would take another $1.05 of the increase each month, for total of $10.10.

CHURCH WORK PROGRESSES—Workmen are shown putting the finishing touches to the roof of the new Assembly of God Church on Cumberland Street. Rev. Frank J. Fratto, pastor, said the building, under construction since May, is expected to be finished by November. It will replace the present North Cumberland Assembly of God Church at Lee and Wallace streets, which the congregation has outgrown. The new building will seat about 700. Rev. Fratto said the congregation expects to sell the old building.
